1. GENERAL INTRODUCTION

The Faculties of Philology and Geography and History of the University of Seville are pleased to offer a special Study Program available exclusively to those students belonging to Universities from abroad with which agreements have been signed.

This Program is made up of two separate semester periods, one corresponding to Fall-Winter (courses of 4 hours per week taught September 23- December 11), and the other to Winter-Spring (courses of 4 hours per week taught February 3- May 7).

Each group will have a maximum of 30 participants, so that in those cases in which enrolment exceeds that number, a second group will be created. Courses in which enrolment is below 10 participants will not be offered.

Regular attendance at class sessions is compulsory and students will be expected to demonstrate their assimilation of course content in the examinations which will be set in each course.

Final exams will be held at the end of each semester (in mid December and early in May respectively). The student, who misses three class sessions, without credible justification being provided, will find his/her Final Grade reduced by a full 0.5. Exceptions to these regulations regarding term dates and examination dates will only be considered under very special circumstances, with documentary justification being required, as well as the written permission of the student's tutor, which will then need to be ratified by the Directors of the Program for Students from Abroad within each of the Faculties concerned.

3. RECEPTION AND ORIENTATION DAY

Guidance on Academic Matters

On September 20, 2019, at 10.00 a.m., in Room: Aula Magna of the Faculty of Geography and History, and on January 31, 2020, at 10.00 a.m., in Room 201 (Aula Magna), of the Faculty of Philology, an official Act of Reception, including an orientation session, will be held for all those students who are registered in the Courses of Study for Students from Abroad. During the event students will be welcomed by the Deans of the respective Host Faculties and the Partner Program Directors and Coordinators, as well as by staff of the Humanities Library and the Computer Centers, together with Student Delegates from the Areas of Culture and Sports, among others. Students will be briefed on the general guidelines for the commencement of a new academic semester.

Library Services

The Humanities Library (of the Faculty of Philology and the Faculty of History and Geography), together with the General Library and other Library units in different Centers within the campus as a whole, make up the Library of the University of Sevilla.

As part of the Orientation Day activities, Library staff will provide an Information Session where full details will be given of all the available services of the Library with its wide-ranging bibliographical and electronic resources.

The Session will be held on September 20, 2019, for the Fall Semester, and January 31, 2020, for the Spring Semester. Details of the time and venue will be given during the Act of Reception.

The contents of the Library Services Information Session will be as follows:

1. Getting to Know the Humanities Library
 - Our Users
 - Location Points
 - Library Services Provided
 - Printed and Electronic Resources
 - Loans and Inter-Library Loans
 - Bibliographical Guidance and Information
 - User Training
 - Reprographic Services
2. Search Tools
 - The Fama Catalogue: Uses and Scope
 - Locating Articles: Dialnet and MetaBUS
3. E-resources on-line:
 - E-books and Journal Articles on-line
 - Our Digitalized Collection
4. Personalizing our Information Space: Accessing User Profiles

For those who are interested, as a complementary activity, the Library Services also provide guided visits to the Antique Book Resource Area, as well as to the rest of the facilities belonging to the Humanities Library. A calendar and the timetable for such visits are available upon request from the Library Information Office (first floor, just off the Reading Room).

Computer Centers

Faculty of Philology-Computer Center

The students in the Partner Programs with Universities Abroad who are registered the courses provided by the Faculty of Philology or the Faculty of Geography and History, either through the regular course system, or the specific Partner Program system, can take full advantage of the Open-Access Computer Room next to the Faculty of Philology Computer Center.

Each student will be able to obtain his or her Virtual User Identification (UVUS) by going in person to the Faculty of Philology Computer Center so that his or her passport, or ID provided by the Office for Courses for Students from Abroad, may be verified. Virtual User Identification (UVUS) will give a student access to Internet via a laptop. The instructions to be followed in this regard can be found on the following webpage: www.reinus.us.es

The Open-Access Computer Room of the Faculty of Philology Computer Center is open from Monday through Thursday, from 10 a.m. to 21 p.m.

The following Services are provided by the Computer Center:

- the signing on, or modification, of virtual user passwords (providing access to Personal Academic Records, E-mail Accounts, E-Learning, Wireless Options, etc.)
- the clearance of University Identity Cards for use at Information Points (PIUS) throughout the Campus
- the setting-up of laptops for wifi connections
- printing via PCs within the Center's Computer Room, for which a Printing Card can be purchased from the Faculty of Geography and History Copy-Shop

Faculty of Geography and History

The Computer Center is open to be used at any time between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m.

The services provided by the Computer Center and its IT Classroom are as follows:

- the modification of virtual-user passwords (providing access to Personal Academic Records, E-mail Accounts, E-Learning, Wireless Options, etc.)
- the clearance of University Identity Cards for use at Information Points (PIUS) throughout the Campus
- the setting-up of laptops for wifi connections
- the provision of temporary loan cards (which give access to computers with a card-user feature)
- IT-based assessment in matters concerning software and hardware
- printing via PCs within the Center and the Center's Computer Room, for which a Printing Card can be purchased from the Faculty of Geography and History Copy-Shop
- the scanning of documents, microfilm material, slides (this service being available only in the Computer Center Room, via a 'by prior request' procedure)

4. USEFUL INFORMATION ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

Guidance in Academic Matters

Throughout both semesters of the academic year a student from the University of Sevilla will be available from Monday to Thursday in order to provide academic and logistic support for students in the programs, in the form of help with the writing of texts, the filling-in of forms, matters related to the Culture and Sports Zones, etc. The student on duty may also collaborate with the activities linked with the Partner Programs.

Cultural Activities for Students Registered in the Partner Programs

A series of activities will be organized by the Course Directors with the aim of complementing the academic training and intercultural enrichment of the students registered with us. Information concerning these activities will be posted as the semester progresses.

General Cultural Activities Organized by the Faculty of Philology and the Faculty of Geography and History

Throughout the Academic Year numerous cultural activities, lectures, symposia, seminars, and conferences will take place. The dates on which they will be held, as well as information concerning venues and timetables, will appear on the websites of both Faculties.

-Faculty of Philology (www.filologia.us.es)

-Faculty of Geography and History (www.us.es/fgh)

The University of Seville offers many other cultural events through the Centro de Iniciativas Culturales de la Universidad de Sevilla (CICUS) (<http://www.us.es/cicus>)

Cultural Activities in the City of Sevilla

Sevilla offers a wide range of cultural activities. For information see the following links:

Tandem

The Autonomous Language Learning Centre (APLA) of the Faculty of Philology offers throughout the the school year a series of activities for the promotion of student and teacher autonomy in the learning and teaching process of L2 such as: linguistic advice and coaching; conversation workshop and training conferences for students and teachers.

APLA is also responsible for managing the Spanish-English Tandem Language and Cultural Exchange Programme. This is a programme tutored by professors from the Faculty of Philology in which native language participants work autonomously and with the guidance and supervision of tutors to develop and improve linguistic, communicative and intercultural competence. This activity, in which more than 2000 students from the University of Seville and other international universities have participated, is acknowledged with 2 ECTS by the University of Seville. More information about the activities of APLA and the registration in the Tandem program:

<http://filologia.us.es/estudiantes/centro-apla/>

Contact: apla-filologia@us.es

Language Exchange System

All those students wishing to set up conversation exchanges with Spanish students in our Faculties, with the aim of improving their knowledge of Spanish, can request e-mail addresses that have been registered for this purpose at the Office for Students from Abroad. E-mail: ghcnext@us.es

6. CULTURAL AND SPORTING ACTIVITIES

The Culture Zone (Theater, Cinema, Poetry, Music, Art) and the Sports Zone in the Faculty of Philology and the Faculty of Geography and History

Faculty of Philology

The Student Delegation of the Faculty of Philology is in charge of representing all the students of the Faculty at any forum. Likewise, it is responsible for supporting any proposals coming from the student body. Students are encouraged to get in touch with the Student Delegation Office regarding any kind of information which may be needed.

Through the Faculty of Philology's Culture Zone, the following activities are available to all students:

- "The Greco-Latin Classical Theater Workshop", which annually puts on productions of plays from this period. This is a perfect opportunity for those who wish to develop their acting abilities.
- "Role-Playing Games Workshop", which is ideal for those who are looking for an exciting activity where they can use their imagination. There is a wide range of material available at the Cultural Initiatives Office.
- "The Oriental Dance Workshop", where, through practical sessions and diverse teaching materials, participants can begin to acquire a notion of the body language and characteristic movements linked with this art form. Performances are put on every year so that the choreographical skills developed during workshop sessions can be appreciated. Male students are also encouraged to take part in this activity.
- "The Creative Writing Workshop", which organizes poetry recitals at different points throughout the year so that students can share their work with the university community at large.

All activities and workshop sessions are held free of charge, and students are encouraged to sign up soon to avoid delays in getting the workshops underway. The activities are given for approximately an hour a week during the whole semester except for holiday periods.

Any student wishing to set up a workshop or activity is welcome to get in touch with us in the Culture Zone (Aula de Cultura). There is no financial support available, although we can help with finding a venue and material.

The Sports Zone of the Faculty of Philology is in charge of the organization of all sporting activities and the creation of teams for university championships. Thus far the following sports have been included: men's Indoor soccer, men's basketball, and women's volleyball. With enough team members other teams can be created (rugby, hockey, etc.), so get organized, and PLAY SPORTS: auladeportes_filologia@hotmail.com.

The Office is up the stairs opposite Room 110 in the Faculty of Philology.

Faculty of Geography and History

The Student Delegation of the Faculty of Geography and History is in charge of representing all the students of the Faculty at any forum. Likewise, it is responsible for supporting any proposals coming from the student body. Students are encouraged to get in touch with the Delegation regarding any kind of information which may be needed.

The Culture Zone is structured around the following groups:

- The Games, Role-Play, and Cards Workshop
- The Music Workshop
- The Drama Workshop
- The Cinema Workshop
- The Library Committee.

The Geography-History Sports Zone has organized teams and tournaments in the following activities: men's soccer, men's indoor soccer, men's basketball, men's volleyball, women's indoor soccer, women's volleyball, uni-hockey (current champions in the University of Sevilla), handball, tennis and paddle tennis, chess, and table tennis.

Our Office is located next to the Copyshop of the Faculty of Geography and History.

University Sports Activities (SADUS)

The University of Sevilla's Sports Zone offers you the chance of participating in a wide range of other activities. For further information: www.sadus.us.es

Course FA-02 CONTRASTIVE GRAMMAR: SPANISH-ENGLISH (45 class hours)
Lecturer: María Méndez Orense (mmendez5@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: José García Pérez (jgarciap@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

In this course we will carry out a systematic comparison between English and Spanish. The emphasis will be on practical exercises that will help the student overcome the difficulties that Spanish presents for English speakers. The instructor recommends that only students with at least three semesters of Spanish at their home University take this class.

CONTENT:

The order of presentation of the topics may change. First, we will deal briefly with issues having to do with the differences in pronunciation and vocabulary between the two languages, but as soon as possible we will start to cover extensively the Spanish verb and tenses, ser, estar and verbal periphrases. If we still have time we will deal with the noun phrase, the use of se and pronominal clitics, and discourse markers.

ASSESSMENT

- Assignments, Attendance and Class Participation: (10% of the grade). Every week the students will have to work on exercises that will be assigned by the instructor.
- Long term projects: (15 % of the grade). The students will have to collect relevant data on both English and Spanish that they will present to the instructor.
- Research paper: (Optional) (20 % of the grade) A report on original research carried out by the student on any topic that contrasts English and Spanish. The students will present a research proposal no later than the third week of October. The papers will be due the last week of November.
- Presentation: (Optional) (10 % of the grade) An oral presentation in class of the research paper.
- Exams: (from 45% to 75% of the grade). There will be two exams. Important Note: The exams will be worth from 45% to 75% of the final grade. The rest has to be obtained with the assignments (obligatory), the long term project (obligatory), the research paper (optional), and the presentations (optional).

All the work may be carried out in groups, but each student has to write their own written version. Since one of the goals of this class is to teach students to think for yourselves about language, homework and papers that reveal original thought will be valued more highly than work that summarizes material from other sources.

Course FA-03 CORRECTIVE PHONETICS AND CONVERSATION (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. José Agustín Vidal Domínguez (jvidal@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Juan Pablo Mora Gutiérrez (jmora@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This Course, both theoretically and practically based, is designed to help students improve on, and take better advantage of, their communication skills (comprehension and production) during oral performance in Spanish. Attention will be paid to the most challenging kinds of issues in Phonetics they may encounter, especially within the context of their own performance, as in the case of conversation practice sessions which will include informal talks, explicative segments, and lectures, as well as video-based performances, etc.

SYLLABUS

I. CORRECTIVE PHONETICS

1. Articulation: The Parts of the Vocal Tract; Places and Manners of Articulation.

Practical Activities:

- 1) Describing the parts that make up the vocal tract. Labeling a diagram of the parts of the vocal tract.
- 2) Describing and reproducing sounds according to a range of places and manners of articulation in English and Spanish.

2. The Sounds of the Spanish Language: Phonemes, Sounds, and Written Forms (Orthographic Rules).

Practical Activities:

- 1) Listening to recordings of Spanish-Speakers from different backgrounds speaking English.
- 2) Describing the articulation of the sounds of the Spanish language. Exploring the set-up of the phonemes of Spanish and English to ensure familiarity with the phonetic symbols involved.
- 3) Drawing up lists of words with differing pronunciation in English and Spanish.
- 4) Individual and group practice of the sounds in Spanish which cause English-Speakers most difficulty.
- 5) As undertaken by students and lecturers, the listening to recordings or live renderings of words with the same origin and yet with differing pronunciation in Spanish and English.
- 6) Listening to recordings of single sounds and words. Identification by students of the sounds used.
- 7) Listening to songs. The filling in of gaps in the lyrics followed by complete renderings.
- 8) Readings out loud.
- 9) Dictations.
- 10) Listening Comprehension exercises.

3. Suprasegmental Elements: Accent, Pitch, Rhythm, Intonation. The Syllable.

Practical Activities:

- 1) As set up by lecturers, listening to recordings or live renderings of words, phrases, sentences, and more extensive utterances, so as to enable students to perceive differences in the distribution of pitch, rhythm, and intonation in Spanish and English.
- 2) The rules of accentuation.
- 3) The structure of syllables in Spanish.
- 4) The performance of songs.
- 5) Poetry recitals on an individual basis, together with drama-based group activities which are performed aloud.

4. Varieties of Spanish: Description of the Main Phonetic Features of the Kinds of European-Iberian and Hispanic-American Spanish Characterized by the High Degree of Circulation They Enjoy.

Practical Activities:

- 1) The screening of video footage and video-blog input in which the different varieties of European-Iberian and Hispanic-American Spanish may be appreciated. Students will be expected to determine the key phonetic and suprasegmental features.
- 2) Role play: each group will reproduce a specific variety of Spanish.

II. CONVERSATION

5. Oral Discourse and Written Discourse: Characteristics of Oral Discourse in Comparison with Written Discourse.

Practical Activities:

- 1) Working in groups. Comparisons between written and oral texts.
- 2) Working in groups. Constructing a written text (an e-mail message) and an oral text (a short dialogue which, afterwards, will be performed).

6. Types of Oral Texts within Different Kinds of Communicative Situation: Job Interviews, Class Presentation of Assignment Findings, Debates, Talks, Assembly Meetings, Coteries, Telephone Conversations, Colloquial Exchanges, etc.

Practical Activities:

- 1) Viewing videos which are representative of these different communicative situations. The analysis and pooling of ideas regarding the specific features of each of them.
- 2) Working in groups in order to describe the different kinds of oral text being dealt with.
- 3) Working in groups in order to construct the different kinds of oral texts being dealt with.
- 4) Debating issues related to current affairs.

7. Linguistic Registers: Formal and Informal.

Practical Activities:

- 1) Visits to different locations within the city of Sevilla during which students may learn to recognize in situ these different kinds of linguistic registers (academic lectures, theater venues, cafeterias, etc.).
- 2) Describing the different kinds of formal and informal oral texts being dealt with.
- 3) Constructing in groups the different kinds of formal and informal oral texts being dealt with.

ASSESSMENT AND GRADING CRITERIA

- Active participation in the full range of practical class sessions: 40%
- Final Exam Grade (60% [30% + 30%]).
 - a) First part: a staged group reading of a dramatic text which would have already been dealt with during class sessions, together with the written answers to a series of questions concerning the theoretical aspects of Corrective Phonetics.
 - b) Second part: the undertaking of a brief formal oral presentation (3-4 minutes), together with short colloquial conversation on the subject broached (3-4 minutes).

Option A:

- 25%: regularity in attendance and active participation in class sessions via a text commentary (to be presented orally as a class activity, as well as in written form)
- 25%: the score obtained in a mid-semester exam
- 50%: the score obtained in an end-of-semester exam

Option B

50% the score obtained in a mid-semester exam

50%: the score obtained in an end-of-semester exam

Course FA-09 CONTEMPORARY SPANISH CINEMA (45 class hours)Lecturer: Dr. José María Claver (josemariaclaver@ono.es)Co-Lecturer: Dr. Luis Navarrete Cardero (lnavarrete@us.es)OBJECTIVES

Keeping visiting students in mind, this Course spans a wide range of cultural perspectives, thus taking it beyond the limits of the cinematic and the historical strictly speaking. Movies are perceived as audiovisual works, approachable as texts, as the artistic expression of an author and, at the same time, as being determined by circumstances involving their social, historical, linguistic, and literary contextualization.

METHODOLOGY

Given the amount of accumulated pedagogical experience that exists with regard to this kind of subject matter, as well as keeping in mind the specific needs of students, the aim of the class sessions is to ensure the fruitful interaction of the theoretical and practical dimensions of the study process, while also potentializing the exploration of those aspects of the Spanish language to which, in terms of comprehension and expression, the filmography being studied draws attention.

PRACTICAL SYLLABUS

1. An anthology of significant sequences from key movies and from the work of prominent directors.
2. Full-length Movies. The commentary and critical appreciation of the thematic and stylistic features of the following titles: Sevillanas, by Saura, El otro lado de la cama, by Martínez Lázaro, Belle époque, by Trueba, La lengua de las mariposas, by Cuerda, La niña de tus ojos, by Trueba, Los años bárbaros, by Colomo, ¡Bienvenido Mister Marshall!, by García Berlanga, Los desafíos, by Erice, Guerín and Egea, Los nuevos españoles, by Bodegas, Ana y los lobos, by Saura, Tristana, by Buñuel, Carmen, by Saura, Mujeres al borde de un ataque de nervios, by Almodóvar, and Tesis, by Amenábar.

THEORETICAL SYLLABUS

1. Spain: Social and Political Contexts (from the Republic to the Civil War). Their Impingement upon Movie-making. Postwar Cinema. Raza, General Franco's Vision. The "No-Do" Newsreels and their Ideological Basis. Censorship.
2. Franco-ite Policy and Spanish Cinema. A Muzzled Movie Industry. Literary Genres as Models for Movies. From a Thwarted Neo-realism to Social Realism. The Cinema of Bardem and Berlanga.
3. The "New Spanish Cinema". New Directors and Producers. Critical Trends in Postwar Cinema. Auteur Movies: Buñuel and Saura. Popular Genres. The Influence of Spanish Literature on National Cinema.
4. Spanish Cinema and the Era of Democracy. A Congress in which to Debate Spanish Cinema. The Socialist Party's Policy for Spain's Movie Industry. Themes and Styles in Present-day Spanish Movies. The Case of Almodóvar. Spain's Movie-Industry and the European Union.

ASSESSMENT

The final grade for this course will be based on the scores from two exams:

FIRST MID-SEMESTER EXAM

Subject-matter: Two syllabus-unit subjects, from amongst those covered up to that point, will be included, while students will be expected to deal with one out of the two.

Length: One side of an A4 sheet.

This exam, corrected and graded, will act as proof of commitment vis-à-vis home institutions.

END-OF-COURSE EXAM

Subject-matter: Two syllabus-unit subjects, from amongst those covered throughout the Course, will be included, while students will be expected to deal with one out of the two.

Length: One side of an A4 sheet.

This exam, corrected and graded, will be kept by lecturers as written proof of students' commitment.

A fail grade will be given to any student who does not sit either of the exams. The final grade is based on the average grade obtained from both exams. Exam-session dates cannot be put forward or back unless exceptional circumstances prevail and which would require justification in writing on the part of Program Directors or Tutors.

The following factors will be taken into account when assigning grades:

- a) The adequate assimilation of fundamental syllabus content.
- b) A working knowledge of the orthographic rules, the correct forms of expression, and the vocabulary content of the Spanish language.
- c) A capacity to set areas of subject-matter in relation to others.

The understanding of, and the explicative capacity to analyze, any of the key aspects of a cinematographic text which may require comment.

Course FA-11 SPANISH GRAMMAR (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Ana M^a Romera Manzanares (anaromera@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Dra. Ana Mancera Rueda (anamancera@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

The aim of this Course is to improve, and develop further, students' communication skills, paying attention to key issues affecting the Grammar of Spanish.

In terms of an Advanced-Level Course, students would need to keep abreast of grammatical circumstances concerning variants within the language, as well as issues related to the interaction of norms and usage.

Likewise, students will be expected to acquire a certain degree of knowledge of the theoretical dimension of Grammar so as to ensure further understanding of the constructions to be employed within practical communication.

METHODOLOGY

Classroom methodology will be based on the acquisition of an increased awareness of the grammatical rules of Spanish and on their practical application within a series of specific activities.

As a complementary aspect of their grounding, with guidance from lecturers, students will carry out the following kind of high-profile, keynote activities: for example, a critical review of selected bibliographical titles; research into, and analysis of, grammatical constructions which appear in present-day texts in Spanish.

SYLLABUS

1. The Grammatical Sentence.
 - Parts of the Sentence.
 - Simple Sentences and Complex Sentences: their Structure.
2. The Noun Phrase.
 - The Substantive. Number and Gender. Concordance.
 - Determiners and their Use.
3. Personal Pronouns.
 - Clitics.
 - Values and Uses of the Form se.
4. The Verb Phrase.
 - Expressing the Past.
 - The Future and the Conditional.
 - The Indicative and the Subjunctive.
 - Their Use in Simple Sentences.
 - Their Use in Complex Sentences. Their Interaction with Conjunctions.
 - The Verbs ser and estar.
 - Periphrastic Verb Forms.
5. Prepositions.
 - Por / para*.
 - Other Prepositions.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

On-going assignments will be graded, while regular attendance and active participation in class sessions will also be taken into account. Moreover, two exams will be set, one mid-way through the semester, and the other at its close.

Final Grades will be based on the following criteria:

Regular attendance and active participation in class sessions: 10%

Specific assignment undertaken: 20%

Mid-Semester Exam: 20%

End-of-Semester Exam: 50%

Course FA-12 ACQUISITION OF SPANISH PHONETICS AND PHONOLOGY (45 class hours)

Lecturer: María Fernández Álvarez (mariafernandez@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Ana M. Romera Manzanares (anaromera@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

The aim of this Course is to provide students with an overall grasp of how Spanish is structured at an expressional level, while studying, from a synchronically present-day perspective, both its substance (Phonetics) and its form or representation (Phonology). In order to reach the proposed objective, Standard Spanish will be used as a point of departure while, when necessary, on a contrastive basis, account will be taken of social and dialectal variants, together with other languages, especially English.

METHODOLOGY

In methodological terms, articulatory as well as acoustic criteria will be used in the definition of sounds and phonemes. The exploration of the phonological component of the language will largely be based on the theory of binary features developed by R. Jakobson and M. Halle.

SYLLABUS

1. The Architecture of Language and its Double Articulation: Expression and Content. Phonetics and Phonology: General Notions.
2. Acoustic Phonetics. The Acoustic Components of the Sounds of Language.
3. Articulatory Phonetics: The Analysis of the Articulation of Sounds in Language. The Range of Descriptive Systems. Phonetic Transcription.
4. The Phonetic System of Spanish.. Acoustic / Articulatory Values. Homogeneity and Compatibility. Pairs of Contrastive Values. Relevant and Connected Values.
5. Spanish Phonology. Values of Relevance. Phoneme and Allophone. The System of Contrasts. Intrinsic Content in Terms and Markedness Differentials in Variation. Types of Variation: Privative, Equipollent, and Disjunctive. The Relation between Proportionality and Homogeneity. The System of Correlations. The Study of the Vowel and Consonant Systems of Spanish. The Phonetic Diasystems of Spanish..
6. The Structure of the Syllable in Spanish. Syllabic Classes.
7. Suprasegmental Phonetics and Phonology. Accent and Intonation.
8. Description of the Key Phonetic Characteristics of the Main Varieties of European, Peninsula-based Spanish and American Spanish. Brief Diachronic Survey of the Phonetics and Phonology of Spanish.
9. Notions of the Diachronic Phonetics and Phonology of Spanish: its Evolution in Spatial and Temporal Terms.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

A system of continuous assessment will be maintained; while an examination will also be held at the close of the semester. So as to be able to obtain their final grades, in addition to sitting the two compulsory exams, advanced level students will be expected to undertake an assignment, an essay, a critical review, or an oral class presentation in terms of the characteristics and length to be specified by the lecturer during class sessions.

Course FA-14 SPANISH IN AMERICA (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. Blanca Garrido Martín (blancagm@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Marina González Sanz (mgsanz@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

- To acquire knowledge of the basic linguistic terminology necessary for the study and analysis of the aspects of formation, evolution and contact in terms of language study.
- An approach is provided to the history and reality of present-day Spanish within the United States using a series of factors as points of departure: the identification of the different varieties that exist, as well as of the existing large-scale dialectal zones (Florida, California, New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, together with large urban centers), the assessment of the distribution and evolution of the Hispanic population, of the Spanish language within U.S. society, of Spanish in the communication media, of the issue of bilingual education, of the 'English Only' movement as a reaction against the rise of Spanish, and of the manifestations of linguistic contact which occur between English and Spanish.
- To make students aware of the history of Spanish in America with regard to how it reached there, to the range of linguistic policies carried through in relation to it, as well as to its interaction with autochthonous, Amerindian languages.
- To become knowledgeable about the general characteristics of American Spanish and, at the same time, about the contrasts that emerge according to the different dialectal zones in which it is used.

METHODOLOGY

This Course is geared to students who have a working knowledge of Spanish at an intermediate or advanced level. A study will be made of the different varieties of Spanish that exist in America. The aim is to bring to the fore the linguistic features of American Spanish within the general framework of Spanish itself, placing emphasis upon its linguistic peculiarities, as well as upon the analysis of the key phenomena that have contributed to its linguistic and socio-cultural history.

The Course will be divided into two parts. In the first of these a study will be made of Spanish within the United States, given attending students' familiarity with this variety, given the role of immigration as the crucible within which the many varieties of Spanish have come together, and also as a result of it being the scenario for the contact between the languages that are the subject of our study. An overview will be provided of the historical circumstances surrounding the arrival of, and expansion of, Spanish within the U.S.A.. An exploration will also be made of the present-day situation, while a specific study of the Spanish of the Free Associated State of Puerto Rico will be included, too. Likewise, the phenomena derived from the contact between the English and Spanish languages will be dealt with, and more specifically the interferences and borrowings that take place during the interaction of both, as well as the process involving code-switching, while not forgetting the phenomenon of 'Spanglish'. As far as the second part of the Course is concerned, an exploration will be made of the history and present-day situation with regard to Spanish in Latin America, as well as an explanation being given of its characteristics in phonological, morphological, syntactic, semantic, and pragmatic terms. An overview will also be offered of those phenomena involved in the contact between Spanish and Amerindian languages. At a final stage, the subject of the death and disappearance of languages, and what this signifies in terms of the loss of linguistic and cultural diversity, will also be broached.

As far as the methodology to be employed during class sessions is concerned, it will be based on a combination of the following: teacher input through which syllabus content will be explained, also involving dynamic group and individual activities, together with a real-time oral presentation plus a work project, both related to a specific topic, to be undertaken by each participant in the Course. The subject matter of the topic may be chosen from among a series of suggestions put forward by the Course lecturer or, in consultation with her, be based on one suggested by the Course participant himself / herself.

SYLLABUS

1. Spanish and English in contact within the United States: 'Spanglish'.
2. The history of how Spanish reached America.
3. Dialectical zones of Spanish within America. Criteria of classification.
4. Key characteristics of Spanish in America: Phonology.
5. Key characteristics of Spanish in America: Morphosyntax.

Course FA-19 THE IMAGE OF SPAIN ON THE CINEMA SCREEN AND DIGITAL FICTION

Lecturer: Dr. Luis Navarrete Cardero (lnavarrete@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Juan José Vargas Iglesias (jjvargas@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This Course provides students with a route-map through those Spanish movies, as well as those from other countries, which deal with the image of Spain from different perspectives. There have been times when that same image has become distorted for reasons which are not, strictly speaking, cinematographic in character. Bringing to the fore the key aspects of that distortion, while analyzing a range of discourse types in film, can help to bring into focus the role of Cinema as a generator of cultural stereotypes. Keeping visiting students in mind, this Course spans a wide range of cultural perspectives, thus taking it beyond the confines of the cinematic and the historical sensu stricto.

METHODOLOGY

Given the amount of accumulated pedagogical experience that exists with regard to this kind of subject matter, as well as taking into account the specific needs of students, the aim of the class sessions is to ensure the fruitful interaction of the theoretical and practical dimensions of the study process, while also potentializing the exploration of those aspects of the Spanish language to which, in terms of comprehension and expression, the filmography being studied draws attention.

Theoretical Section

1. THE ROMANTIC IMAGE OF SPAIN IN THE CINE AND VIDEOUEGO.
2. THE IMAGE OF SPAIN IN THE OLD REGIME.
3. THE IMAGE OF SPAIN DURING THE FRANCO ERA.
4. POSTMODERNITY IN SPANISH CINEMA.
5. THE REALISM SHY IN SPANISH CINEMA.
6. SERIOUS GAMES. THE REPRESENTATION OF SPAIN IN THE VIDEO GAME.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

The final grade will be based on the scores obtained from two exams:

FIRST MID-SEMESTER EXAM

Subject-matter: Two syllabus-unit subjects, from amongst those covered thus far, will be included, while students will be expected to deal with one out of the two.

Length: One side of an A4 sheet.

This exam, corrected and graded, will act as proof of commitment vis-à-vis home institutions.

END-OF-COURSE EXAM

Subject-matter: Two syllabus-unit subjects, from amongst those covered throughout the Course, will be included, while students will be expected to deal with one out of the two.

Length: One side of an A4 sheet.

This exam, corrected and graded, will be kept by lecturers as written proof of students' commitment. Students' Final-Grade Scores will be the result of the following distribution of percentages: 50% in terms of the Mid-Semester Exam and 50% in terms of the End-of-Semester Exam.

Students who are linked to The Image of Spain on the Cinema Screen Course at Advanced Level will be expected to write two critical reviews of two movies that will be selected by the Lecturer. These critical commentaries will not alter the assessment percentages while, nevertheless, being a compulsory requirement prior to the final assessment process.

A FAIL GRADE WILL BE GIVEN TO ANY STUDENT WHO DOES NOT SIT BOTH EXAMS.

The final grade is based on the average score obtained from both exams. Exam-session dates cannot be put forward or back unless exceptional circumstances prevail and which would require justification in writing from Program Directors or Tutors.

THE FOLLOWING FACTORS WILL BE TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT POSITIVELY WHEN ASSIGNING GRADES:

- ✓ The adequate assimilation of fundamental syllabus content.
- ✓ A working knowledge of the orthographic rules, the correct forms of expression, and the vocabulary content of the Spanish language.
- ✓ A capacity to set areas of subject-matter in relation to others.
- ✓ The understanding of, and the explicative capacity to analyze, any of the key aspects of a cinematographic text which may require comment.

Course FA-22PSYCHOLOGY OF PERSUASION IN THE MASS MEDIA: FROM ADVERTISING TO PROPAGANDA (45 class hours)Lecturer: Dr. Adrián Huici Módenes (ahuici@us.es)Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Noemí Piñeiro Dotto (npineiro8@yahoo.es)OBJECTIVES:

We human beings are essentially social beings that communicate with the people around us. Communication, therefore, constitutes the basic element without which society itself would not exist. In specific terms: the community arises as a result of the human capacity to communicate, while, at the same time, communication is a phenomenon that can only arise from within the framework of what is social.

The study of the interaction of human beings with each other and with the mass media (radio, cinema, TV, the press ...), together with the analysis of the technologies and strategies employed by these media, have become fundamental instruments by means of which our present-day reality, as well as the way in which we imagine the future, may be understood. Moreover, among the discourses that proliferate in the media, this Course understands that knowledge concerning the phenomenon of persuasive communication is of key interest, while, specifically, the kind that forms the basis of commercial advertising and propaganda.

It is precisely Social Psychology that may be considered an ideal tool to enable us to become aware of the mechanisms through which the media influence our behaviour so as to attain acceptability and, thereby, the consumption of the product concerned; or of how they are capable of generating adhesion to, or the rejection of, a specific ideology.

The fundamental aim of the Course is to address the issue of persuasion and manipulation as strategies by which the media can "enter into" our minds and direct our behavior. Moreover, what will also be undertaken is a brief diachronic review of the historical forms assumed by persuasive discourse types and, fundamentally, by advertising and propaganda.

METHODOLOGY

In addition to theoretical classes, their practical counterpart will always be sought, and in every possible form: class-based assignments, viewing and commenting on video and movie material, the reading of ad hoc texts linked with sessions of commentary and debate, as well as reviews of a further range of texts and items that will be brought into use.

Practical Activities:

The back-up material for practical sessions will include (keeping in mind the possible variants that, due to necessity, may arise as the Course evolves):

1. Videos and TV series: Flight of the Phoenix (R. Aldrich), The Wave (Dennis Gansel), Good (Vicente Amorim), episodes from the series entitled Black Mirror.

2. Reading of, and commentary on, books and / or articles: The Lucifer Effect (Ph. Zimbardo), The Bubble Filter (E. Pariser), Obedience to Authority (S. Milgram)

- 10. 1. The generation of wishes and the anticipation of behavior
- 10.2. The Orwellian prophecy: Big Brother now

SYSTEM OF ASSESSMENT

Assessment and final grading will be based on two key criteria. Firstly, the undertaking of two written exams. Secondly, when assigning final grades, to what was obtained in those same written exams will be added the scores corresponding to active participation in class sessions, as well as to the assignments handed in when required (reports and reviews, as well as commentaries, etc). The written exams represent seventy percent of the final grade, while the other thirty percent will be divided between twenty percent for practical work and ten percent for active participation in class sessions.

Course FA-25 LITERATURE AND CUISINE: READ, WRITE, COOK, EAT (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Luis Laplaza Hdez-Franch (luislaplaza@hotmail.com)
Co- Lecturer: Mercedes Delgado (mmdelgado@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Montserrat Izaguirre Rodríguez (isaguirremon@gmail.com)
Collaborators: Antonio Tirado Martín, enólogo y sumiller Ángel Custodio Ruiz Martínez, chef.

OBJECTIVES

This Course is designed as a way of approaching the world of cuisine and food through literature in different periods and throughout history. It is not intended to be either exhaustive nor all-embracing, but rather a humble hors d'oeuvre that aims to whet the appetite for the great banquet of literature in its relations with food, cuisine, eating habits, and gastronomy.

METHODOLOGY

The Course is made up of two distinct parts. A theoretical part wherein literary texts in which cuisine and food play a relevant role will be read and analyzed. The other part will be practical, and consists of preparing dishes from a range of recipes related to a series of texts, as well as to Spanish culture as such

SYLLABUS

Introduction: Why literature and cuisine?

Antiquity

Topic 1: The Dawn of Cuisine

- Cuisine in Sumer (bread and beer in the poem of Gilgamesh).
- Bread in Ancient Egypt (hieroglyphics).
- Food and symbol: The Bible (Old and New Testaments).

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: Bread making.

Topic 2: Notes on the Classical World

- Homer's Odyssey: The first barbeque?
- Marcus Gavius Apicius, the first gourmet.
- Petronius' Satyricon; those Romans!
- Lucius Junius Moderatus "Columela", the agriculture correspondent from Cádiz.
- Marcus Valerius Martialis (Martial) and his Epigrams.

A screening of sequences from Francis Ford Coppola's Apocalypse Now.

A screening of scenes from Federico Fellini's "Satyricon".

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: A pickles and salted fish tasting. Cuisine inspired by the Apicius recipe collection. How to prepare marinade and French toast ('torrijas').

The Middle Ages

Topic 3: From the Eulogizing of Vegetable Stew ("alboronía") to the nostalgia for fried eggs

- The legacy of Abu I-Hasan Ali ibn Nafi "Zyriab".
- Al-Yahiz, Amr: The Book of the Greedy (Libro de los avaros).
- Ibn Razin al-Tuyibi and his Table Titbits (Relieve de las mesas).
- Notes on the Talmud collection of doctrines and laws.
- Ben Sira on the subject of gluttony.
- Selection of Maimonides' commentaries on wine and food in his Guide for the Perplexed.
- Ibn Rushd "Averroes". Al-Adwiya wa 'l-aghhdhiya (medicine and nutrition).
- "The Battle between Don Carnal and Doña Cuaresma (Lent)" in Juan Ruiz's The Book of Good Love (El libro de buen amor).

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: Spinach with chickpeas, vegetable stew (alboronía), and fried eggs.

A screening of scenes from Tassos Boulmetis' A Touch of Spice.

Modern Times

Topic 4: A case in point: The Life of Gargantua and of Pantagruel by François Rabelais, eschatology in the extreme

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: soufflés, pâtés, filloa pancakes, and mousse.

Topic 5: To Eat or Not To Eat, That Was the Question: Where What Is Told About Is the Very Special and Close Relationship that Existed between the Picaresque Rogue and Hunger

-Francisco Delicado in The Lusty Andalusian Maid (La Lozana Andaluza).

- An entertainment piece: "The Dinner" by Baltasar del Alcázar.

-Lazarillo de Tormes.

-Quevedo's The Rouge.

A screening of: The Rogue.

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: A Passover supper.

Topic 6: A Golden Age in which not All that Glitters is Gold

-The gastronomic sorrows and joys of the austere Don Quixote and the plump Sancho Panza.

-Lope de Vega and the role of the stewpot in his play entitled The Lions' Son (El hijo de los leones).

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: Fry-up ("Duelos y quebrantos") and cottage cheese with quince jelly.

Eating in Modern Times

Topic 7: From Realism to Naturalism

-Between down-to-earth chickpeas and stews, on the one hand, and gallicization/frenchification, on the other hand, in the Madrid of Galdós.

-Emilia Pardo Bazán: aristocrat and gourmet.

-Juan Valera or sybaritism down south.

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: High-stakes stew or lamb stew and vegetables Jewish style (Cocido con mayúsculas o adafina)

Topic 8: Gastronomic snatches in Galíndez by Manuel Vázquez Montalbán, in The Century of Lights (El siglo de las luces) by Alejo Carpentier, and in Days and Nights of Love and War (Días y noches de amor y de guerra) by Eduardo Galeano

-Reflecting upon Basque cuisine.

-Carpentier's "grill to beat all grills," or Caribbean exuberance.

-Going around the marketplace with Galeano.

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: Fish stew Veracruz style and rice pudding.

Topic 9: Jorge Amado and Isabel Allende, humor and love among the cooking stoves, or erotica and cuisine

A screening of: Like Water for Chocolate

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: Spinach "a la creme" with raisins and pine nuts, fried eggplant with molasses, zucchini ravioli and aubergine stuffed with duck and mushrooms; mille-feuille custard slice B.C., chocolate truffle

Topic 10: Notes on Good and Bad Eating in Noir Detective Thrillers (Four Gastronomic Cases)

- Camilleri, Andrea: the taste of the Mediterranean.

- Himes, Chester: soul food in Harlem; A Strange Case of Murder.

- Mankell, Henning: the cold Baltic.
- Vázquez Montalbán, Manuel: the ongoing “tribute”

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: Grilled vegetable salad (escalivada) and noodle fish-stock fideua.

Topic 11: Wine in Popular Folklore

Flamenco singing and wine, the inevitable hook-up.

Audio track: The New Mastersinger School (Nuevo Mester de Juglaría): their wine songs

Audio track: a selection of songs about wine

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: A wine-tasting session

Topic 11 Eating in the Movies

Course FA-27 EL QUIJOTE (DON QUIXOTE) WITHIN HISPANIC CULTURE (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Jaime Galbarro García (jgalbarro@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. M^a del Rosario Martínez Navarro (rosariomtnez@us.es)

I- PRESENTATION OF THE COURSE

The main objective of this Course is to provide an approach to Miguel de Cervantes' greatest work, the cornerstone of Spanish Literature, and the first modern novel: Don Quixote (Don Quijote de La Mancha), 1605-1615; as well as to some of his many presences as projected upon Hispanic and Universal Culture: in music (music of the Golden Age, the comic-heroic opera by Jules Massenet, the Symphonic Poem, op.35, by Richard Strauss, Master Pedro's Ornamental Screen, by Manuel de Falla, the musical Generation of '27, etc.), in dance (the ballet by Léon Minkus), in cinema (Orson Welles, Jess Franco, Terry Gilliam, Grigori Kozintsev, etc.), in painting (Doré, Picasso, Metz, etc.), in photography (Cristina García Rodero, José Manuel Navia), in folklore, fashion, and social manners ... During the Course, the most relevant approaches will be selected, according to students' interests.

II- OBJECTIVES

Class sessions are designed with not only those students who already have a working knowledge of Spanish Culture and Literature in mind, but also those students who wish to come into contact with them.

Using this central axis as a point of departure, the Course's specific objectives will be deployed, so that from a range of perspectives – the book's history, textual analysis, comparative analysis in terms of music, dance, cinema, painting, photography etc.-, students will be able to delve more deeply into specific aspects of Cervantes' artistic output, while coming to appreciate its present-day relevance with regard to both Hispanic and Universal Culture.

Finally, the students will be invited to become acquainted with the literary Sevilla, the point of departure being a Cervantine guided tour involving selected readings from a number of his works -Don Quixote, the Exemplary Novels, Eight Comedies and Between-Acts Pieces ...-, which will enable us to look at the city through the eyes of the "Prince of Creative Talents".

III- METHODOLOGY

The Course will involve the configuration of a theoretical-practical methodology, inductive in character, using as a starting point the presentation of texts - literary, musical, cinematographic, etc.-, about which discussions will be held, with the aim of foregrounding issues which are related to their study, both with regard to text-based meanings, as well as in relation to other cultural elements. Although the intensive and gratifying reading of Don Quixote is strongly recommended, while, at the same time, taking into account the diversity of levels in linguistic competence involved, the teacher will prepare and make available to students a series of extracts selected and adapted for use in each session. Likewise, using those same extracts, students will undertake reviews, assignments, and presentations which will be taken into account with regard to final assessments and grading.

IV- SYLLABUS

1. Historical and literary context of the Golden Age.
2. Introduction to Miguel de Cervantes: life and works.
3. Study and readings of Don Quixote.
4. Don Quixote in Hispanic and Universal Culture.

IV- Visits and Back-up Activities

- A theater-yard in Triana.
- A Cervantes-related walk-about through the streets of Sevilla: commented readings as progress is made through the spaces involved in Cervantes' works.

VI- Readings, screenings, and listening sessions (recommended editions; teachers will provide guidance in the selection of several of these, depending on students' specific interests)

VII- ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

Assessment will be on-going, based on day-to-day activity during class sessions, on the factor of regular attendance throughout the Course, as well as on commented readings or debates involving proposed texts for discussion.

Students will undertake two exams on the subject-matter dealt with during the Course: one mid-way through the semester and the other at its close.

Assignments will involve writing an essay or critical review on any of the elements (essay) or works (review) included in the syllabus, in terms of each student's free choice, in agreement with the teacher, and to whom the proposal concerned will have been communicated. These assignments will be presented in class in the form of short reports so that they can be discussed with classmates. Each assignment and presentation will be valued positively in terms of the degree of its originality, of the approach adopted, of the degree of maturity projected, together with each student's skill at synthesis with regard to the syllabus subject-matter as dealt with in class sessions.

-First Exam (mid-way through the semester): 30%

-Final Exam (at the close of the semester): 30%

-Regular Attendance in Class Sessions and Active Participation in Classroom Debates: 20%

-Assignments Carried Out: 20%

Course FA-28 CONTEMPORARY SPANISH WOMEN WRITERS (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. María José Osuna Cabezas (majosuna@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dra. Dña. Sara González A. (sara.gonzalez.angel@gmail.com)

OBJETIVES

The fundamental aim of this Course is to study the key role in recent decades of women as writers within Spanish Literature. Attention will be centered on those figures which have stood out in each of the principal literary genres: Poetry, Novel, and Drama.

METHODOLOGY

Classes will be carried out from a theoretical-practical standpoint: the exploration of each topic will be complemented by debates regarding texts selected for reading.

SYLLABUS

1. Women in present-day Spanish society.
2. The links between women writers and their cultural environment: their presence and absence in institutions and academies, as prize-winners, and within the publishing sector, etc.
3. Women poets. A specific study of Fanny Rubio, Ana Rossetti, and Dulce Chacón.
4. Women novelists. A specific study of Ana María Matute, Soledad Puértolas, and Almudena Grandes.
5. Women dramatists. A specific study of Lidia Falcón, Carmen Resino, and Paloma Pedrero.

Specific:

Lecturers will make available a booklet containing texts for compulsory reading, or will indicate how they can be obtained.

Complementary Activities

- The screening of a selection of interviews involving the writers concerned.
- The screening of a movie based on one of the novels of either Almudena Grandes or Dulce Chacón, or of two movies, involving a novel by each of them.
- A dramatized reading of a play.
- Attendance at a range of lectures within the International Conference entitled What is at Issue for the Women of Spain and Spanish America, organized by the "Women and Writing Research Group, and which will be held in the Faculty of Philology, University of Sevilla, on 10, 11, and 12 of November, 2011. This activity will be carried out in terms of timetabling and scheduling factors.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

- Mid-semester Exam: 30%
- End-of-semester Exam: 30%
- Active participation in class sessions: 30%
- Assignment, essay, or critical write-up undertaken: 10%

Course FA-30 INTRODUCTION TO TRANSLATION: CULTURE, VOCABULARY, AND PROCESS

(45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Isidro Pliego Sánchez (ipliego@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Yolanda Morató Agrafojo (octubre10@hotmail.com)

OBJECTIVES

This course aims to present the basic principles of translation between English and Spanish, for which a number of basic concepts will be explained to understand the process of translation.

The process will be done in a practical way in order that the student acquires an understanding of the phases, and the practical tools currently used by translators. Two key concepts will be explained through translation: linguistic competence and cultural competence.

This course seeks to make the student aware of the importance of good writing and the precise use of language.

METHODOLOGY

Class sessions will be mostly practical. The student will be asked to produce translations, to investigate the meaning of texts and to propose translation relationships for certain cultural and linguistic segments. Therefore, the student will be asked to participate as follows:

- Translating texts.
- Doing exercises about dictionaries and other reference sources.
- Translating concrete language aspects (like proverbs, semantic fields, specialized languages...), as well as elaborating translation data cards.
- Explaining in writing and/or orally how he/she has reached his/her translation conclusions.

SYLLABUS

The topics of the course will develop around the texts to be translated. They include the following:

- The concept of Competence.
- Literal Translation.
- Oblique Translation.
- Translation Techniques.
- Assisted Translation and Machine Translation.
- The Translator's Workbench.
- Orthotypography of English and Spanish.

Course FA-31 PROGRESSIVE SPANISH FOR ENGLISH-SPEAKING STUDENTS (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. Francisco Javier Tamayo Morillo (fitamayo@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Manuel Padilla Cruz (mpadillacruz@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This Course is aimed at English-speaking students who already have a basic knowledge of Spanish. Its key objective is to improve their communication skills by means of the consolidation of their grammar competence and of the introduction of practical vocabulary so as to enable them to cope with the usual communication situations of everyday life. On the one hand, teaching methodology will be based on the assimilation of grammatical rules and their practical application via specific activities and, on the other hand, will involve the gradual and progressive use of Spanish as a vehicle for communication within the classroom.

CLASSES: THE SET-UP

The Lecturer will provide students with xeroxed material containing the grammar content to be studied with regard to each section of the Course syllabus. However, this does not mean that class sessions will be organized in terms of formal lectures on Spanish Grammar. In a key way, teaching will be practice-based: using specific grammar exercises as points of departure, explanations will be provided of those issues arising from the use of the Spanish language which tend to cause students most difficulty. Other activities within the Course will include: (a) dictations; (b) listening comprehension exercises; (c) reading comprehension exercises; (d) exercises in writing; and (e) vocabulary exercises. Use will also be made of representative works of literature with a double objective in mind: (a) their use as tools by which to improve students' communication skills, and (b) to give students the opportunity of accessing Spain's literary heritage. With this in mind, students will be expected to read the prose work Lazarillo de Tormes (in an edition adapted to their level of knowledge of Spanish), while extracts from the movie version of Don Quijote de la Mancha will also be screened.

COMPLEMENTARY ACTIVITIES

Two programmed activities will be undertaken so as to complement those carried out in the classroom:

- (a) a city walk which will involve touring those places to which Miguel de Cervantes makes reference in his works. During the tour extracts from Don Quijote will be read so as to provide students with their first approach to Spanish Literature's most representative work.
- (b) a visit to Triana Market, with two aims in mind: getting students used to the vocabulary linked with the consumption of foodstuffs in Sevilla on a day-to-day basis; and providing them with a context within which to practice common communicative structures as employed by those who normally use this kind of commercial establishment.

COURSE SYLLABUS

Each of the syllabus points indicated here contains a grammar-based component, as well as a lexically-based or/and communicatively-based component.

1. Grammatical Sentences: Basic Sentence Constituents. Sentence Structure in Spanish: the Order of Sentence Constituents and its Effect upon Sentence Structure during Communication. Expressions to aid Classroom Communication.
2. The Noun Phrase: Gender and Number in Nouns and Adjectives. The Use of Articles, Demonstratives, and Structures involving Possession. The Grades of Adjectives. Ser and Estar: Description and Location. Nationalities, Countries and Professions.
3. Personal Pronouns: the Use of Subject Pronouns within Sentences. Tú and Usted. Object

- Pronoun Forms. The Verbs gustar, encantar and doler.
4. The Present Indicative Tense. How it is Formed. Its Uses. Reflexivity in Spanish. Pronominal Verbs in Spanish. Everyday Activities and Leisure.
 5. The Future Indicative Tense. How it is Formed. Uses of the Future Indicative. The Periphrastic Configuration ir a + infinitive. Planning Activities.
 6. The Imperative. Its Different Forms. Issuing Instructions and Giving Advice.
 7. The Conditional Tenses. How they are Formed. Uses of the Conditional. Sentence Structures involving the Conditional: the Main Types. Expressing the Wish to Do Something.
 8. How to Express the Past. The Imperfect and the Past Perfect Tenses. How they are Formed. Uses of the Imperfect and the Past Perfect Tenses. Telling the Time, the Days of the Week, the Parts that Make Up a Day.
 9. The Subjunctive Mood. Verb Tenses and the Subjunctive Mood. Basic Uses of the Subjunctive. Expressing Prohibition.

- The successful completion of an assignment based on the prose work, Lazarillo de Tormes: 15%
- A final exam which will involve testing all Course-content: 35%
- Grading on a scale of 10 as maximum: Fail (0-4'9); Pass (5-6'9); Very Good (7-8'9); Excellent (9); With Distinction (10).

Course FA-33THE CONTEMPORARY ARAB WORLD

Lecturer

Dra. Gracia López Anguita (glopezanguita@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer:

Dra. Fátima Roldán Castro (froldan@us.es)OBJECTIVES

This Course consists of an Introduction to the historical and political reality of the Arab-Islamic World, while underlining the importance of international relations with regard to its historical evolution. The aim of the Course is to provide students with an understanding of the processes which have conditioned the recent history of these countries and which have led them to their present-day situation, while also enabling students to acquire a critical perspective by which this same scenario may be calibrated.

Specific attention will be paid to those countries wherein the conflicts affecting them have acquired significant transcendence in international terms. From amongst the group of Moslem, non-Arab countries, it is Iran that will be focused upon. Likewise, within this Course, in transversal terms, the ethnic, social and religious diversity that characterizes the Arab-Islamic world will be broached, together with gender-related issues.

METHODOLOGY

Class sessions during the Course.

The reading and analysis of texts.

The screening and analysis of Arab-related documentaries, as well as movies.

Course FA-37 PAINTING IN LITERARY SEVILLE (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Eric Davis (ericdavispainter@gmail.com)

Substitute Lecturer: Inés Loring Moxo (ines@fanloring.com)

OBJECTIVES

Understand the city of Seville and its artistic heritage combining the literature of Seville with the practical art of painting. To have a profound knowledge of a city and its heritage requires a very careful study of its most emblematic places. Painting gives one a greater vision of the city. We choose different techniques: pencil, charcoal, watercolor, and ink, etc. The students pass enjoyable sessions in the parks, plazas, streets and monuments of Seville, the Guadalquivir River, the Alcázar, the Barrio Santa Cruz, taking time to study their subject, its form and history. They will get to know the city, its hidden places and architecture like no other student can hope to do. At the end of the semester the students will have a fine collection of drawings and paintings which make great souvenirs and gifts for their friends and families. Also, they will acquire a great understanding of painting; perspective and composition which will help them appreciate art for the rest of their lives.

METHODOLOGY

The students make visits to the monuments, plazas and parks of Seville while drawing and painting. Every visit includes an introduction to the site, its history, its architecture, its figures and legends. In each class the students learn aspects of drawing and painting: color, composition, etc. Classes are conducted in the classroom or outdoors. Every week we visit different locations. We will discuss the literature related to each place, while we draw and paint.

The classes are in chronological order to better understand the monumental history of the city. We will start with the Romans by drawing in the Archeology Museum. Then we study Islamic Seville. Then we look at medieval Seville at the Cathedral. We search out themes from the Golden Age of Cervantes. We learn about Romanticism in the María Luisa Park.

The students will read literary passages about Seville; the subjects that we paint and draw are related to the readings.

SYLLABUS

1. Theory.

- 1.1. Basic pencil drawing.
- 1.2. Composition: laying out an image.
- 1.3. Perspective: drawing buildings in perspective.
- 1.4. Water color painting: brush and wash control.
- 1.5. Color theory: how to mix colors.
- 1.6. Landscape painting.

2. Practical. Visits to places of literary interest to draw and paint.

- 2.1. Ancient Seville; the Archeology Museum.
- 2.2. The Islamic Seville of the poet-king Al-Mu'tamid.
- 2.3. Medieval Seville and "Romanceros"; the Barrio Santa Cruz.
- 2.4. Seville in the Golden Age of Cervantes; City Hall; Archive of the Indies, the Guadalquivir River.
- 2.5. Romantic Seville; Bécquer, operas of Seville, María Luisa Park.
- 2.6. Seville in the XXth C.; A. Machado y Luis Cernuda.

MATERIALS

Every student will purchase the following materials: a box of watercolor paints, two watercolor paintbrushes, a bottle of water and a cup, some pencils and an eraser, a drawing pad and some pens.

ASSESSMENT

Partial exam: 30%

Active participation in class: 30%

A final project, essay, or artwork: 40%

Course FA-38 LITERARY AND CULTURAL TRADITIONS IN SPANISH-SPEAKING COMMUNITIES

(45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Salomé Lora Bravo (salome_lora@yahoo.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Yolanda Congosto Martín (ycongosto@us.es)

Language, literature, as well as culture in general, constitute the key aspects of the identity of peoples; it is for this reason that, in order to learn a foreign language, having knowledge of the culture associated with it also gains relevance: knowing who, what, when and why (in terms of political, religious, education-related, historical, geographical, etc. issues), knowing about (events, developments, and social concerns), as well as knowing how (that same society acts, speaks, and manifests itself).

OBJECTIVES

The main objective of this Course is to bring students into contact with the existing range of Spanish-speaking communities by providing them with real, thorough knowledge regarding their literary and cultural traditions, while also furnishing information on:

Their values and beliefs. How they are manifested.

What makes up life on a day-to-day basis, as well as their customs.

Their popular traditions.

What is sought as a result is that students develop:

A tolerant and open-minded attitude toward other cultures.

A thinking-person's attitude toward social and cultural similarities and differences.

The ability to become involved in an intercultural milieu.

Empathy toward people from a wide range of different cultures.

Real skills in dealing with how culture and society are seen to interact.

METHODOLOGY

This Course has been conceived of with highly practical intentions in mind, while deliberately tending to students communicative and cultural interaction within real contexts.

Students will feel part of their own learning process by becoming involved in, and participating actively in, the undertaking of assignments such as visits to embassies, consulates, cultural centers and fairs, culinary demonstrations, as well as interacting with documentary screenings, photographic materials, movies, commercials, television or radio programs, or performed readings, etc., which will constitute a key stimulus to the keener understanding of specific aspects of the literary and cultural mosaic that is indeed the Hispanic world.

Key representative aspects (locations, society, music, dance, cinema, cuisine, together with other modes of cultural expression) of a number of countries (Mexico, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Cuba, Puerto Rico, Peru and Argentina) will be dealt with, within the framework of an open, flexible schedule, due to which the choice of venues, as well as the order of presentation of syllabus items may tend to vary depending on how class sessions tend to develop, or in terms of how interests and circumstances pan out.

CRITERIA OF ASSESSMENT AND GRADING

Each final grade will be based on the following distribution of percentages:

25%: Mid-Semester Examination.

25%: End-of-Semester Examination.

25%: Weekly assignments and exercises undertaken.

25%: The degree of active participation during class sessions, as well as during extramural activities.

Course FA-43 THE SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY OF LANGUAGE LEARNING (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Gabriela Fernández (gfernan@us.es)

Lecturer: Dr. Cristina Molinos (cmolinos@us.es)

1. AIMS

This training course offers a theoretical and practical approach to the teaching of English as a foreign language (EFL) to Spanish-speaking students. Classroom practice will be fostered which includes activities in the class, activities outside the class under the supervision of a tutor and the opportunity to take part of the course in a Spanish school with Spanish students in the city of Seville. This way, not only theoretical content but also the cultural aspects which are involved in the practice of teaching English as a foreign language will be dealt with.

2. METHODOLOGY

From a methodological perspective, theory will be determined and learned from the practice. Classroom interaction and dynamics guided by the teacher will be dealt with in class; students will work in pairs and in small groups and will have to get involved in creative tasks such as lesson planning, original learning resources design, classroom observation and teaching. Part of the course will take place in a Spanish school in Seville.

3. SYLLABUS

3.1. EFL Acquisition and Learning.

3.2. Popular EFL Methodologies.

3.3. The English Teacher.

3.4. EFL Students in Spanish Schools.

3.5. Classroom Dynamics.

3.6. How to teach

- pronunciation, grammar, vocabulary and culture to EFL students.
- speaking, listening, reading and writing.

3.7. Teaching Resources in the EFL Classroom. The English coursebook, other resources and digital support.

3.8. Error Correction and Feedback.

3.9. Assessment.

The present syllabus may be subject to certain readjustments which will depend on the students' profile and their learning preferences and needs.

4. ASSESSMENT ATTENDANCE IS COMPULSORY.

4.1. Classroom activities 20%

4.2. Tests 30%

4.3. Teaching practice in schools 50%

Course FA-44 THE SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY OF LANGUAGE LEARNING (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Christian Abelló Contese (chac@us.es)

Lecturer: Dr. Belén Ramírez Gálvez (belen@us.es)

DESCRIPTION

This course is an introduction to second language acquisition, that is, a first acquaintance with how a non-native language (L2) is learned once a first language (L1) has already been developed. Second language acquisition is a dynamic process that millions of individuals worldwide are engaged in; it is also a growing interdisciplinary field of study within the megafield of applied linguistics.

The focus of attention is on the L2 learners' individual differences. These refer to personal variation in language learning as evidenced by a number of interrelated factors such as age, aptitude, personality traits, motivations, attitudes, social identities, gender, intelligence, learner beliefs, learning strategies, among others. Such differences tend to be psychological/affective, social/sociocultural, cognitive/biological in nature. SLA researchers have claimed that such differences enhance or inhibit both the process and the product of L2 acquisition. The claim is that individual differences partially determine how fast learners learn and how successful they become towards the end of their learning process.

In the long term, the process of L2 acquisition may be related to individual bilingualism in that a growing expectation—yet not the automatic result of it—is that by the end of the L2 acquisition process—whenever that 'end' actually takes place for individual learners—the original L2 learner will hopefully have reached an advanced proficiency level and have become an autonomous L2 user (i.e., a bilingual individual).

AIMS

The following are the main aims of this course: Students are expected to (i) develop an informed, reflective, and analytical attitude regarding the factors that play a role in the processes of acquiring and using of two (or more) languages; (ii) recognize the meanings of key terms and concepts used in the field of second language acquisition and bilingualism studies; and (iii) make connections between the descriptive contents covered and their own past and present experiences involving foreign/second language learning and use.

METHODOLOGY AND ACTIVITIES

This course includes both descriptive as well as practical contents and the teaching methodology used is eclectic (informed eclecticism). In-class activities will include lecturing, guided discussions on selected issues, oral presentations prepared by the students on topics of their choice, and informal presentations by guest speakers (both L2 learners of English and Spanish-English bilinguals).

SYLLABUS

Unit 1: Introducing Second Language Acquisition

- First vs. second language acquisition
- Diversity in language learning and learners
- Second language learning contexts: Naturalistic, mixed, instructed context.

Unit 2: The psychology of SLA

- Languages and the brain: basic concepts of neurolinguistics / neuroscience
- Language processing and its subprocesses: noticing, storing, integration, organization, retrieval.

Unit 3: Social and psychological differences in L2 learners

- Age
- Intelligence
- Aptitude
- Personality
- Learning and cognitive style
- Learning strategies
- Attitudes
- Motivation
 - Gender
 - sociocultural identities
 - Socio-economic factors

Unit 4: Individual bilingualism

- Who is a bilingual?
- Definitions of bilingualism; basic distinctions
 - Sequential bilingualism
 - Psycholinguistic aspects of individual bilingualism

ASSESSMENT

Grading will consist of the following four (4) criteria:

- Class preparation (mainly reading assignments), attendance, and participation: 10 %
- Individual oral presentation (on a topic to be chosen): 20%
- Midterm test: 35 %
- Final test: 35 %

Course GA-04 CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY OF LATIN AMERICA (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. David Lagunas Arias (dlagunas@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Richard Pfeiltetter (rgp@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

The aim of this Course is to explore the current model of inter-ethnic relations in Latin America as a fundamental aspect of its present-day social reality. The syllabus will be centred on the co-existence of two well-defined strategies: a) the domination of the indigenous population by national elites and b) the resistance practised by ethnic groups. The content of class sessions will be based on the explanation of basic theoretical concepts.

SYLLABUS

1. Diversity within Unity in Latin America.
 - 1.1. Territory: Ecological Factors and Economic Usage.
 - 1.2. General Historical Processes: the Pre-Hispanic Era, Conquest and Settlement, National Independence.
 - 1.3. Specific Historical Processes.
 - 1.4. The Multi-Ethnic Composition of Latin America's Population.

2. Theoretical Instruments for the Analysis of Ethnic-National Issues in Latin America.
 - 2.1. Ethnic Groups, Ethnic Minorities, Race, Social Class and Gender.
 - 2.2. Ethnicity, Indexes and Symbols of Ethnicity.
 - 2.3. Inter-ethnic Relations: Violence, Stigmatization, and Domination. Latin America's Asymmetric Model.
 - 2.4. The Creation of National States in Latin America and Indigenous Issues.
 - 2.5. Ethnic Cleansing and Genocide.

3. The Latin American Dialectic: National State and Ethnic Groups.

ASSESSMENT

Groups made up of three or four students each will be asked to carry out an assignment involving the analysis of one of the ethnic groups concerned, followed by the presentation in class of the results of their research project. Final grades will be awarded on the basis of regular class attendance and the active participation in debates, as well as on the team assignment and the commentary of audiovisual material which will be shown regularly in class sessions. A final written exam will also be held.

Course GA-05 THE POLITICAL CONSTRUCTION OF THE EUROPEAN UNION (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Carolina García Sanz (cgarciasanz@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Julio Ponce Alberca (jponce@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

To make students aware of the historical milestones within the process of European construction. As the Course develops, reflexion upon the idea of Europe will be encouraged, as well as upon how to approach this same historical process from the perspective of the Social Sciences and Historiography, upon its evolution, upon the study of its institutional make-up, and upon the existing links between Spain and Europe.

With this basis in mind, the aim is to enable students:

- to reflect critically upon the key issues involved in the process of European construction;
- to acquire an understanding of, and be capable of analyzing, with rigor, the circumstances affecting this same process at the present time;
- to become aware of the values upon which the foundations of European construction are based.

METHODOLOGY

Class sessions will be based on two-hour modules, during the first of which lecturers will explore the key aspects of one of the units of syllabus content, while during the second hour, documentaries will be screened, text commentaries will be carried out, and workshops will be held, based on the readings prepared by students beforehand on a weekly basis.

Course GA-07 FLAMENCO: AN EXPRESSION OF THE CULTURE OF ANDALUCÍA (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Assumpta Sabuco I Canto (assumpta@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer : Santiago Montero Cruzada (smcruzada@us.es)

SUMMARY OF CONTENTS AND OBJECTIVES

Flamenco will be broached as a cultural phenomenon in its widest sense; i.e., taking into account the dimensions that link it with music, social interaction, and communication, as well as its displaying of itself as lyricism, while not forgetting its links with contexts related to work, ritual, and festive occasions. As a result of this approach, Flamenco is viewed as a manifestation which goes beyond the strictly artistic, while possessing the capacity to generate social identity, in the case of Andalucía, on the basis of ethnic factors, but not exclusively so.

In order to illustrate this plan of action, use will be made of a historically based analysis so as to be able to carry out a reconstruction of the major processes by means of which, up until the present day, Flamenco has emerged as a cultural manifestation in the southern part of Peninsular Spain.

The objective of the first part of the Course is to provide students who are not familiar with Flamenco music into contact with its key features, thus enabling them to appreciate Flamenco as a musical language and as a communicative model with its own specific characteristics. Thereafter, the same will be done with regard to Flamenco as dance.

In a second section, students will learn about the different phases that have gone into the making of the history of Flamenco, while they will also become familiar with the debates concerning its interaction with a range of different cultural traditions, some of which remain distanced in time and space. This process will allow for an acquaintance with the historical roots of the beginnings of Flamenco in Andalucía, together with awareness, although cursory, of the issues that enliven existing specialized bibliography with regard to how to locate Flamenco both historically and culturally.

Finally, in a third section, an exploration will be made of the characteristics of Flamenco as an expression of social interaction and as a communicative model, while its current validity in contemporary society within diverse social and festive contexts is scrutinized, together with the key characteristics of its lyrics as a manifestation of poetic art.

METHODOLOGY AND ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

The Course will take into account regular attendance at the theoretical-practical classroom sessions in which lecturers' explanations will be backed up with a range of audiovisual material which will make for practical learning. Likewise, texts, outlines and different kinds of illustrative material will be provided as a way of reinforcing the explanations concerned.

In general, the two-hour sessions will be divided into sub-units, each respectively dedicated to both theoretical content and to practical exercises so as to ensure an applied learning process in which students will be able participate actively as protagonists.

By way of a complementary, extramural activity, students will be expected to undertake two brief practical assignments involving the analysis of two public performances, or events, in which Flamenco is on show, either commercially, or socially.

As a result of this outline, criteria for assessment and grading will be as follows:

✓ Attendance and participation:

Account will be taken of regular attendance and active participation in the learning activities during each session. With this aim in mind, a class register will be kept. A maximum of five unwarranted absences during the semester will be permitted, while, during the first two weeks of class, it will be each student's responsibility to hand in a file card which will include his or her name, a photograph, details of the Program to which he or she belongs, as well as an e-mail address. During class sessions lecturers will encourage students to play a participative role in the activities and exercises that will be set up.

Weighting within final grade: 20%.

- ✓ The undertaking of a short assignment which, from a comparative standpoint, will involve the analysis of two public performances or events in which Flamenco is on display. As class sessions go forward, an explanation will be given of what is involved in the structure, content and requirements of the assignment, while written guidelines will also be provided. In this same sense, students are recommended to attend tutorial hours so that lecturers may oversee the development of each assignment. Assignments are to be handed in at the close of the semester.

Weighting within final grade: 40%

- ✓ The sitting of an exam in which each student is expected to be able to analyze an across-the-board subject from within the syllabus, while also confirming an ability to comment on visual material in which Flamenco is involved. Also, he or she will be expected to answer questions with reference to concepts and terms explained during class sessions. As the Course progresses, students will be provided with past-papers, together with models concerning how to answer subject-based and concept-based questions so that they become familiar with what is expected of them in this kind of exercise.

Weighting within final grade: 40%

SYLLABUS AND DISTRIBUTION OF THEORETICAL-PRACTICAL SESSIONS

1. Introduction: Flamenco as the expression of what is musical, of ritual, and of social interaction. Its relation to cultural identity within Andalucía and to the cultural traditions that go into that same identity's making.
2. Key characteristics of Flamenco as musical expression: components of the musical discourse concerned, rhythm, styles, or handles on style. Approaches to the learning and performance of Flamenco music: micro-composition, resources of expression, instrumentalization. Sounding Flamenco-like.
3. Expressive characteristics of Flamenco as dance: counterpointing as the structural basis of Flamenco dance, the structure of dance set-ups, the recent evolution of dance forms.
4. The origins of Flamenco as a junction of viewpoints. Historical/cultural context, from the Enlightenment to Romanticism. The issue of the term Flamenco.
5. Historical reconstruction of commercial Flamenco. Phases: the café-singer, Flamenco opera, Neoclassicism, Present-day Flamenco. Issues concerning the identity of Flamenco as Music: Flamenco and Andalusí culture, gipsy style, purists and 'cante-jondo flamencans', Flamenco and Heritage.
6. Flamenco and its social dimension: the practice of 'using' Flamenco. Everyday contexts for Flamenco: the family circle, neighborhoods, festive occasions.
7. Flamenco as literary expression. Key characteristics of its language and of the structure of the 'copla' ballads.

Course GA-09 MEDIEVAL SPAIN (FROM THE EIGHTH TO THE FIFTEENTH CENTURIES) AND THE HISTORICAL PROJECTION OF THREE CULTURES: CHRISTIANS, MOSLEMS AND JEWS (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Carmen Benítez Guerrero (cbenitez@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer : Dr. Manuel García Fernández (manuelgf@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This Course will explore the role played by Christians, Moslems, and Jews in the emergence and development of Medieval Spain. The time-span involved will extend from the Islamic Conquest of the Iberian Peninsula in 711 - and the subsequent establishment of the so-called Frontier - up to the Conquest of Granada by the Catholic Monarchs in 1492, when co-existence among the Three Cultures is brought to an end.

Thus, in the first syllabus block (A) an historical overview will be undertaken of the emergence and evolution of Medieval Spain, while paying specific attention to the different political entities that settled over time within the peninsula's geographical space between the beginning of the eighth century and the end of the fifteenth. In this case, a specific study will be made of the phenomenon of the so-called Frontier and the process involved in its territorial modification, while understanding it as one of the fundamental axes of Hispanic medieval history.

In the second block of the syllabus (B) a close analysis will be made of the characteristics of the coexistence among Muslims, Christians and Jews during this historical period. Specifically, what will be addressed is the range of issues that this coexistence among the three civilizations entailed within the Iberian Peninsula over the centuries, including those which affected socio-cultural relations, as well as the interaction of three mind-sets.

METHODOLOGY

The Course will evolve, from a theoretical perspective, by means of explanatory input on syllabus content provided by the lecturer - always backed up by a series of PowerPoint presentations which will act as study material for students to work from. The theoretical segments will be seen to interact with a practical component involving commentaries on sources, texts and historical maps, as well as on press articles and audiovisual input. In this sense, participatory class sessions will be aimed at, in which students will play a key role by contributing directly to discussions via their considerations concerning the content materials being dealt with.

Likewise, constant review / revision activities will be carried out so as to ensure a more effective assimilation of content, taking into account the challenges involved in studying a somewhat remote subject-matter in a foreign language. In this regard, interactive activities will be used (for example, through Kahoot) so as to enable content to be revised in a more dynamic way. Moreover, a general review during the class sessions prior to each exam will be carried out so that students can have queries clarified which may have cropped up during their sessions of personal study.

In addition, cultural visits within the city of Sevilla, guided and commented on by the lecturer, will be held to a range of different historical-artistic landmarks which are especially significant, given the Course's syllabus.

All the materials used throughout the Course (presentations, documentaries, texts, review activities, etc.) can be downloaded directly from the lecturer's website.

SYLLABUS

INTRODUCTION. The Hispanic Middle Ages. Concept and periodification.

A. ON THE EDGE OF ISLAM. THE EMERGENCE AND EVOLUTION OF MEDIEVAL SPAIN.

1. Antecedents of the Conquest: Visigothic Hispania. The Birth and Splendor of Al-Andalus: the Cultural and Political Dominion of the Omeya State (from the Eighth to the Eleventh Centuries).
2. The Nuclei of Hispano-Christian Resistance: the Political Weakness of the Northern Kingdoms and Dukedoms (from the Eighth to the Eleventh Centuries).
3. The Taifas Kingdoms and the Division of Al-Andalus. The Empires of North Africa: Almoravides and Almohades (from the Eleventh to the Thirteenth Centuries).
4. The Far-reaching Territorial Expansion of the Christian Kingdoms: The Reconquest and the 'Frontier' of Islam (from the Eleventh to the Thirteenth Centuries).
5. The hegemony of the Christian kingdoms and the last stronghold of peninsular Islam. The Nasrid Kingdom of Granada. The end of the Reconquest and the Decline of the Frontier (XIV-XV centuries). The Kingdom of Granada. The End of the Reconquest and of the 'Frontier' (from the Fourteenth to the Fifteenth Centuries).

B. CHARACTERISTICS OF THE COEXISTENCE OF THREE CULTURES IN MEDIEVAL SPAIN. FROM TOLERANCE TO EXPULSION.

6. Christians in Al-Andalus: the Mozarabic Population (from the Eighth to the Thirteenth Centuries).
7. Muslims under Christian rule: the Mudejar Population. (from the Eleventh to the Fifteenth Centuries).

9. The End of Tolerance. The Issue of Jewish and Moslem Converts. The Inquisition and the Expulsion of Jews (from the Fourteenth to the Fifteenth Centuries).
10. The difficulties involved in real coexistence among the different ethnic-religious minorities. Tolerance and marginalization. Living Together or Coexistence?

Complementary Activities

Complementary activities will be carried out during class hours and will function as back-up to the knowledge being acquired as the Course develops. The three scheduled activities concerned clearly form an integral part of the syllabus contents.

-  Activity 1. Visit to the nucleus of the Sevilla of the Almohads.
-  Activity 2. Visit to the Sevilla of Three Cultures: its Gothic-Mudejar dimension and the Muslim Quarter.
-  Activity 3. Visit to Sevilla's Jewish Quarter.

Assessment Criteria

Assessment and grading will be based on the undertaking of two exams, one a mid-semester exam and one at the close of the semester, in terms of the following structure:

- ✚ Theory: Students will be expected to deal with two theoretical questions (out of three options which will be proposed by the lecturer) based on the syllabus items worked through during class sessions.
- ✚ Concepts: The matching of ten concepts with their respective definitions will be called for.
- ✚ Commentary (optional): Students will have the option of improving their grade by one complete score point (i.e. ten tenths) by undertaking a commentary on a particular image or text which would have been dealt with during class sessions.

In addition, students will have the option of raising their final grade by a complete score point (i.e. ten tenths) by means of optional complementary assignments. Three assignment modalities are proposed:

- ✚ Modality 1. A short essay on one of the syllabus items
- ✚ Modality 2. Review-commentary of/on specific content material suggested by the lecturer (documentaries, texts, readings).
- ✚ Modalidad 3. Review-commentary of/on one of the titles included in the Course bibliography.

Course GA-11 SPANISH PAINTING FROM EL GRECO TO PICASSO (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Alberto Fernández González (alberfer@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Joaquín Álvarez Cruz (jmac@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

The aim of this Course is to allow students from abroad to become familiar with the art scene in Spain between circa 1550 and 1973, especially with regard to Painting. Divided into syllabus blocks, class sessions will explore areas of interest such as Renaissance Painting, Baroque Art, Painting and Neoclassicism, the Pictorial Art of the Romantic Period, of the remaining Nineteenth Century, and of the Twentieth.

Special attention will be paid to the insertion of Painting within the environment of other art forms (Architecture, Sculpture, and the Applied Arts), while also debating the cultural and social phenomena which contribute to the characterization of each of the periods concerned and which exert an influence upon the genesis and evolution of art forms.

METHODOLOGY

Class sessions will be carried out in such a way as to cater for students from abroad who may not be sufficiently familiar with the art forms of the Hispanic world. The inconveniences derived from language use will be kept in mind, therefore, as well as the kind of cultural background and training students would already have experienced. Practical classes will also be held at Sevilla's Museum of Fine Arts, so that the learning process in which students are involved can develop in direct contact with the paintings on display, while possible exhibitions related to Course content will also be visited.

SYLLABUS

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

In order to obtain a positive final grade in keeping with regulations, students will be expected to sit two exams. Likewise, they will be expected to undertake an assignment, an essay, or a critical review, in terms of a series of characteristics, as well as a length factor, which will be explained by the lecturer during class sessions. Assessment will be distributed as follows: active class participation (10% of the final grade), practical assignments (30% of the final grade), exams (60% of the final grade).

Course GA-15 POLITICAL TRANSITION AND DEMOCRACY IN SPAIN (1975-2000)

(45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Concha Langa Nuño (clanga@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Inmaculada Cordero (icordero@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

A quarter of a century has gone by since the process of democratization in Spain first got under way. A sufficient degree of perspective is now available so as to enable the development of an integrated module that has come to be known as The Present Day, which, strictly speaking, surfs the interdisciplinary frontiers among History, Law, and the Political Sciences, aiming to provide a well-grounded analysis of Spain's recent past.

There is no doubting the fact that the process of democratization in Spain has aroused a great deal of interest outside the country. Not only has it acted as a referent in the case of Latin American countries such as Guatemala and Chile, but has also come to be a subject of analysis and observation on the part of developed Western countries. In this sense, the inclusion of this module within the Courses for Students from Abroad constitutes a highly relevant move, especially as a result of its appeal to students from the United States.

The aims of this Course module are as listed here:

- a) To create an awareness of how Spain's political transition is the result of a process of reform.
- b) Internationally speaking, to assess Spain's progressive integration within the Western scenario.
- c) To contribute to an understanding of the unique features of Spain's political system and of its constitutional architecture.
- d) To help make discernible the specific model of Spain's territorial organization (a State made up of autonomous regions) by establishing comparisons with other countries.
- e) To contribute to the identification of the main characteristics of Spanish political culture.

SYLLABUS

1. The End of an Authoritarian Regime within the Processes of Transition affecting Southern Europe (1969-1975).
2. From Carlos Arias Navarro to Adolfo Suárez: Political Reform (November, 1975, to December, 1976).
3. From the Recovery of Fundamental Liberties to the Constitution (January, 1977, to December, 1978).
4. The Difficulties involved in the Consolidation of Democracy and the Crisis in UCD (January, 1979, to October, 1982).
5. The First Socialist Government: Toward Spain's International Integration (1982-1986).
6. The Spain of the Autonomous Regions.
7. Economic Growth and Crisis (1986-1996).
8. Spain's Political System.
9. The Conservative Alternative (1996-2004).
10. Weighing Up the Process and Future Challenges.

METHODOLOGY

Keeping in mind the duration of class sessions (two hours) and the need to deal with a range of levels of comprehension of the Spanish language, a dynamic methodology will be adopted, based on the following procedures:

- a) the explanation of subject content via Powerpoint presentations;

- b) the analysis of texts and documents distributed in Xeroxed copies;
- c) the inclusion of the screening of documentaries covering specific topics;
- d) the holding of debates and exchanges of viewpoint during certain sessions.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Keeping in mind the custom in universities in the United States of employing a single text, from our standpoint, the text offering the clearest picture of the subject in hand is:

POWELL, Charles: España en democracia, 1975-2000 (Barcelona: Plaza y Janés), 2001.

The book itself contains a bibliographical index which can help those students wishing to amplify information regarding specific subject areas, as well as providing help when carrying out assignments.

ASSESSMENT

These criteria are based as follows:

- a) on regular attendance and active participation in class sessions;
- b) the grading of an optional assignment;
- c) the grading of two written tests of an objective nature, one mid-way through the semester and the other at its close.

When grading exams, attention will be paid to the following features: clarity of expression when writing, a sufficiently knowledgeable awareness of syllabus content, a capacity for synthesis, a mature level of understanding.

Course GA-16 WOMAN IN ART: VISIONS FROM THE PERSPECTIVES OF DIFFERENCE AND EQUALITY (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Antonio J. Santos Márquez (anjo@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Magdalena Illán (magdaillan@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This Course is designed with two key objectives in mind: firstly, to contribute to the recovery from academic oblivion of the women artists who have produced creative output throughout history and who, due to a range of different conditioning factors of a social kind, have remained on the margins of the Art World; secondly, to raise awareness of, and encourage reflexion about, the situation of women within the present-day Art environment, as well as about the aims pursued by tendencies within feminist criticism, together with the endeavor, at the dawn of the twenty-first century, of the woman artist in the search for gender equality in society.

METHODOLOGY

Class sessions – the attendance at which is compulsory - will be interactively theoretical and practical, combining the theoretical exploration of syllabus content – supported by the on-screen projection of artistic works and documentaries- with critical debate on the part of students when dealing with those same on-screen images and the recommended texts.

ASSESSMENT AND GRADING CRITERIA

The Final Grade for the Course will take into account the following assessment and grading criteria:

- 1) As a mandatory element, students will be expected to carry out two EXAMINATIONS based on the subject content of the syllabus, consisting of the analysis of 5 works of art in each exam -- works which would have been previously explored and discussed in class. So as to facilitate the preparation of the tests, the explicative class presentations, based on the contents of the syllabus subject blocks, will be provided to students beforehand. The final grade will be based on the average of the scores obtained in the two examinations.
- 2) Optionally, students may wish to carry out A RESEARCH AND REFLEXION ASSIGNMENT on a particular aspect of the syllabus content, once approved by the class lecturer, and will be based on the following model: an essay on a specific syllabus-based item, or on a visit to an exhibition, and / or a critical commentary on one of the scientific journal-based articles recommended for reading. This assignment could raise the exam score obtained by as much as a maximum of 1.5 points.
- 3) Active participation in class sessions will be kept in mind as a positive factor which will thereby contribute to an increase in the final overall grading score.

Course GA-19 PHOTOGRAPHY: PHOTOGRAPHY: THEORY, HISTORY AND ART PHOTOGRAPHY
(45 class hours)
Lecturer: Pablo Martínez Cousinou (pmartinez1@us.es)

Co-Lecturer: Dr. Javier Navarro Luna (janalu@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

To provide students with an initial understanding of the complexity of the Spain of today within the framework of the European Union, while paying particular attention to key aspects related to the Economy, Society and the Environment.

SYLLABUS CONTENT

1. The Territorial Structure of the State and its Insertion within the European Union: Community-based, State, Autonomous Community-based, and Local Administrations.
2. Physical and Natural Features: Relief, Climate, Water-Table Infrastructure and Vegetation.
3. Human Interaction with the Environment and its Consequences: Environmental Policy and the Uses Made of It; Natural Environment-based Risks and Planning.
4. Population and its Patterning: Analysis of Population Trends and Migratory Movements. Urban Networking and Infrastructure.
5. Agriculture, the Environment, and Sustainable Growth: Spain's Rural Landscapes.
6. Economic Activity and the Global Crisis: Sector-based Analysis (Industry, the Financial Sector, Business, and Tourism.)

METHODOLOGY

The objectives will be approached through theoretical-practical class sessions in which use will be made of visual and audiovisual back-up resources such as image, slide and video viewings so as to illustrate the geographical reality of the Spain of today. Likewise, use will be made of graphs, maps, news items, together with other kinds of texts linked with the syllabus contents being dealt with. Student-Lecturer interaction will be encouraged so as to generate debate with regard to the key aspects of the syllabus, as well as to any issues that may arise.

COMPLEMENTARY ACTIVITIES

As the Course develops, scientific video material linked with syllabus content will be screened.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

The level of knowledge reached, and, above all, the extent of the understanding of the key contents of the Course acquired, will be assessed and graded, together with students' critical capacity when approaching present-day issues concerning Spain. Assessment will be carried out by the undertaking of:

- Written tests, upon completion of each of the syllabus-content sections, together with an end-of-Course exam which will involve the definition of basic concepts, together with the analysis of a text linked with the syllabus-contents dealt with during class sessions.
- A group or individual assignment related to any topic on the syllabus and which may be handed in for grading or presented during a class session.

EVALUATION CRITERIA

The course evaluation will be determined by the following parameters:

1. EXAMS. There will be two exams, a midterm and a final. The final grade will be out of a possible 10 points. To pass the midterm, then student must obtain at least a 4.5. Those who pass the first exam will not be tested on this material again. Those who don't pass the midterm will have a cumulative final exam over all topics covered throughout the semester. To pass the final exam, that will take place on the last day of class, the student must score a minimum of 5 points (always out of 10).
2. Attendance and participation in class
3. Volunteer work: The students can do volunteer work for extra credit on a topic of gastronomy coordinated by Professor.

Course GA-22 WINE IN SPAIN: HISTORY, CULTURE, AND ITS ECONOMICS (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. Javier Navarro Luna (janalu@us.es)
Co-Lecturer: Dr. José Carlos Saquete Chamizo (csaquete@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

The aim of this Course is to enable students to become knowledgeable about Wine, one of Spain's most culturally important and economically relevant elements, by means of the study of its history, the range of types it has and their modes of production, the key wine-producing regions, its impact on the Spanish economy in regional and national terms, and the recent evolution in tourist-based activities that have developed around it.

METHODOLOGY

The syllabus will be carried through in two-hour theoretical class sessions with audiovisual input as back-up. A wine-tasting event will be scheduled so that students may become acquainted with Spain's principal wines.

SYLLABUS

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

- Two written exams will be held (one, a thus-far exam, mid-way through the Course, and the other at its close, as a final), the results of which will make up 70% of each student's Final Grade. The exam dates will be posted by the Agreement-Based Courses' Administration.

- An individual assignment will be carried out, to be presented live in class, and which will constitute 20% of the Final Grade.

- Active participation in class will be valued, constituting 10% of the Final Grade.

Course GA-25 GODS, HEROES AND MYTHS OF THE GRECO-ROMAN WORLD

Lecturer: Dr. Fernando Lozano Gómez

Back-up Lecturer: Dr. Alfonso Álvarez-Ossorio Rivas

SYLLABUS AND OBJECTIVES:

The objective of this Course is to elucidate the religion and mythology of the Greco-Roman world, considered to be one of the fundamental pillars of Western civilization. Attention will be paid to both history and mythology within the Greco-Roman world. The key myths involving gods and heroes will be explored, as well as the traditional religious rites of the ancient Mediterranean - sacrifices, processions, banquets and so-called competitions as games. Likewise, the history of the emergence of primitive christianity will be dealt with, which can only be adequately understood in relation to the pagan context within which it developed. A further objective of this Course is to demonstrate the way in which the myths, gods and heroes of the Greco-Roman world have influenced Western art and literature throughout history, including contemporary popular culture. Finally, the mythological stories that have provided the basis for the creation of Spain's identity, especially the paradigmatic case of Hercules, will be addressed in detail.

To ensure greater clarity with regard to what is to be presented, Course contents have been divided into the following syllabus items:

- 1.- Greco-Roman history and civilization.
- 2.- Introduction to Greco-Roman pagan religion: mythology and key rituals.
- 3.- The great deities of the traditional Greco-Roman pantheon: Zeus, Apollo, Dionysus, Athena, Hera, Aphrodite
- 4.- Isis, Cybele and Mithras: Eastern divinities within Greco-Roman religion.
- 5.- Somewhere between gods and men: the outstanding heroes of the Greco-Roman world.
- 6.- The journeying hero: Hercules and the founding of Spain.
- 7.- From the Colosseum to the Vatican: the emergence of early Christianity.
- 8.- Gods and heroes in contemporary culture: the impact of Greco-Roman mythology on art and literature.

Classes will be combined with extramural guided tours that will enrich the Course contents. At least three visits are proposed:

- 1.- Visit to the Cathedral, the Jewish Quarter, Mármoles Street and the area around the Alfalfa Square.
- 2.- Visit to the Moorish Quarter, the Church of Santa Catalina and the area around the Encarnación Square.
- 3.- Gods and heroes of Roman Sevilla. Visit to Sevilla's Archaeological Museum.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA:

Final assessment and grading will be based on the undertaking of two essays, - one during each exam period (a mid-semester and an-end-of-semester activity, therefore) - on a syllabus item in each case, as worked through in class. What is aimed at via this form of evaluation is that students put forward their own reasoned opinions on the points of knowledge dealt with in class sessions, while adapting this same teaching material to their own interests, as well as to their home-university study trajectories.

Course GA-26 SEVILLA'S HISTORICAL-ARTISTIC HERITAGE

Lecturer: Dr. Andrés Luque Teruel (luquete@us.es)

OBJETIVES

This Course is based on two fundamental objectives: firstly, in theoretical sessions, to provide students with an introduction to Sevilla's key monuments and customs, thus enabling them to become familiar with their historical and artistic reality; secondly, to ensure that those same participants in the Course get to know these monuments directly, even propitiating thereby their experiencing of them.

METHODOLOGY

Classes - attendance to which is compulsory - will be interactively theoretical and practical, combining theoretical explanations of syllabus content - using as back-up screenings based on creative productions and documentaries - with reflexion and debate involving students' reactions to the visual content being projected, as well as to the texts recommended for reading. Likewise, each class session will be linked to a visit to the monument being dealt with at the time.

SYLLABUS

- Roman Sevilla.
- The Royal Palace Fortress (Reales Alcázares).
- Sevilla's Cathedral.
- The Outer Walls in the Macarena Quarter.
- The Santa Cruz neighborhood.
- The Church of the Savior (El Salvador).
- The Bullring.
- The Square known as La Plaza de España
- María Luisa Park.
- The Convent of Saint Paula.
- The Alameda and its surroundings.
- Triana and Saint Ann's Church (Santa Ana).

Course FB-01 CONTRASTIVE GRAMMAR: SPANISH-ENGLISH (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Juan Pablo Mora Gutierrez (jmora@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. José Agustín Vidal Domínguez (jvidal@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

In this course we will carry out a systematic comparison between English and Spanish. The emphasis will be on practical exercises that will help the student overcome the difficulties that Spanish presents for English speakers. The instructor recommends that only students with at least three semesters of Spanish at their home University take this class.

CONTENT:

The order of presentation of the topics may change. First, we will deal briefly with issues having to do with the differences in pronunciation and vocabulary between the two languages, but as soon as possible we will start to cover extensively the Spanish verb and tenses, ser, estar and verbal periphrases. If we still have time we will deal with the noun phrase, the use of se and pronominal clitics, and discourse markers.

ASSESSMENT

- Assignments, Attendance and Class Participation: (10% of the grade). Every week the students will have to work on exercises that will be assigned by the instructor.
- Long term projects: (15 % of the grade). The students will have to collect relevant data on both English and Spanish that they will present to the instructor.
- Research paper: (Optional) (20 % of the grade) A report on original research carried out by the student on any topic that contrasts English and Spanish. The students will present a research proposal no later than the third week of October. The papers will be due the last week of November.
- Presentation: (Optional) (10 % of the grade) An oral presentation in class of the research paper.
- Exams: (from 45% to 75% of the grade). There will be two exams. Important Note: The exams will be worth from 45% to 75% of the final grade. The rest has to be obtained with the assignments (obligatory), the long term project (obligatory), the research paper (optional), and the presentations (optional).

All the work may be carried out in groups, but each student has to write their own written version. Since one of the goals of this class is to teach students to think for yourselves about language, homework and papers that reveal original thought will be valued more highly than work that summarizes material from other sources.

Course FB-03 CORRECTIVE PHONETICS AND CONVERSATION (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Yolanda Congosto Martín (ycongosto@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Auxiliadora Castillo Carballo (acastillo@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This Course, both theoretically and practically based, is designed to help students improve on, and take better advantage of, their communication skills (comprehension and production) during oral performance in Spanish. Attention will be paid to the most frequent kinds of problems in phonetics they may encounter, especially within the context of their own performance of the language in sessions which will include dialogues, informal talks, lectures, as well as video performance, etc.

SYLLABUS

I. CORRECTIVE PHONETICS

1. Articulation: The Parts of the Vocal Tract; Places and Manners of Articulation.

Practical Activities:

- 1) Describing the parts that make up the vocal tract. Labelling a diagram of the parts of the vocal tract.
- 2) Describing and reproducing sounds according to a range of places and manners of articulation in English and Spanish.

2. The Sounds of the Spanish Language: Phonemes, Sounds, and Written Forms (Orthographic Rules).

Practical Activities:

- 1) Role-play. Imitating in English the accents of Spanish-Speakers.
- 2) Describing the articulation of the sounds of the Spanish language. Exploring the set-up of the phonemes of Spanish and English to ensure familiarity with the phonetic symbols involved.
- 3) Dictionary searches for words with differing pronunciation in English and Spanish.
- 4) Individual and group practice of the sounds in Spanish which cause most difficulties for English-speakers.
- 5) As undertaken by students and lecturers, the listening to recordings or live renderings of words with the same origin and yet with differing pronunciation in Spanish and English.
- 6) Listening to recordings of single sounds and words. Identification by students of the sounds used.
- 7) Listening to songs. The filling in of gaps in the lyrics followed by complete renderings.
- 8) Readings out loud.
- 9) Listening comprehension exercises.

3. Suprasegmental Elements: Accent, Pitch, Rhythm, Intonation. The Syllable.

Practical Activities:

- 1) As set up by lecturers, listening to recordings or live renderings of words, phrases, sentences, and more extensive utterances, so as to enable students to perceive differences in the distribution of pitch, rhythm, and intonation in Spanish and English.
- 2) The rules of accentuation.
- 3) The structure of syllables in Spanish.
- 4) The performance of songs.
- 5) Poetry recitals.

4. Varieties of Spanish: Description of the Main Phonetic Features of the Kinds of Peninsular and Hispanic-American Spanish with a High Degree of Circulation.

Practical Activities:

- 1) Viewing films in which the different varieties of Peninsular and Hispanic-American Spanish may be appreciated. Students will be expected to single out their key phonetic and suprasegmental characteristics.

- 2) Visits to regional cultural centers in Sevilla. During the visits students will be asked to record interviews with speakers of the range of dialects that circulate within Peninsular Spain.
- 3) Role play: each group will reproduce a specific variety of Spanish.

II. CONVERSATION

5. Oral Discourse and Written Discourse: Characteristics of Oral Discourse in Comparison with Written Discourse.

Practical Activities:

- 1) Working in groups. Comparisons between written and oral texts.
- 2) Working in groups. Constructing a written text (a letter) and an oral text (a short dialogue which, afterwards, will be performed).

6. Types of Oral Texts within Different Communicative Situations: Job Interviews, Class Assignment Presentations, Debates, Talks, Meetings, Coteries, Telephone Conversations, Colloquial Exchanges, etc.

Practical Activities:

- 1) Viewing videos which are representative of these different communicative situations. The analysis and pooling of ideas regarding the specific features of each of them.
- 2) Working in groups describing the different kinds of oral text.
- 3) Working in groups constructing the different kinds of oral texts.
- 4) Debating issues of current affairs.

7. Linguistic Registers: Formal and Informal.

Practical Activities:

- 1) Visits to different places within Sevilla during which students may recognize in situ these different kinds of linguistic registers (Sevilla's Ateneo, Regional Cultural Centers, Public Marketplaces, Bars, Shops and Malls).
- 2) Describing the different kinds of formal and informal oral texts.
- 3) Constructing in groups different kinds of formal and informal oral texts.

ASSESSMENT

Given the Course's practical character, assessment will be dynamic and on-going. In this sense, the following factors will be taken into account:

- Regular Attendance.
- Level of Participation in the Different Practical Activities.
- Grading of Oral Assignments.
- Final-Exam Grade.

END-OF-COURSE EXAM

This final exam will consist of:

- A written test: questions on Corrective Phonetics.

An oral test: a commentary on a text and the participation in a conversation about a subject of current interest.

Course FB-04 WRITING IN SPANISH (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. Ana Mancera Rueda (anamancera@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Dr. Juan Frau García (jfrau@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This Course is designed to help students improve on, and take better advantage of, their communication skills with regard to the writing of Spanish, focusing on orthographic correctness, on the grammatical and lexical-semantic aspects involved in the writing process, as well as on the techniques involved in different categories and genres of text composition.

METHODOLOGY

A methodological approach of a highly practical kind will be employed, based on composition work, as well as on on-going exercises

SYLLABUS

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

Given the character of this Course, assessment will be dynamic and on-going. In this sense, the following factors will be kept in mind:

- Regular Attendance to class sessions.
- Grades obtained in compositions undertaken and in other kinds of written exercises.
- The mid-semester exam and final-exam grades.
- The exam to be held at the end of the Course will consist of a written composition, together with a second kind of written exercise which will be set at that moment (e.g. dictation, the completion of sentences in terms of the kind of exercises undertaken during the semester, etc.).

Course FB-07 SPANISH LITERATURE'S MYTHIC FIGURES (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. M^a del Rosario Martínez Navarro (rosariomtnez@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Esther Márquez Martínez (emarquez3@us.es)

OBJETIVES

This Course is intended to enable students to take their first steps in becoming knowledgeable about the study of Spanish literature. A hybrid theoretical-practical approach will be adopted via the exploration of key works which gave rise to the creation in writing of a range of mythic figures within Spanish culture, figures which have become universally known. Moreover, a further aim is to promote the city of Seville's own myths.

METHODOLOGY

Classes will be of a combined theoretical and practical nature, albeit with key emphasis being placed on the interaction with texts on the part of students. During class sessions, the practical study of lecturer-selected fragments of each of the works to be read will be carried out, while discussion will be on-going and also analytic commentaries will be undertaken, together with practical exercises, real-time debates, and segments involving the pooling of ideas. In addition, use will be made of audiovisual resources related to the works being studied during the Course.

SYLLABUS

1. A Generic Introduction to the Concept of Literary Myth.
2. The Matchmaker Witch: Celestina.
3. The Rogue: Lazarillo de Tormes.
4. The Errant Knight: Don Quijote (Don Quijote de la Mancha).
5. The Seducer: Don Juan Tenorio.
6. The femme fatale: Carmen, the Cigarette Girl.

Set Texts to Be Read in Class

Fernando de Rojas, La Celestina.
Anónimo, Lazarillo de Tormes.
Miguel de Cervantes, Don Quijote de la Mancha.
José Zorrilla, Don Juan Tenorio.
Prosper Mérimée, Carmen (translation in Spanish).

Complementary activities

On a regular basis, the following will be carried out: commentaries on texts in group discussion, assignments, debates, as well as the screening of movies and documentary material related to the authors and the works concerned, plus literature-related walkabouts within the city of Seville and visits to exhibitions, together with attendance at theatrical performances involving the themes and myths being studied during the Course.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

In order to grade students, two written examinations will be set, one mid-way through the Course and the other at its close. The format of the exam will be agreed upon in consultation with the students at the beginning of the Course. Each exam will constitute 30% of the overall grade (60% for both). A further 20% of the final grade will depend on each student's regular attendance in class sessions, together with his or her on-going, active participation in the range of activities to be carried out during those same sessions. The remaining 20% will be derived from an individual assignment to be undertaken, the nature and length of which will be indicated by the class lecturer in due time. The assignment will consist of options such as writing a short essay or critical review regarding an aspect of syllabus-related content to be dealt with during the Course (an aspect of the literature of a specific period under study, or an author-related subject, or one related to a specific literary work ...), or the undertaking of a commentary on a fragment of one of the works being studied which had not been discussed in class as such. Whether it is the essay, the review piece, or the commentary that is chosen, the student concerned will be expected to present his or her findings orally in class. Positive grading, in this case, will be based on the degree of scholarly maturity projected by the student concerned, together with the degree of his or her skill in linking the contents of the presentation with aspects of the syllabus-content studied during class sessions, or with other myths, or with his/her own overall vision of the subject matter.

- Mid-Semester Exam: 30%
- End-of-Semester Exam: 30%
- Active Participation in Class Sessions: 20%
- Assignment, Essay, or Critical Review Piece, and its Presentation in Class: 20%

Course FB-10 CONTEMPORARY SPANISH CINEMA (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. José M^a Claver Esteban (josemariaclaver@ono.com)
Co-Lecturer: Dr. Luis Navarrete Cardero (lnavarrete@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

Keeping visiting students in mind, this Course spans a wide range of cultural perspectives, thus taking it beyond the limits of the cinematic and the historical strictly speaking. Movies are perceived as audiovisual works, approachable as texts, as the artistic expression of an author and, at the same time, determined by circumstances involving their social, historical, linguistic, and literary contextualization.

METHODOLOGY

Given the amount of accumulated pedagogical experience that exists with regard to this kind of subject matter, as well as keeping in mind the specific needs of students, the aim of the class sessions is to ensure the fruitful interaction of the theoretical and practical dimensions of the study process, while also potentializing the exploration of those aspects of the Spanish language to which, in terms of comprehension and expression, the filmography being studied draws attention.

PRACTICAL SYLLABUS

1. An anthology of significant sequences from key movies and from the work of prominent directors.
2. Full-length Movies. The commentary and critical appreciation of the thematic and stylistic features of the following titles: Sevillanas, by Saura, El otro lado de la cama, by Martínez Lázaro, Belle époque, by Trueba, La lengua de las mariposas, by Cuerda, La niña de tus ojos, by Trueba, Los años bárbaros, by Colomo, ¡Bienvenido Mister Marshall!, by García Berlanga, Los desafíos, by Erice, Guerin and Egea, Los nuevos españoles, by Bodegas, Ana y los lobos, by Saura, Tristana, by Buñuel, Carmen, by Saura, Mujeres al borde de un ataque de nervios, by Almodóvar, and Tesis, by Amenábar.

THEORETICAL SYLLABUS

5. Spain: Social and Political Contexts (from the Republic to the Civil War). Their Impingement upon Movie-making. Postwar Cinema. Raza, General Franco's Vision. The "No-Do" Newsreels and their Ideological Basis. Censorship.
6. Franco-ite Policy and Spanish Cinema. A Muzzled Movie Industry. Literary Genres as Models for Movies. From a Thwarted Neo-realism to Social Realism. The Cinema of Bardem and Berlanga.
7. The "New Spanish Cinema". New Directors and Producers. Critical Trends in Postwar Cinema. Auteur Movies: Buñuel and Saura. Popular Genres. The Influence of Spanish Literature on National Cinema.
8. Spanish Cinema and the Era of Democracy. A Congress in which to Debate Spanish Cinema. The Socialist Party's Policy for Spain's Movie Industry. Themes and Styles in Present-day Spanish Movies. The Case of Almodóvar. Spain's Movie-Industry and the European Union.

ASSESSMENT

The final grade for this course will be based on the scores from two exams:

FIRST MID-SEMESTER EXAM

Subject-matter: Two syllabus-unit subjects, from amongst those covered thus far, will be included, while students will be expected to deal with one out of the two.

Length: One side of an A4 sheet.

This exam, corrected and graded, will act as proof of commitment vis-à-vis home institutions.

END-OF-COURSE EXAM

Subject-matter: Two syllabus-unit subjects, from amongst those covered throughout the Course, will be included, while students will be expected to deal with one out of the two.

Length: One side of an A4 sheet.

This exam, corrected and graded, will be kept by lecturers as written proof of students' commitment. A fail grade will be given to any student who does not sit either of the exams. The final grade is based on the average grade obtained from both exams. Exam-session dates cannot be put forward or back unless exceptional circumstances prevail and which would require justification in writing from Program Directors or Tutors.

The following factors will be taken into account when assigning grades:

- The adequate assimilation of fundamental syllabus content.
- A working knowledge of the orthographic rules, the correct forms of expression, and the vocabulary content of the Spanish language.
- A capacity to set areas of subject-matter in relation to others.
 - The understanding of, and the explicative capacity to analyze, any of the key aspects of a cinematographic text which may require comment.

Course FB-12 SPANISH GRAMMAR (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dra. Juana Santana Marrero (jsantana@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Marta León-Castro (mleoncastro@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

The aim of this Course is to improve, and develop further, students' communication skills, paying attention to key issues affecting the Grammar of Spanish.

In terms of an Advanced-Level Course, students would need to keep abreast of grammatical circumstances concerning variants within the language, as well as issues related to the interaction of norms and usage.

Likewise, students will be expected to acquire a certain degree of knowledge of the theoretical dimension of Grammar so as to ensure further understanding of the constructions to be employed within practical communication.

METHODOLOGY

Classroom methodology will be based on the acquisition of an increased awareness of the grammatical rules of Spanish and on their practical application within a series of specific activities.

As a complementary aspect of their grounding, with guidance from lecturers, students will carry out the following kind of high-profile, keynote activities: for example, a critical review of selected bibliographical titles; research into, and analysis of, grammatical constructions which appear in present-day texts in Spanish.

SYLLABUS

1. The Grammatical Sentence.
 - Parts of the Sentence.
 - Simple Sentences and Complex Sentences: their Structure.
2. The Noun Phrase.
 - The Substantive. Number and Gender. Concordance.
 - Determiners and their Use.
3. Personal Pronouns.
 - Clitics.
 - Values and Uses of the Form se.
4. The Verb Phrase.
 - Expressing the Past.
 - The Future and the Conditional.
 - The Indicative and the Subjunctive.

Their Use in Simple Sentences.
Their Use in Complex Sentences. Their Interaction with Conjunctions.
The Verbs ser and estar.
Periphrastic Verb Forms.
5. Prepositions.
 - Por / para*.
 - Other Prepositions.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

On-going assignments will be graded, while regular attendance and active participation in class sessions will also be taken into account. Moreover, two exams will be set, one mid-way through the semester, and the other at its close.

Final Grades will be based on the following criteria:

Regular attendance and active participation in class sessions: 10%

Specific assignment undertaken: 20%

Mid-Semester Exam: 20%

End-of-Semester Exam: 50

Course FB-13 ACQUISITION OF SPANISH PHONETICS AND PHONOLOGY (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. Auxiliadora Castillo Carballo (auxicastillo@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Yolanda Congosto Martín (ycongosto@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

The aim of this Course is to provide an in-depth exploration of how, at the level of expression, the Spanish language is structured, while foregrounding the phonemes and sounds of Spanish through a context-based method, thereby contributing to the improvement of students' speaking skills.

METHODOLOGY

Without minimizing the importance of theoretical subject-matter, emphasis will be placed on practice, to such an extent that involvement in a wide range of exercises will progressively give rise to the capacity to use the phonemes and sounds of Spanish skilfully.

SYLLABUS

Course FB-16 EL QUIJOTE (DON QUIXOTE) WITHIN HISPANIC CULTURE (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Sabina Reyes de las Casas (sreyes2@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Manuel A. Broullón Lozano (mbroullon@us.es)

I- PRESENTATION OF THE COURSE

The main objective of this Course is to provide an approach to Miguel de Cervantes' greatest work, the cornerstone of Spanish Literature, and the first modern novel: Don Quixote (Don Quijote de La Mancha), 1605-1615; as well as to some of his many presences as projected upon Hispanic and Universal Culture: in music (music of the Golden Age, the comic-heroic opera by Jules Massenet, the Symphonic Poem, op.35, by Richard Strauss, Master Pedro's Ornamental Screen, by Manuel de Falla, the musical Generation of '27, etc.), in dance (the ballet by Léon Minkus), in cinema (Orson Welles, Jess Franco, Terry Gilliam, Grigori Kozintsev, etc.), in painting (Doré, Picasso, Metz, etc.), in photography (Cristina García Roderó, José Manuel Navia), in folklore, fashion, and social manners ... During the Course, the most relevant approaches will be selected, according to students' interests.

II- OBJECTIVES

Class sessions are designed with not only those students who already have a working knowledge of Spanish Culture and Literature in mind, but also those students who wish to come into contact with them.

Using this central axis as a point of departure, the Course's specific objectives will be deployed, so that from a range of perspectives – the book's history, textual analysis, comparative analysis in terms of music, dance, cinema, painting, photography etc.-, students will be able to delve more deeply into specific aspects of Cervantes' artistic output, while coming to appreciate its present-day relevance with regard to both Hispanic and Universal Culture.

Finally, the students will be invited to become acquainted with the literary Sevilla, the point of departure being a Cervantine guided tour involving selected readings from a number of his works -Don Quixote, the Exemplary Novels, Eight Comedies and Between-Acts Pieces ...-, which will enable us to look at the city through the eyes of the "Prince of Creative Talents".

III- METHODOLOGY

The Course will involve the configuration of a theoretical-practical methodology, inductive in character, using as a starting point the presentation of texts - literary, musical, cinematographic, etc.-, about which discussions will be held, with the aim of foregrounding issues which are related to their study, both with regard to text-based meanings, as well as in relation to other cultural elements. Although the intensive and gratifying reading of Don Quixote is strongly recommended, while, at the same time, taking into account the diversity of levels in linguistic competence involved, the teacher will prepare and make available to students a series of extracts selected and adapted for use in each session. Likewise, using those same extracts, students will undertake reviews, assignments, and presentations which will be taken into account with regard to final assessments and grading.

IV- SYLLABUS

1. Historical and literary context of the Golden Age.
2. Introduction to Miguel de Cervantes: life and works.
3. Study and readings of Don Quixote.
4. Don Quixote in Hispanic and Universal Culture.

IV- VISITS AND BACK-UP ACTIVITIES

- A theater-yard in Triana.
- A Cervantes-related walk-about through the streets of Sevilla: commented readings as progress is made through the spaces involved in Cervantes' works.

VI- Readings, screenings, and listening sessions (recommended editions; teachers will provide guidance in the selection of several of these, depending on students' specific interests)

VII- ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

Assessment will be on-going, based on day-to-day activity during class sessions, on the factor of regular attendance throughout the Course, as well as on commented readings or debates involving proposed texts for discussion.

Students will undertake two exams on the subject-matter dealt with during the Course: one mid-way through the semester and the other at its close.

Assignments will involve writing an essay or critical review on any of the elements (essay) or works (review) included in the syllabus, in terms of each student's free choice, in agreement with the teacher, and to whom the proposal concerned will have been communicated. These assignments will be presented in class in the form of short reports so that they can be discussed with classmates. Each assignment and presentation will be valued positively in terms of the degree of its originality, of the approach adopted, of the degree of maturity projected, together with each student's skill at synthesis with regard to the syllabus subject-matter as dealt with in class sessions.

-First Exam (mid-way through the semester): 30%

-Final Exam (at the close of the semester): 30%

-Regular Attendance in Class Sessions and Active Participation in Classroom Debates: 20%

-Assignments Carried Out: 20%

Course FB-17 THE CITY CONSTRUCTED IN LITERATURE: THE CASE OF SEVILLA (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. María José Osuna Cabezas (majosuna@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Sara González A. (sara.gonzalez.angel@gmail.com)

OBJECTIVES

The main objective of this Course is the study of key authors and works within Spanish Literature which use the city of Sevilla as their referent. In this way, light can be shed upon how such authors viewed the city itself, its people, its customs, its scenarios, etc.

METHODOLOGY

Class sessions will have both a theoretical and a practical basis: the exploration of each syllabus unit will be opened up more fully in class debates concerning the set reading texts.

SYLLABUS

1. Introduction: the Importance of the City in Spanish and Other Literatures.
2. The Sevilla of the Middle Ages: Don Pedro I. Popular Poetry: the Ballad Tradition.
3. The Sevilla of the Golden Age: Miguel de Cervantes and Mateo Alemán.
4. The Sevilla of the Enlightenment: José María Blanco White.
5. The Sevilla of Romanticism: Gustavo Adolfo Bécquer.
6. The Sevilla of the "Generation of 1927": Luis Cernuda.
7. Sevilla in the Literature of Recent Decades.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

BÉCQUER, Gustavo Adolfo. Leyendas, ed. de Pascual Izquierdo. Madrid: Cátedra (varias eds.).
CERNUDA, Luis. Ocnos, ed. de D. Musacchio. Barcelona: Seix-Barral (varias eds.).
CERVANTES, Miguel de, Novelas ejemplares, ed. de Juan Bautista Avalle-Arce, Madrid, Castalia (varias eds.).

SEVILLA en la mirada del recuerdo (Textos de José María Blanco White), ed. de Antonio Garnica SILVA y DÍAZ GARCÍA, J. Sevilla: Ayuntamiento de Sevilla (varias eds.).

Both general and specific bibliography will be provided during the opening session.

COMPLEMENTARY ACTIVITIES

Guided tour of Sevilla's Alcázar Palace.

Audiovisual sessions: documents, photographic material, etc., tracing the City of Sevilla throughout its history.

Guided visits to different places within the City related to the authors and works studied during class sessions.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

- Mid-semester Exam: 30%
- End-of-semester Exam: 30%
- Active participation in class sessions 30%
- An assignment, an essay, or a critical write-up undertaken: 10%

Course FB-20 THE IMAGE OF SPAIN IN CINEMA AND OF THE DIGITAL FICTION (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. Luis Navarrete Cardero (lnavarrete@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Juan José Vargas Iglesias (jjvargas@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This Course provides students with a route-map through those Spanish movies, as well as those from other countries, which deal with the image of Spain from different perspectives. There have been times when that same image has become distorted for reasons which are not, strictly speaking, cinematographic in character. Bringing to the fore the key aspects of that distortion, while analyzing a range of discourse types in film, can help to bring into focus the role of Cinema as a generator of cultural stereotypes. Keeping visiting students in mind, this Course spans a wide range of cultural perspectives, thus taking it beyond the confines of the cinematic and the historical sensu stricto.

METHODOLOGY

Given the amount of accumulated pedagogical experience that exists with regard to this kind of subject matter, as well as taking into account the specific needs of students, the aim of the class sessions is to ensure the fruitful interaction of the theoretical and practical dimensions of the study process, while also potentializing the exploration of those aspects of the Spanish language to which, in terms of comprehension and expression, the filmography being studied draws attention.

5. THE REALISM SHY IN SPANISH CINEMA.
6. SERIOUS GAMES. THE REPRESENTATION OF SPAIN IN THE VIDEO GAME.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

The final grade will be based on the scores obtained from two exams:

FIRST MID-SEMESTER EXAM

Subject-matter: Two syllabus-unit subjects, from amongst those covered thus far, will be included, while students will be expected to deal with one out of the two.

Length: One side of an A4 sheet.

This exam, corrected and graded, will act as proof of commitment vis-à-vis home institutions.

END-OF-COURSE EXAM

Subject-matter: Two syllabus-unit subjects, from amongst those covered throughout the Course, will be included, while students will be expected to deal with one out of the two.

Length: One side of an A4 sheet.

This exam, corrected and graded, will be kept by lecturers as written proof of students' commitment. Students' Final-Grade Scores will be the result of the following distribution of percentages: 50% in terms of the Mid-Semester Exam and 50% in terms of the End-of-Semester Exam.

Students who are linked to The Image of Spain on the Cinema Screen Course at Advanced Level will be expected to write two critical reviews of two movies that will be selected by the Lecturer. These critical commentaries will not alter the assessment percentages while, nevertheless, being a compulsory requirement prior to the final assessment process.

A FAIL GRADE WILL BE GIVEN TO ANY STUDENT WHO DOES NOT SIT BOTH EXAMS.

The final grade is based on the average score obtained from both exams. Exam-session dates cannot be put forward or back unless exceptional circumstances prevail and which would require justification in writing from Program Directors or Tutors.

THE FOLLOWING FACTORS WILL BE TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT POSITIVELY WHEN ASSIGNING GRADES:

- ✓ The adequate assimilation of fundamental syllabus content.
- ✓ A working knowledge of the orthographic rules, the correct forms of expression, and the vocabulary content of the Spanish language.
- ✓ A capacity to set areas of subject-matter in relation to others.
- ✓ The understanding of, and the explicative capacity to analyze, any of the key aspects of a cinematographic text which may require comment.

Course FB-23PSYCHOLOGY OF PERSUASION IN THE MASS MEDIA: FROM ADVERTISING TO PROPAGANDA (45 class hours)

Lecturer:

Dr. Adrián Huici Módenes (ahuici@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer:

Dr. Noemí Piñeiro D. (npineiro8@yahoo.es)OBJECTIVES:

We human beings are essentially social beings that communicate with the people around us. Communication, therefore, constitutes the basic element without which society itself would not exist. In specific terms: the community arises as a result of the human capacity to communicate, while, at the same time, communication is a phenomenon that can only arise from within the framework of what is social.

The study of the interaction of human beings with each other and with the mass media (radio, cinema, TV, the press ...), together with the analysis of the technologies and strategies employed by these media, have become fundamental instruments by means of which our present-day reality, as well as the way in which we imagine the future, may be understood. Moreover, among the discourses that proliferate in the media, this Course understands that knowledge concerning the phenomenon of persuasive communication is of key interest, while, specifically, the kind that forms the basis of commercial advertising and propaganda.

It is precisely Social Psychology that may be considered an ideal tool to enable us to become aware of the mechanisms through which the media influence our behaviour so as to attain acceptability and, thereby, the consumption of the product concerned; or of how they are capable of generating adhesion to, or the rejection of, a specific ideology.

The fundamental aim of the Course is to address the issue of persuasion and manipulation as strategies by which the media can "enter into" our minds and direct our behavior. Moreover, what will also be undertaken is a brief diachronic review of the historical forms assumed by persuasive discourse types and, fundamentally, by advertising and propaganda.

METHODOLOGY

In addition to theoretical classes, their practical counterpart will always be sought, and in every possible form: class-based assignments, viewing and commenting on video and movie material, the reading of ad hoc texts linked with sessions of commentary and debate, as well as reviews of a further range of texts and items that will be brought into use.

Practical Activities:

The back-up material for practical sessions will include (keeping in mind the possible variants that, due to necessity, may arise as the Course evolves):

1. Videos and TV series: Flight of the Phoenix (R. Aldrich), The Wave (Dennis Gansel), Good (Vicente Amorim), episodes from the series entitled Black Mirror.

2. Reading of, and commentary on, books and / or articles: The Lucifer Effect (Ph. Zimbardo), The Bubble Filter (E. Pariser), Obedience to Authority (S. Milgram)

10. Twenty-First Century: algorithms hold sway

10. 1. The generation of wishes and the anticipation of behavior
- 10.2. The Orwellian prophecy: Big Brother now

SYSTEM OF ASSESSMENT

Assessment and final grading will be based on two key criteria. Firstly, the undertaking of two written exams. Secondly, when assigning final grades, to what was obtained in those same written exams will be added the scores corresponding to active participation in class sessions, as well as to the assignments handed in when required (reports and reviews, as well as commentaries, etc). The written exams represent seventy percent of the final grade, while the other thirty percent will be divided between twenty percent for practical work and ten percent for active participation in class sessions.

Course FB-24 SPANISH IN THE SECTORS OF THE ECONOMY, BUSINESS AND FINANCE
(45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. Marina González Sanz (mgsanz@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Blanca Garrido (blancagm@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This is a Course aimed at students who wish to acquire a specific expertise in Spanish so as to enable them to put their know-how to use within the specialist field of Economics and the Entrepreneurial Sector.

METHODOLOGY

The basis of the actual teaching will involve what is known methodologically as a 'communicative approach' in which students will play an active role in their own learning process, their lecturer being constantly available as support, while he/she guides and encourages participation in activities within the classroom setting. The purpose of this methodology and of the phasing of module content is to provide students with the possibility of transferring the communicative actions set up and rehearsed in the classroom to real contexts outside it in which such actions are likely to be required. Content units have been designed in order to satisfy requirements of breadth of appeal, variety, and the power to motivate, not only with regard to the materials selected, but also in terms of the activities to be undertaken, all of which are geared toward the priming of the four fundamental skills (oral comprehension, oral interaction, comprehension in reading, and written output). In addition, special attention will be paid to the socio-cultural component of language learning, while favoring student immersion in the economy of the Hispanic world, with a specific focus on its Spanish and Andalusian segments, as well as on those same segments' key companies and entrepreneurs.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

Continuous assessment, by which regular attendance and active participation in class sessions will be taken into account, will be combined with the sitting of two exams: one mid-way through the Course and the other, a final exam, at its close. Likewise, taking into account the advanced-level character of the subject-matter being dealt with, each student will be expected to undertake an assignment or final project, to be shared with the rest of the class in a real-time presentation, while the lecturer's guidance and supervision will be forthcoming at every stage of its preparation. The ultimate goal in this regard is to encourage student autonomy in the study place, as well as to help him/her satisfy his/her curiosity and pursue his/her interest in specific areas of subject-matter. This latter factor will contribute to making it a motivating undertaking for the student who is carrying it out, while also ensuring the enrichment of the class group as a whole.

The percentages corresponding to each facet of grading are distributed as follows:

-20%: the mid-way exam

-40%: the close-of-semester final exam

-20%: regular attendance and active participation in class sessions

-20%: final assignment

Course FB-26 THE CIVIL WAR AND PRESENT-DAY SPANISH LITERATURE (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Ana Davis González (adavis@us.es)
Co- Lecturer: Emilio Ocampos (eocampos@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

The aim of this Course is to explore the interaction of History and Literature, using as a point of departure an historical event which has had wide-ranging effects upon Spanish literary output: the Civil War of 1936. An overview of the cultural and literary context of the nineteen thirties will be provided, as well as of the evolution of the Civil War and its consequences for Spanish Literature between the nineteen forties and the present day. In this way, what will be sought after is a clearer understanding of the contemporary literary scene via its development during the second half of the twentieth century.

METHODOLOGY

An interactive theoretical-practical approach will be adopted in class sessions: the explicative input-lecture on each syllabus item will be enhanced by the discussion of the readings which have been selected.

SYLLABUS

1. The Socio-Political Context: from Republic to Dictatorship. The Antecedents of the Civil War. Spain's Literary Scene prior to the Outbreak of the War.
2. Spanish Literature during the Civil War.
3. Two Spains, Two Literatures? The Cultural Panorama and the Consequences of the War on Spain's Literary Output: Official Literature and the Literature of Homeland Exile.
4. The Evolution of Spanish Narrative from the Post-War Period to the Present Day: Kinds of Realism and Kinds of Experimentation.
5. Drama after the Civil War: from the Crisis in Theater to Independent Theater.
6. The Civil War and Poetry: from Miguel Hernández to the Second Half of the Twentieth Century.
7. The Civil War and its Aftermath in Present-Day Literature.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

The Class Lecturer will provide students with a booklet containing the selected texts to be analyzed during class sessions, along with specific bibliography as required.

Back-Up Activities

- The scrutiny of a range of document-based sources linked with the Spanish Civil War: newspapers, magazines, interviews with intellectuals, etc
- Two movie screenings involving adaptations of the following literary texts: Los girasoles ciegos (Blind Sunflowers) and Los Santos inocentes (The Holy Innocents).

ASSESSMENT AND GRADING CRITERIA

- Mid-Course examination: 30%
- End-of-Course examination: 30%
- Active participation during class sessions: 30%
- An assignment project, essay, critical appreciation piece, or oral report: 10%

Course FB-27 LITERATURE AND CUISINE: READ, WRITE, COOK, EAT (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Luis Laplaza Hdez-Franch (luislaplaza@hotmail.com)
Co- Lecturer: Mercedes Delgado (mmdelgado@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Montserrat Izaguirre Rodríguez (isaguirremon@gmail.com)
Collaborators: Antonio Tirado Martín, enólogo y sumiller Ángel Custodio Ruiz Martínez, chef.

OBJECTIVES

This Course is designed as a way of approaching the world of cuisine and food through literature in different periods and throughout history. It is not intended to be either exhaustive nor all-embracing, but rather a humble hors d'oeuvre that aims to whet the appetite for the great banquet of literature in its relations with food, cuisine, eating habits, and gastronomy.

METHODOLOGY

The Course is made up of two distinct parts. A theoretical part wherein literary texts in which cuisine and food play a relevant role will be read and analyzed. The other part will be practical, and consists of preparing dishes from a range of recipes related to a series of texts, as well as to Spanish culture as such

SYLLABUS

Introduction: Why literature and cuisine?

Antiquity

Topic 1: The Dawn of Cuisine

- Cuisine in Sumer (bread and beer in the poem of Gilgamesh).
- Bread in Ancient Egypt (hieroglyphics).
- Food and symbol: The Bible (Old and New Testaments).

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: Bread making.

Topic 2: Notes on the Classical World

- Homer's Odyssey: The first barbeque?
- Marcus Gavius Apicius, the first gourmet.
- Petronius' Satyricon; those Romans!
- Lucius Junius Moderatus "Columela", the agriculture correspondent from Cádiz.
- Marcus Valerius Martialis (Martial) and his Epigrams.

A screening of sequences from Francis Ford Coppola's Apocalypse Now.

A screening of scenes from Federico Fellini's "Satyricon".

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: A pickles and salted fish tasting. Cuisine inspired by the Apicius recipe collection. How to prepare marinade and French toast ('torrijas').

The Middle Ages

Topic 3: From the Eulogizing of Vegetable Stew ("alboronía") to the nostalgia for fried eggs

- The legacy of Abu I-Hasan Ali ibn Nafi "Zyriab".
- Al-Yahiz, Amr: The Book of the Greedy (Libro de los avaros).
- Ibn Razin al-Tuyibi and his Table Titbits (Relieve de las mesas).
- Notes on the Talmud collection of doctrines and laws.
- Ben Sira on the subject of gluttony.
- Selection of Maimonides' commentaries on wine and food in his Guide for the Perplexed.
- Ibn Rushd "Averroes". Al-Adwiya wa 'l-aghddhiya (medicine and nutrition).
- "The Battle between Don Carnal and Doña Cuaresma (Lent)" in Juan Ruiz's The Book of Good Love (El libro de buen amor).

Gastronomic activity to be undertaken: Spinach with chickpeas, vegetable stew (alboronía), and fried eggs.

A screening of scenes from Tassos Boulmetis' A Touch of Spice.

Modern Times

Course FB-31 INTRODUCTION TO TRANSLATION: CULTURE, VOCABULARY, AND PROCESS
(45 class hours)
Lecturer: Elisa Díaz Prada (ediazprada@us.es)
Co-Lecturer: Joaquin J. Fernández (jifernan@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This course aims to present the basic principles of translation between English and Spanish, for which a number of basic concepts will be explained to understand the process of translation.

The process will be done in a practical way in order that the student acquires an understanding of the phases, and the practical tools currently used by translators. Two key concepts will be explained through translation: linguistic competence and cultural competence.

This course seeks to make the student aware of the importance of good writing and the precise use of language.

METHODOLOGY

Class sessions will be mostly practical. The student will be asked to produce translations, to investigate the meaning of texts and to propose translation relationships for certain cultural and linguistic segments. Therefore, the student will be asked to participate as follows:

- Translating texts.
- Doing exercises about dictionaries and other reference sources.
- Translating concrete language aspects (like proverbs, semantic fields, specialized languages...), as well as elaborating translation data cards.
- Explaining in writing and/or orally how he/she has reached his/her translation conclusions.

SYLLABUS

The topics of the course will develop around the texts to be translated. They include the following:

- The concept of Competence.
- Literal Translation.
- Oblique Translation.
- Translation Techniques.
- Assisted Translation and Machine Translation.
- The Translator's Workbench.
- Orthotypography of English and Spanish.

ASSESSMENT

Class attendance and participation: 10%

Take home exam: 90%. The exam will consist of two parts: Data card elaboration (40%) and the submission of a translation (50%). For both cases, the student will follow the models used in class.

Course FB-32 PROGRESSIVE SPANISH FOR ENGLISH-SPEAKING STUDENTS (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Francisco Javier Tamayo Morillo (fitamayo@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Manuel Padilla Cruz (mpadillacruz@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This Course is aimed at English-speaking students who already have a basic knowledge of Spanish. Its key objective is to improve their communication skills by means of the consolidation of their grammar competence and of the introduction of practical vocabulary so as to enable them to cope with the usual communication situations of everyday life. On the one hand, teaching methodology will be based on the assimilation of grammatical rules and their practical application via specific activities and, on the other hand, will involve the gradual and progressive use of Spanish as a vehicle for communication within the classroom.

CLASSES: THE SET-UP

The Lecturer will provide students with xeroxed material containing the grammar content to be studied with regard to each section of the Course syllabus. However, this does not mean that class sessions will be organized in terms of formal lectures on Spanish Grammar. In a key way, teaching will be practice-based: using specific grammar exercises as points of departure, explanations will be provided of those issues arising from the use of the Spanish language which tend to cause students most difficulty. Other activities within the Course will include: (a) dictations; (b) listening comprehension exercises; (c) reading comprehension exercises; (d) exercises in writing; and (e) vocabulary exercises. Use will also be made of representative works of literature with a double objective in mind: (a) their use as tools by which to improve students' communication skills, and (b) to give students the opportunity of accessing Spain's literary heritage. With this in mind, students will be expected to read the prose work Lazarillo de Tormes (in an edition adapted to their level of knowledge of Spanish), while extracts from the movie version of Don Quijote de la Mancha will also be screened.

COMPLEMENTARY ACTIVITIES

Two programmed activities will be undertaken so as to complement those carried out in the classroom:

- (c) a city walk which will involve touring those places to which Miguel de Cervantes makes reference in his works. During the tour extracts from Don Quijote will be read so as to provide students with their first approach to Spanish Literature's most representative work.
- (d) a visit to Triana Market, with two aims in mind: getting students used to the vocabulary linked with the consumption of foodstuffs in Sevilla on a day-to-day basis; and providing them with a context within which to practice common communicative structures as employed by those who normally use this kind of commercial establishment.

COURSE SYLLABUS

Each of the syllabus points indicated here contains a grammar-based component, as well as a lexically-based or/and communicatively-based component.

1. Grammatical Sentences: Basic Sentence Constituents. Sentence Structure in Spanish: the Order of Sentence Constituents and its Effect upon Sentence Structure during Communication. Expressions to aid Classroom Communication.
2. The Noun Phrase: Gender and Number in Nouns and Adjectives. The Use of Articles, Demonstratives, and Structures involving Possession. The Grades of Adjectives. Ser and Estar: Description and Location. Nationalities, Countries and Professions.
3. Personal Pronouns: the Use of Subject Pronouns within Sentences. Tú and Usted. Object Pronoun Forms. The Verbs gustar, encantar and doler.

4. The Present Indicative Tense. How it is Formed. Its Uses. Reflexivity in Spanish. Pronominal Verbs in Spanish. Everyday Activities and Leisure.
5. The Future Indicative Tense. How it is Formed. Uses of the Future Indicative. The Periphrastic Configuration ir a + infinitive. Planning Activities.
6. The Imperative. Its Different Forms. Issuing Instructions and Giving Advice.
7. The Conditional Tenses. How they are Formed. Uses of the Conditional. Sentence Structures involving the Conditional: the Main Types. Expressing the Wish to Do Something.
8. How to Express the Past. The Imperfect and the Past Perfect Tenses. How they are Formed. Uses of the Imperfect and the Past Perfect Tenses. Telling the Time, the Days of the Week, the Parts that Make Up a Day.
9. The Subjunctive Mood. Verb Tenses and the Subjunctive Mood. Basic Uses of the Subjunctive. Expressing Prohibition.

OBJECTIVES

Understand the city of Seville and its artistic heritage combining the literature of Seville with the practical art of painting. To have a profound knowledge of a city and its heritage requires a very careful study of its most emblematic places. Painting gives one a greater vision of the city. We choose different techniques: pencil, charcoal, watercolor, and ink, etc. The students pass enjoyable sessions in the parks, plazas, streets and monuments of Seville, the Guadalquivir River, the Alcázar, the Barrio Santa Cruz, taking time to study their subject, its form and history. They will get to know the city, its hidden places and architecture like no other student can hope to do. At the end of the semester the students will have a fine collection of drawings and paintings which make great souvenirs and gifts for their friends and families. Also, they will acquire a great understanding of painting; perspective and composition which will help them appreciate art for the rest of their lives.

METHODOLOGY

The students make visits to the monuments, plazas and parks of Seville while drawing and painting. Every visit includes an introduction to the site, its history, its architecture, its figures and legends. In each class the students learn aspects of drawing and painting: color, composition, etc. Classes are conducted in the classroom or outdoors. Every week we visit different locations. We will discuss the literature related to each place, while we draw and paint.

The classes are in chronological order to better understand the monumental history of the city. We will start with the Romans by drawing in the Archeology Museum. Then we study Islamic Seville. Then we look at medieval Seville at the Cathedral. We search out themes from the Golden Age of Cervantes. We learn about Romanticism in the María Luisa Park.

The students will read literary passages about Seville; the subjects that we paint and draw are related to the readings.

SYLLABUS1. Theory.

Course FB-37PHOTOGRAPHING THE LITERARY SEVILLE

Lecturer:

Michael Padilla (michael.v.padilla@gmail.com)Substitute Lecturer: Joaquín Asencio, BFA Film (joaquinasencio@gmail.com)

This course is taught in English and is open to students with any level of Spanish. An SLR digital camera with full manual functions is required.

OBJECTIVES

The course will examine the literary richness of Seville through the photographic lens. We will learn about how to better control our cameras, fundamental photographic techniques and the history of photography and apply this knowledge to the myths and stories based here. We will also explore the city and its surroundings during field trips and learn to look at images critically and critique them in a group setting.

METHODOLOGY

The course will consist of 2 modules twice per week of 2 hours that will cover the topics mentioned in the syllabus. Students will be required to have their own digital camera with fully manual options including the ability to change the ISO, Aperture and Shutter Speed. The material will be covered with classroom lectures, assigned readings, a documentary screening, photography assignments to be critiqued by the class and in-class excursions in Seville and the surrounding areas. Students will be required to use the Flickr.com online image gallery service for in-class critiques.

SYLLABUS

1. Introduction: Learning about your camera and the city.
2. A brief history of photography and introduction to myths and legends of Seville.
3. Professional photography: Advertising, photojournalism and fine art photography.
4. Composition: what elements go into making a good image.
5. Light: an introduction to studio lighting and the use of flash.
6. Exposure: the secrets behind properly exposed images.
7. Portraits: what is portraiture and how great ones are made.
8. An introduction to online media and the role of photography in the 21st century.
9. Photo narrative: how to set up and execute a coherent photo story.
10. Literary Seville, exploring the literary history of the city through images.

Course FB-38 LITERARY AND CULTURAL TRADITIONS IN SPANISH-SPEAKING COMMUNITIES

(45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Salomé Lora Bravo (slora1@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Yolanda Congosto Martín (ycongosto@us.es)

Language, literature, as well as culture in general, constitute the key aspects of the identity of peoples; it is for this reason that, in order to learn a foreign language, having knowledge of the culture associated with it also gains relevance: knowing who, what, when and why (in terms of political, religious, education-related, historical, geographical, etc. issues), knowing about (events, developments, and social concerns), as well as knowing how (that same society acts, speaks, and manifests itself).

OBJECTIVES

The main objective of this Course is to bring students into contact with the existing range of Spanish-speaking communities by providing them with real, thorough knowledge regarding their literary and cultural traditions, while also furnishing information on:

Their values and beliefs. How they are manifested.

What makes up life on a day-to-day basis, as well as their customs.

Their popular traditions.

What is sought as a result is that students develop:

A tolerant and open-minded attitude toward other cultures.

A thinking-person's attitude toward social and cultural similarities and differences.

The ability to become involved in an intercultural milieu.

Empathy toward people from a wide range of different cultures.

Real skills in dealing with how culture and society are seen to interact.

METHODOLOGY

This Course has been conceived of with highly practical intentions in mind, while deliberately tending to students communicative and cultural interaction within real contexts.

Students will feel part of their own learning process by becoming involved in, and participating actively in, the undertaking of assignments such as visits to embassies, consulates, cultural centers and fairs, culinary demonstrations, as well as interacting with documentary screenings, photographic materials, movies, commercials, television or radio programs, or performed readings, etc., which will constitute a key stimulus to the keener understanding of specific aspects of the literary and cultural mosaic that is indeed the Hispanic world.

Key representative aspects (locations, society, music, dance, cinema, cuisine, together with other modes of cultural expression) of a number of countries (Mexico, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Cuba, Puerto Rico, Peru and Argentina) will be dealt with, within the framework of an open, flexible schedule, due to which the choice of venues, as well as the order of presentation of syllabus items may tend to vary depending on how class sessions tend to develop, or in terms of how interests and circumstances pan out.

25%: The degree of active participation during class sessions, as well as during extramural activities.

Course FB-42 LEARNING SPANISH VOCABULARY (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. Juan Manuel García Platero (jugarcia@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Dr. M^a Auxiliadora Castillo Carballo (auxicastillo@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

The aim of this Course is to enable students to acquire vocabulary in a gradual way, while taking into account the range of lexical categories involved. As an essentially practical subject, emphasis is placed on becoming knowledgeable about the acquisition of phraseological units, which are key to mastering colloquial Spanish, as well as on the relations at work within synonymy, an essential tool in lexical enrichment, as well as on the capacity to adapt to different communicative situations. For this reason, a pragmatic stance will be adopted throughout. Likewise, the importance of the dictionary for lexical learning will be taken into account.

SYLLABUS

1. Word formation in Spanish.
2. The colloquial lexicon and its communicative appropriateness.
3. Phraseological units: locutions, proverbial expressions, and lexical placements.
4. Synonyms and antonyms in Spanish. Polysemy and homonymy.
5. Metaphors and their importance in the everyday lexicon.
6. Standard vocabulary and specialized vocabulary. The relevance of the Media.
7. The use of the dictionary in vocabulary learning.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

Continuous assessment of class-based assignments set by the lecturer will be in operation, while, additionally, two exams will be set: one mid-way through the Course and the other at its close.

Percentage distribution regarding assessment will be as follows:

Active participation in class sessions: 10%

Oral presentation of assignment: 20%

Mid-semester exam: 20%
End-of-semester exam: 50%

Course FB-43 LITERARY VISIONS OF ANDALUSIA (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Gema Balaguer Alba (gemabalagueralba@gmail.com)
Co- Lecturer: Jaime Puig Guisado (jpuig@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

The main objective of this Course is to make available the different literary and artistic visions that have had Andalusia as their focal point over time and which have helped give rise to a stereotyped image of this land and its people. In this way, the aim is to enable students to identify the origins of each of the clichés concerned, while becoming knowledgeable about Andalusian literature, art and culture so as to acquire the capacity to create his/her own image of Andalusia, while fostering thereby a critical outlook, together with a capacity for analysis and reflection.

METHODOLOGY

In order to facilitate understanding, an interdisciplinary methodology will be adopted whereby the interactive relations among literature, history and the arts will become manifest.

The Course aims to be eminently practical, for which reason the maximum possible involvement on the part of students will be sought. With this in mind, students will be provided with the key theoretical foundations they will require and, based on this, the selected texts and artistic manifestations to be highlighted will be analyzed and discussed during class sessions so as to encourage communication and the structuring of thought.

The goal is for the Course to be carried through in a dynamic way, which is why certain class sessions will be backed up by movie and documentary screenings, together with visits to Seville's Museum of Fine Arts and Archive of the Indies, while a tour of literary Seville will also be undertaken.

SYLLABUS

- 1.- The construction of the "Andalusian romantic myth": the travel writings of Richard Ford, George Borrow, Irving Brown, etc.
- 2.- Andalusia is opera. Mérimée's Carmen.
- 3.- Andalusia (1900-1939): amid tragedy, mores and customs, and revolution.
- 4.- Through the poets' eyes: the Andalusia of Machado, Alberti, Juan Ramón Jiménez, Miguel Hernández, etc. Literature and Flamenco. Lorca and popular folklore.
- 5.- Visions of Andalusia in the contemporary era.

Course FB-45 A PRACTICAL COURSE IN TEACHING ENGLISH AS A FOREIGN LANGUAGE METHODOLOGY (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dra. Gabriela Fernández Díaz (gfernan@us.es)
Co-Lecturer: Dra. Cristina Molinos (cmolinos@us.es)

1. AIMS

This training course offers a theoretical and practical approach to the teaching of English as a foreign language (EFL) to Spanish-speaking students. Classroom practice will be fostered which includes activities in the class, activities outside the class under the supervision of a tutor and the opportunity to take part of the course in a Spanish school with Spanish students in the city of Seville. This way, not only theoretical content but also the cultural aspects which are involved in the practice of teaching English as a foreign language will be dealt with.

2. METHODOLOGY

From a methodological perspective, theory will be determined and learned from the practice. Classroom interaction and dynamics guided by the teacher will be dealt with in class; students will work in pairs and in small groups and will have to get involved in creative tasks such as lesson planning, original learning resources design, classroom observation and teaching. Part of the course will take place in a Spanish school in Seville.

3. SYLLABUS

- 3.1. EFL Acquisition and Learning.
- 3.2. Popular EFL Methodologies.
- 3.3. The English Teacher.
- 3.4. EFL Students in Spanish Schools.
- 3.5. Classroom Dynamics.
- 3.6. How to teach pronunciation, grammar, vocabulary and culture to EFL students. speaking, listening, reading and writing.
- 3.7. Teaching Resources in the EFL Classroom. The English coursebook, other resources and digital support.
- 3.8. Error Correction and Feedback.
- 3.9. Assessment. The present syllabus may be subject to certain readjustments which will depend on the students' profile and their learning preferences and needs.

4. ASSESSMENT ATTENDANCE IS COMPULSORY.

- 4.1. Classroom activities 20%
- 4.2. Tests 30%
- 4.3. Teaching practice in schools 50%

Course FB-46 THE SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY OF LANGUAGE LEARNING

(45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Christian Abelló Contese (chac@us.es)

Co-Lecturer: Dr. Belén Ramírez Gálvez (belen@us.es)

DESCRIPTION

This course is an introduction to second language acquisition, that is, a first acquaintance with how a non-native language (L2) is learned once a first language (L1) has already been developed. Second language acquisition is a dynamic process that millions of individuals worldwide are engaged in; it is also a growing interdisciplinary field of study within the megafield of applied linguistics.

The focus of attention is on the L2 learners' individual differences. These refer to personal variation in language learning as evidenced by a number of interrelated factors such as age, aptitude, personality traits, motivations, attitudes, social identities, gender, intelligence, learner beliefs, learning strategies, among others. Such differences tend to be psychological/affective, social/sociocultural, cognitive/biological in nature. SLA researchers have claimed that such differences enhance or inhibit both the process and the product of L2 acquisition. The claim is that individual differences partially determine how fast learners learn and how successful they become towards the end of their learning process.

In the long term, the process of L2 acquisition may be related to individual bilingualism in that a growing expectation—yet not the automatic result of it—is that by the end of the L2 acquisition process—whenever that 'end' actually takes place for individual learners—the original L2 learner will hopefully have reached an advanced proficiency level and have become an autonomous L2 user (i.e., a bilingual individual).

AIMS

The following are the main aims of this course: Students are expected to (i) develop an informed, reflective, and analytical attitude regarding the factors that play a role in the processes of acquiring and using of two (or more) languages; (ii) recognize the meanings of key terms and concepts used in the field of second language acquisition and bilingualism studies; and (iii) make connections between the descriptive contents covered and their own past and present experiences involving foreign/second language learning and use.

METHODOLOGY AND ACTIVITIES

This course includes both descriptive as well as practical contents and the teaching methodology used is eclectic (informed eclecticism). In-class activities will include lecturing, guided discussions on selected issues, oral presentations prepared by the students on topics of their choice, and informal presentations by guest speakers (both L2 learners of English and Spanish-English bilinguals).

SYLLABUS

Unit 1: Introducing Second Language Acquisition

- First vs. second language acquisition
- Diversity in language learning and learners
- Second language learning contexts: Naturalistic, mixed, instructed context.

Unit 2: The psychology of SLA

- Languages and the brain: basic concepts of neurolinguistics / neuroscience
- Language processing and its subprocesses: noticing, storing, integration, organization, retrieval.

Unit 3: Social and psychological differences in L2 learners

- Age
- Intelligence
- Aptitude
- Personality
- Learning and cognitive style
- Learning strategies
- Attitudes
- Motivation
 - Gender
 - sociocultural identities
 - Socio-economic factors

Unit 4: Individual bilingualism

- Who is a bilingual?
- Definitions of bilingualism; basic distinctions
 - Sequential bilingualism
 - Psycholinguistic aspects of individual bilingualism

Assessment

Grading will consist of the following four (4) criteria:

- Class preparation (mainly reading assignments), attendance, and participation: 10 %
- Individual oral presentation (on a topic to be chosen): 20%
- Midterm test: 35 %
- Final test: 35 %

Required Materials

Class booklet (available at the School's copy center at the beginning of the semester)

Course FB-47 UNDERSTAND FLAMENCO THROUGH DANCE: THEORY AND PRACTICE OF FLAMENCO DANCING (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Elisa Vélez (velezaletta1994@gmail.com)
Substitute Lecturer: Pepa Sánchez (dirección.academica@flamencoheeren.com)

INTRODUCTION

Of the three main modalities within Flamenco, unlike singing (cante) and guitar playing (toque), dance is the one that has had the greatest projection, to the point of becoming the ambassador of the genre in the most prestigious venues in the world. Each year, this form of artistic expression, declared Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity by UNESCO, attracts thousands of people from every country, who come to Spain to try to understand and enjoy Andalucía's most universal art.

OBJECTIVES

The main objective of this Course is the initiation in Flamenco through:

- Learning the basic techniques of Flamenco dancing
- The historical contextualization of Flamenco dancing
- The understanding of its aesthetic criteria, as well as its structural and expressive resources
- The assimilation of certain fundamental flamenco styles (measured rhythm and structure)

REQUIREMENTS

No prior knowledge of Flamenco is required.

Comfortable clothes and dance shoes are required (..this will be explained to students on the first day of the Course)

The use of some sort of recording device (an actual recorder, mobile phone, etc.) will be necessary

METHODOLOGY

The Course has been configured, in terms of its theoretical-practical character, for students not yet initiated into Flamenco.

During theoretical classes, listening sessions, videos, screenings, as well as back-up texts, will be discussed. In practical sessions, students will be provided with an introduction to the Flamenco-style techniques of shoe tapping and body movement, keeping in mind their later application in brief choreographies.

SYLLABUS

The contents of the Course are organized in two blocks:

I. THEORETICAL CONTENT

1. The study of the characteristics of Flamenco dancing in a range of socio-historical contexts from the testimonies of Romantic travelers in the 19th century, through to the era of Salons and Singer-related Cafés, together with the dramatization and internationalization of dance, up to the modern era.
2. To understand the aesthetic criteria at the base of traditional Flamenco dance ("women's dance", "men's dance", "gypsy dance") and the transformations they have undergone within the panorama of contemporary Flamenco dance.
3. To become familiar with the rhythmic structure and stylistic characteristics of the fundamental flamenco modalities, styles such as tangos (binary measure), fandangos (ternary measure), the poetically-charged soleá, rapidly-paced alegrías, slower-paced bulerías, and tragically-charged seguiriyas (combined measure)

II. PRACTICAL CONTENT

4. To introduce and practice the techniques of shoe tapping, as well as the body stance technique associated with Flamenco dancing, at the elementary level.

5. To learn and practice simple montages of brief choreographies in terms of tangos and sevillanas.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

- Mid-way Exam: 20% (theory exam 10%, practical exam 10%)
- End-of-Semester Exam: 30% (theory exam 15%, practical exam 15%)
- Analysis of a Live Performance: 20%
- Active Participation in Sessions: 30%

Course FB-48 THE LANGUAGE AND CULTURE OF HERE AND NOW IN SEVILLA

(45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Isabel María Presa Terrón (isabelmariapresa@gmail.com)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Fátima Roldán Castro (foldan@us.es)

DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES:

In this Course Spanish will be learnt through the detailed observation of a range of features of the culture of both Sevilla and Spain, while attention will be paid to “the here and now” in each of the units to be studied.

METHODOLOGY:

As a key feature of this approach to the study of Spanish, a communicative, fully participatory method will be adopted in class, while specific vocabulary will be employed within each teaching unit. As the Course develops, a series of visits around the city will be undertaken so as to enable detailed practice of the Spanish language based on extramural cultural subject-matter. Each student will keep a personal diary, on a weekly basis, in which the new vocabulary learnt will be included, together with any of his/her personal reflections on time spent around the city.

SYLLABUS CONTENTS:

1. Introduction to the Course. How to come to know the language and culture of Sevilla? Mindfulness as a way of approaching the reality of Sevilla, as well as its everyday and cultural life. The detailed observation of language and culture.
2. Mediterranean food. A diet to ensure health and well-being. Triana Market. Fruit. Vegetables. Spices. Fish. Popular tapas. Typical breakfasts Olive oil. Types of oil. Sevilla’s orange marmalade. Chocolate with churros. A study of the relevant language and vocabulary concerned.
3. María Luisa Park. Trees, plants and flowers. The Square known as La plaza de España. The tiles displayed there which depict the provinces of Spain. The architect Aníbal González. A study of the relevant language and vocabulary concerned.
4. Undertaking the detailed description of a painting by Murillo, or of one belonging to the Romantic Movement in Sevilla, from among the holdings in the Museum of Fine Arts. Spain’s Art. A study of the relevant language and vocabulary concerned.
5. Religious Art. The Churches of the Savior and of Christ the Almighty (El Salvador; El Gran Poder). Holy Week in Sevilla. The Virgin Macarena and the Triana Virgin of Hope. The Convent of Santa Paula. Sweetmeat confections made by the nuns of the City. The Convent of Santa Ángela de la Cruz. Sevilla’s nuns and their Mission. Sevilla’s patios and one in particular. The Palace of the Dueñas (the High-ranking Housekeepers). A study of the relevant language and vocabulary concerned
6. Modern architecture: The so-called Toadstools (las Setas) and the Pelli Tower. The Retail Sector and stores in Sevilla. A study of the relevant language and vocabulary concerned.
7. Music in Sevilla. The dance called la Sevillana. Flamenco. The April Fair.
8. The River. The port of Sevilla. The Gold Tower. Close-up observation of a stretch of landscape. A study of the relevant language and vocabulary concerned.
9. Sport in Sevilla. Sevilla FC and Betis. Watersports on the river. Yoga and Pilates as meditation and relaxation techniques. A study of the relevant language and vocabulary concerned.
10. Based on personal diary entries, the oral class-session presentation by each Course participant involving a cultural topic related to Spain or to Sevilla. What have I learnt from contact with the city’s language and culture?

ASSESSMENT:

- Assessment will be based on a mid-semester exam (20% of the overall grade), the already-mentioned oral class presentation, as well as an end-of-semester exam (30% of the overall grade). Active participation in class sessions will count for 15% of the overall grade, while the handing-in of class-session work will count for the remaining 15%.

Course GB-01 AN INTRODUCTION TO THE HISTORY OF CONTEMPORARY SPAIN (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. José Leonardo Ruiz Sánchez (leonardo@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Inmaculada Cordero Olivero (icordero@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

The main objective of this Course is to provide students with as inclusive an overview as possible of the Contemporary History of the Hispanic World, taking into account the period between the final third of the eighteenth century and the present day. In a basic, yet considered way, an exploration will be made of the political, institutional, social, economic, and cultural factors involved. Accordingly, the Course will be geared toward ensuring that students assimilate not only knowledge, but also critical capacity, thus enabling them to acquire a measured understanding of our era, while, at the same time, endeavoring to make them aware of the fundamental structural changes that have contributed to forging this same geographical environment.

With this aim in mind, the syllabus is articulated in terms of units of subject matter which will enable students to bring into conjunction an overall vision, global in character, involving the major historical processes that have affected the development of Spain, and the Hispanic World, since the end of the eighteenth century, together with a more detailed approach to turns-of-event, issues, and junctures of a more specific, and especially noteworthy, kind.

METHODOLOGY

Two modules per week, each lasting two hours, will be used to cover the syllabus. The lectures given will offer guidance with regard to the basic aspects of syllabus content, while students will be encouraged to enlarge upon class sessions by consulting recommended reference works. Certain class sessions, of a more practical nature, will revolve around the analysis and commentary of texts and other kinds of material (informative diagrams, statistical tables, etc.), as well the screening of documentary films.

Fundamentally, emphasis will be placed on the development of a capacity for comprehension, reflexion, and critical acumen. In this sense, the methodological approach employed has as its aim the reinforcement of students' capacity for analysis, synthesis, systematization, and comparison, as well as for the searching out, selection, and categorizing of the elements that constitute the task in hand.

The lecturers taking part in the Course will endeavor to bring students into direct contact with available research sources, together with state-of-the-art bibliography. Thus, teaching will mainly tend toward the guidance of students within their process of personal learning, each of them being encouraged to act innovatively.

ASSESSMENT

In keeping with the Statutes of the University of Sevilla, with current regulations concerning examinations, scoring, and grading, and with the Agreements reached with regard to the Program of which this Course forms a part, the following assessment criteria will be adopted:

Two examinations will be set, one mid-way through the semester and the other, a final exam, at its close, the actual dates being decided in due time by the Program Directors. The exams will be in two parts:

- a) 50 items, with regard to which students will be expected to indicate the corresponding correct answers. Each item will be scored as a decimal point so as to reach a total possible score of 5 points.
- b) The answering of two out of the three questions included. Each of the written replies will be scored on a scale ranging between 0 and 2.5 points. In this section, positive account will be taken of how students not only show their specific knowledge of the syllabus content concerned, but also their capacity to interrelate, and link up intelligently, ideas, issues, and events; also looked for: clarity in the arguments put forward, a rich range of vocabulary, together with a capacity for conceptualization and expressiveness.

ASSESSMENT

Two compulsory exams will be set, either in the form of answers to test-type questions or questionnaires, or in the form of short-paragraphed written answers to ten questions.

Course GB-09 FLAMENCO: AN EXPRESSION OF THE CULTURE OF ANDALUCÍA (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. David Florido del Corral (dflorido@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Assumpta Sabuco i Canto (assumpta@us.es)

SUMMARY OF CONTENTS AND OBJECTIVES

Flamenco will be broached as a cultural phenomenon in its widest sense; i.e., taking into account the dimensions that link it with music, social interaction, and communication, as well as its displaying of itself as lyricism, while not forgetting its links with contexts related to work, ritual, and festive occasions. As a result of this approach, Flamenco is viewed as a manifestation which goes beyond the strictly artistic, while possessing the capacity to generate social identity, in the case of Andalucía, on the basis of ethnic factors, but not exclusively so.

In order to illustrate this plan of action, use will be made of a historically based analysis so as to be able to carry out a reconstruction of the major processes by means of which, up until the present day, Flamenco has emerged as a cultural manifestation in the southern part of Peninsular Spain.

The objective of the first part of the Course is to provide students who are not familiar with Flamenco music into contact with its key features, thus enabling them to appreciate Flamenco as a musical language and as a communicative model with its own specific characteristics. Thereafter, the same will be done with regard to Flamenco as dance.

In a second section, students will learn about the different phases that have gone into the making of the history of Flamenco, while they will also become familiar with the debates concerning its interaction with a range of different cultural traditions, some of which remain distanced in time and space. This process will allow for an acquaintance with the historical roots of the beginnings of Flamenco in Andalucía, together with an awareness, although cursory, of the issues that enliven existing specialized bibliography with regard to how to locate Flamenco both historically and culturally.

Finally, in a third section, an exploration will be made of the characteristics of Flamenco as an expression of social interaction and as a communicative model, while its current validity in contemporary society within diverse social and festive contexts is scrutinized, together with the key characteristics of its lyrics as a manifestation of poetic art.

METHODOLOGY AND ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

The Course will take into account regular attendance at the theoretical-practical classroom sessions in which lecturers' explanations will be backed up with a range of audiovisual material which will make for practical learning. Likewise, texts, outlines and different kinds of illustrative material will be provided as a way of reinforcing the explanations concerned.

In general, the two-hour sessions will be divided into sub-units, each respectively dedicated to both theoretical content and to practical exercises so as to ensure an applied learning process in which students will be able participate actively as protagonists.

By way of a complementary, extramural activity, students will be expected to undertake two brief practical assignments involving the analysis of two public performances, or events, in which Flamenco is on show, either commercially, or socially.

As a result of this outline, criteria for assessment and grading will be as follows:

- Attendance and participation:

Account will be taken of regular attendance and active participation in the learning activities during each session. With this aim in mind, a class register will be kept. A maximum of five unwarranted absences during the semester will be permitted, while, during the first two weeks of class, it will be each student's responsibility to hand in a file card which will include his or her name, a photograph, details of the Program to which he or she belongs, as well as an e-mail address. During class sessions lecturers will encourage students to play a participative role in the activities and exercises that will be set up.

Weighting within final grade: 20%.

- The undertaking of a short assignment which, from a comparative standpoint, will involve the analysis of two public performances or events in which Flamenco is on display. As class sessions go forward, an explanation will be given of what is involved in the structure, content and requirements of the assignment, while written guidelines will also be provided. In this same sense, students are recommended to attend tutorial hours so that lecturers may oversee the development of each assignment. Assignments are to be handed in at the close of the semester.

Weighting within final grade: 40%

- The sitting of an exam in which each student is expected to be able to analyze an across-the-board subject from within the syllabus, while also confirming an ability to comment on visual material in which Flamenco is involved. Also, he or she will be expected to answer questions with reference to concepts and terms explained during class sessions. As the Course progresses, students will be provided with past-papers, together with models concerning how to answer subject-based and concept-based questions so that they become familiar with what is expected of them in this kind of exercise.

Weighting within final grade: 40%

SYLLABUS AND DISTRIBUTION OF THEORETICAL-PRACTICAL SESSIONS

1. Introduction: Flamenco as the expression of what is musical, of ritual, and of social interaction. Its relation to cultural identity within Andalucía and to the cultural traditions that go into that same identity's making.

2. Key characteristics of Flamenco as musical expression: components of the musical discourse concerned, rhythm, styles, or handles on style. Approaches to the learning and performance of Flamenco music: micro-composition, resources of expression, instrumentalization. Sounding Flamenco-like.

3. Expressive characteristics of Flamenco as dance: counterpointing as the structural basis of Flamenco dance, the structure of dance set-ups, the recent evolution of dance forms.

4. The origins of Flamenco as a junction of viewpoints. Historical/cultural context, from the Enlightenment to Romanticism. The issue of the term Flamenco.

5. Historical reconstruction of commercial Flamenco. Phases: the café-singer, Flamenco opera, Neoclassicism, Present-day Flamenco. Issues concerning the identity of Flamenco as Music: Flamenco and Andalusí culture, gipsy style, purists and 'cante-jondo flamencans', Flamenco and Heritage.

6. Flamenco and its social dimension: the practice of 'using' Flamenco. Everyday contexts for Flamenco: the family circle, neighborhoods, festive occasions.

7. Flamenco as literary expression. Key characteristics of its language and of the structure of the 'copla' ballads.

Course GB-10 AN INTRODUCTION TO THE MODERN HISTORY OF SPAIN (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. José M. Díaz Blanco (diazblanco@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Clara Bejarano Pellicerl (cbejarano@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

The aim of this Course is to provide students with an overview of the history of the Spanish Monarchy between the sixteenth and eighteenth centuries, while ensuring a grasp of the key characteristics of the period. The Course will endeavor to contribute to students becoming aware of how Spain became one of the most influential imperial powers in both Europe and America, of how the Golden Age gave rise to a key portion of Spanish culture, and of the extent to which the presence of that same epoch is still felt in current times.

METHODOLOGY

In situ classroom sessions will involve teacher input, backed up, likewise, by film material, slide-based projections, text readings, as well as other activities of a similar kind. Participation in debates during sessions will be encouraged, while an on-going attempt will be made to feature the historical links between Spain and the United States as they existed in the eighteenth century.

SYLLABUS

1. The Rise of the Spanish Monarchy (15th to 16th centuries).
2. The Making of Spanish America.
3. A Period of Crisis? The Seventeenth Century.
4. Spanish Culture during the Modern Era.
5. Benevolent Despotism: The Eighteenth Century.
6. The End of an Era: Liberalism and Processes of Independence (early 19th century).
7. Looking Back on the Modern Era: Archives and Libraries.

BACK-UP ACTIVITIES:

Every effort will be made to organize a series of visits to modern era-based exhibitions and / or museums.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

Course assessment will be based on the following process: a mid-semester exam, (compulsory, 40%), an end-of-semester exam which will not include the syllabus content that formed part of the first exam (compulsory, 40%), as well as a short essay (optional, 20%). As is to be expected, active participation in class sessions, together with the factor of attitude, will also be taken into account.

Course GB-13 INTER-AMERICAN RELATIONS (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. Antonio Acosta Rodríguez (aacosta@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Rocío Delibes Mateos (rdelibes@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This Course sets out to examine the relations between the United States and Latin America during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Specific emphasis will be placed on: (1) the reason why these relations have often been characterized by factors of tension and mistrust and (2) the fact that they constitute a key phase in the development of the system of international capitalism.

The syllabus will be divided into chronological phases, in each the processes and key events affecting these relations being the subject of analysis. Class sessions will also include commentaries on certain of the suggested readings.

By the end of the Course students will be expected to have acquired a structured, contrastively-based awareness of these same Inter-American Relations, thereby helping them to understand the key factors affecting the present-day situation within the American continent.

Course GB-18 PRESENT-DAY SPAIN AND THE CONTEXT OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

(45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Inmaculada Cordero (icordero@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Leonardo Ruiz Sánchez (leonardo@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

The aim of this Course is to provide students with as detailed an overview as possible of Spain's International Relations and Foreign Policy within the period dating from the Second World War until the Present Day. With this aim in mind, a specific methodology has been designed in terms of the kind of students participating in the Course, while also taking into account its duration, as well as the distribution of its sessions which will be divided between those of a practical kind and those which are theoretical in character.

METHODOLOGY

The syllabus will span the academic year's second semester in two weekly modules, each with a duration of two hours. In the theoretical sessions, classes will be based on explanations of the fundamental aspects of each of the subject blocks. Once the Course has moved forward, one session in three will be dedicated to the screening of, and commentary on, historical documentaries and movies specifically chosen as back-up to the explanations and analysis offered in class. Amongst others, projections will include those chapters dealing with the question of international relations belonging to documentary series such as La Guerra Civil Española; Franco, Juan Carlos I y La Transición Democrática Española. The movie ¡Bienvenido, Mr. Marshall! will also be screened.

ASSESSMENT

All participants will be expected to carry out the two exams that will be set. They will either be based on multiple-choice questions or on the need to write short answers to ten specific questions. The distribution of syllabus content regarding the exam sessions will be as follows:

- ✓ The First Exam will be held in the second week of March, based on Subject Blocks 1 to 4 (From the Spanish Civil War to the Close of the Nineteen Fifties and Spain's Emergence out of its International Isolationism). Those who do not obtain a grade of at least 5, in terms of a maximum of 10, can either take part in a re-sit the week following, or attempt to improve their grade by sitting an End-of-Semester Exam.
- ✓ The Second Exam will be held in the second week of May. Its content will be based on Subject Blocks 4 to 8 (From the Beginnings of the Thrust in Development, and Integration within the International Scenario, to the Present Day). Those participants who do not obtain a grade of at least 5, in terms of a maximum of 10, will have the opportunity of re-sitting the End-of-Semester Exam which will be held the week following.
- ✓ Final grades will be assigned as an average of the those obtained in each of the two exams involving half the syllabus-content, or be based exclusively on the end-of-semester exam session. Moreover, the assigning of final grades will also take into account regular attendance, attention level, and the active participation in class sessions.
- ✓ Lecturers will be available during tutorial office hours, where doubts may be clarified and where advice will be offered regarding individual assignments and the complementary back-up reading which students may wish to take advantage of.

Course GB-19 THE HISTORY OF SLAVERY IN LATIN AMERICA (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Emilio José Luque Azcona (elugue1@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Rocío Delibes Mateos (rdelibes@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

Using as departure points the origins of both indigenous and African-based slavery, the tides of slave population movements, ports of entry, factors related to legislation, settlements, and licence-holding, as well as the approximate extent of the trafficking involved, a study will be made of the economic activities of all types for which slaves were used, the main emphasis being placed on the plantation regime. Account will also be taken of matters of a social nature related to the everyday existence and death of slaves. Lastly, the dissolution of the slavery regime will be explored, by means of an analysis of the different kinds of abolitionist processes involved. The geographical context to be explored is that which corresponds to the Hispanic and Portuguese colonies, given their statistical, economic, and cultural relevance.

METHODOLOGY

Class sessions will be based on the following activities:

Guided teacher explanations dealing with the key aspects of syllabus content, supported by Power-point back-up.

Student commentaries on texts, maps and visual material.

The showing of two movies related to the subject of Slavery in Spanish America.

Extramural activity: a guided visit to locations in Sevilla which have links with Colonial America.

SYLLABUS

1. ANTECEDENTS: SLAVERY IN EUROPE AND AFRICA AT THE CLOSE OF THE MIDDLE AGES. INDIGENOUS SERVITUDE IN SPANISH AMERICA AND BRASIL.
2. AFRICAN-BASED SLAVE TRADE AND THE LEGAL FRAMEWORK OF SLAVERY IN SPANISH AMERICA.
3. SLAVE LABOR. FORMS OF SLAVE LABOR. PLANTATION-BASED PRODUCTION METHODS.
4. DAY-TO-DAY ASPECTS OF SLAVERY. LIFE AND DEATH OF THE SLAVES OF AFRICAN ORIGIN.
5. RUNAWAYS AND OTHER FORMS OF REBELLION.
6. THE ABOLITION OF SLAVERY. THE BEGINNINGS OF SEGREGATION.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

The following will be kept in mind when assigning final grades:

- ✓ The grades obtained in the two written exams to be held: one mid-way through the Course; the other at its close.
- ✓ Each exam will be made up of four short questions, together with a fifth which will be lengthier. Those who do not pass the mid-way exam will be expected to re-sit the first half of the syllabus-content within the end-of Course exam.
- ✓ Active participation in class sessions (reading commentaries).
- ✓ An optional five-page essay in which students will be asked to present their findings concerning the Course.

Course GB-23 POLITICAL TRANSITION AND DEMOCRACY IN SPAIN (1975-2000) (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Julio Ponce Alberca (jponce@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Inmaculada Cordero Oliveró (icordero@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

A quarter of a century has gone by since the process of democratization in Spain first got under way. A sufficient degree of perspective is now available so as to enable the development of an integrated module that has come to be known as The Present Day, which, strictly speaking, surfs the interdisciplinary frontiers among History, Law, and the Political Sciences, aiming to provide a well-grounded analysis of Spain's recent past.

There is no doubting the fact that the process of democratization in Spain has aroused a great deal of interest outside the country. Not only has it acted as a referent in the case of Latin American countries such as Guatemala and Chile, but has also come to be a subject of analysis and observation on the part of developed Western countries. In this sense, the inclusion of this module within the Courses for Students from Abroad constitutes a highly relevant move, especially as a result of its appeal to students from the United States.

The aims of this Course module are as listed here:

- a) To create an awareness of how Spain's political transition is the result of a process of reform.
- b) Internationally speaking, to assess Spain's progressive integration within the Western scenario.
- c) To contribute to an understanding of the unique features of Spain's political system and of its constitutional architecture.
- d) To help make discernible the specific model of Spain's territorial organization (a State made up of autonomous regions) by establishing comparisons with other countries.
- e) To contribute to the identification of the main characteristics of Spanish political culture.

METHODOLOGY

Keeping in mind the duration of class sessions (two hours) and the need to deal with a range of levels of comprehension of the Spanish language, a dynamic methodology will be adopted, based on the following procedures:

- a. the explanation of subject content via Powerpoint presentations;
- b. the analysis of texts and documents distributed in Xeroxed copies;
- c. the inclusion of the screening of documentaries covering specific topics;

The holding of debates and exchanges of viewpoint during certain sessions.

SYLLABUS

1. The End of an Authoritarian Regime within the Processes of Transition affecting Southern Europe (1969-1975).
2. From Carlos Arias Navarro to Adolfo Suárez: Political Reform (November, 1975, to December, 1976).
3. From the Recovery of Fundamental Liberties to the Constitution (January, 1977, to December, 1978).
4. The Difficulties involved in the Consolidation of Democracy and the Crisis in UCD (January, 1979, to October, 1982).
5. The First Socialist Government: Toward Spain's International Integration (1982-1986).
6. The Spain of the Autonomous Regions.
7. Economic Growth and Crisis (1986-1996).
8. Spain's Political System.

9. The Conservative Alternative (1996-2004).
10. Weighing Up the Process and Future Challenges.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Keeping in mind the custom in universities in the United States of employing a single text, from our standpoint, the text offering the clearest picture of the subject in hand is:

POWELL, Charles: España en democracia, 1975-2000 (Barcelona: Plaza y Janés), 2001.

The book itself contains a bibliographical index which can help those students wishing to amplify information regarding specific subject areas, as well as providing help when carrying out assignments.

ASSESSMENT

These criteria are based as follows:

- ✓ on regular attendance and active participation in class sessions;
- ✓ the grading of an optional assignment;
- ✓ the grading of two written tests of an objective nature, one mid-way through the semester and the other at its close.

When grading exams, attention will be paid to the following features: clarity of expression when writing, a sufficiently knowledgeable awareness of syllabus content, a capacity for synthesis, a mature level of understanding.

Course GB-24 PHOTOGRAPHY: THEORY, HISTORY AND ART PHOTOGRAPHY (45 class hours)

ACTIVITIES

Visits and excursions to exhibitions, museums, photographic centers or cultural heritage places like:

- Camera Oscura (Cádiz) - Torre de los perdigones (Seville)
Knowing the city. Technical basis. Visiting exhibitions.
- CAAC Andalusian Center for Contemporary Art (Seville)
- Forestier Historical Garden. University of Seville (Seville)
- Guadalquivir River and its surroundings

As the course has mainly a practical character, we will follow a continuous assessment based in different practical works during the course and the realization of one final project.

The tutor will coordinate and co-edit during the course the final project of each student.

For the theoretical contents there will be a final exam.

Course GB-26 SEPHARAD: JEWISH HISTORY AND CULTURE WITHIN SPAIN (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Jesús García Díaz (jesusgd@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Pilar Pavón Torrejón (pilarpavon@us.es)

METHODOLOGY

The Course will develop through a combination of teacher input with regard to the explanation of syllabus contents -always supported by the screening of slides that will convey those same contents-, together with the commenting on, and debate about, materials (texts, images, maps) from the period concerned on the part of students. Syllabus contents will also be backed up by audio-visual media content that will be shown during classroom sessions. Additionally, also to be carried will be a series of cultural visits, guided and commented on by the Course teacher, to different historical-artistic local spots within the city of Sevilla which are especially significant, as in the case of the city's Jewish Quarter.

SYLLABUS

Course GB-29 WOMEN IN THE HISTORY OF LATIN AMERICA (45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Sandra Olivero Guidobono (solivero@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: D. José Luis Caño Ortigosa (jcano5@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This Course aims to explore the presence of women within the political, economic, and cultural processes involved in the history of Latin America. The suggestion is that it has become essential to analyze in greater depth the female Latin-American universe conceived of as a multi-ethnic reality. Personal and family honor, sexuality, and zones of public action conquered by women throughout history constitute the subject-matter which will be dealt with. Syllabus content will be distributed thematically so as to facilitate a chronologically-based overview stretching from colonization to the present day, while considering the role of women in the home, within the economy, as well as within the scenarios of politics and culture.

METHODOLOGY

Theoretical explanation of the syllabus with didactic back-up material.
Bibliographical readings dealing with the issues set forth.
Organized debates linked with readings, documentaries, movies, or specific talks given by invited specialists.

SYLLABUS CONTENT

1. Latin America: Three Interconnected Worlds:

White women
Indian women
Black women

2. Being Born and Growing up as a Woman:

Course GB-30 WOMAN IN ART: VISIONS FROM THE PERSPECTIVES OF AND QUALITY
(45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. Magdalena Illán Martín (magdaillan@us.es)
Co-lecturer: Dr. Antonio J. Santos Márquez (anjo@us.es)

OBJECTIVES

This Course is designed with two key objectives in mind: firstly, to contribute to the recovery from academic oblivion of the women artists who have produced creative output throughout history and who, due to a range of different conditioning factors of a social kind, have remained on the margins of the Art World; secondly, to raise awareness of, and encourage reflexion about, the situation of women within the present-day Art environment, as well as about the aims pursued by tendencies within feminist criticism, together with the endeavor, at the dawn of the twenty-first century, of the woman artist in the search for gender equality in society.

METHODOLOGY

Class sessions – the attendance at which is compulsory - will be interactively theoretical and practical, combining the theoretical exploration of syllabus content – supported by the on-screen projection of artistic works and documentaries- with critical debate on the part of students when dealing with those same on-screen images and the recommended texts.

ASSESSMENT AND GRADING CRITERIA

The Final Grade for the Course will take into account the following assessment and grading criteria:

- 1) As a mandatory element, students will be expected to carry out two EXAMINATIONS based on the subject content of the syllabus, consisting of the analysis of 5 works of art in each exam -- works which would have been previously explored and discussed in class. So as to facilitate the preparation of the tests, the explicative class presentations, based on the contents of the syllabus subject blocks, will be provided to students beforehand. The final grade will be based on the average of the scores obtained in the two examinations.
- 2) Optionally, students may wish to carry out A RESEARCH AND REFLEXION ASSIGNMENT on a particular aspect of the syllabus content, once approved by the class lecturer, and will be based on the following model: an essay on a specific syllabus-based item, or on a visit to an exhibition, and / or a critical commentary on one of the scientific journal-based articles recommended for reading. This assignment could raise the exam score obtained by as much as a maximum of 1.5 points.
- 3) Active participation in class sessions will be kept in mind as a positive factor which will thereby contribute to an increase in the final overall grading score.

Course GB-34 TOURISM TURISTIC (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. Luis M. López Bonilla (luismi@us.es)

Course GB-38 SEVILLA'S HISTORICAL-ARTISTIC HERITAGE (45 class hours)
Lecturer: Dr. Andrés Luque Teruel (luquete@us.es)

OBJETIVES

This Course is based on two fundamental objectives: firstly, in theoretical sessions, to provide students with an introduction to Sevilla's key monuments and customs, thus enabling them to become familiar with their historical and artistic reality; secondly, to ensure that those same participants in the Course get to know these monuments directly, even propitiating thereby their experiencing of them.

METHODOLOGY

Classes - attendance to which is compulsory - will be interactively theoretical and practical, combining theoretical explanations of syllabus content - using as back-up screenings based on creative productions and documentaries - with reflexion and debate involving students' reactions to the visual content being projected, as well as to the texts recommended for reading. Likewise, each class session will be linked to a visit to the monument being dealt with at the time.

SYLLABUS

- Roman Sevilla.
- The Royal Palace Fortress (Reales Alcázares).
- Sevilla's Cathedral.
- The Outer Walls in the Macarena Quarter.
- The Santa Cruz neighborhood.
- The Church of the Savior (El Salvador).

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

The evaluation will meet two criteria:

Course monitoring and on-going evaluation.

Knowledge acquired: tests or exams.

Course GB-39 THE EUROPEAN UNION IN THE FACE OF THE POLITICAL, SOCIO-ECONOMIC, AND TERRITORIAL CHALLENGES OF THE TWENTY-FIRST CENTURY

(45 class hours)

Lecturer: Dr. Jesús Ventura Fernández (jventura@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Javier Navarro Luna (janalu@us.es)

OBJETIVES

The main objective of this Course will be to ensure that students acquire basic knowledge concerning the European Union in a global world. By the end of the Course students should have become familiar with documentation resources which provide information on Europe, with the tools for accessing the statistics they contain, as well as with specific European Union-related vocabulary. A further objective consists of motivating students to become involved in the European Union from an academic perspective, while keeping in mind their own personal foci of interest.

METHODOLOGY

The assimilation of syllabus content by students from a predominantly spatial perspective will be sought, in which territorial and regional factors acquire key importance. It is for this reason that the different syllabus items will be made to interact with state-of-the-art cartography, as well as with the graphic expression of statistics. Lecturer-student contact, via face-to-face tutoring, or via email, will be foregrounded as an important instrument of interaction, should doubts arise, as well as for ensuring progress and improvement on the part of students within this field of action.

Complementary Activities

While taking into consideration student timetabling and availability, attendance at seminars related to syllabus subject-matter, both within the University of Sevilla, as well as in other fora, together with visits and / or field trips with the same aim in mind, may also arise as the Course evolves.

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

The evaluation and grading of the Course content will be based on the following criteria:

- Regularity in attendance and active participation in class sessions (20%)
- The undertaking of an essay on a topic related to the contents of the syllabus (25%)
- An exam dealing with syllabus content dealt with throughout the Course (55%)

6 hours per week will be available so as to facilitate personal lecturer-student contact aimed at clarifying any doubts that may arise on their part.

Prof. Dr. Ángel Jiménez Fernández (ajimfer@us.es)Prof. Dr. Manuel Padilla Cruz (mpadillacruz@us.es)Objectives

This Course is geared toward students who speak American English and who have no prior knowledge of Spanish. Its overall objective is to develop students' capacity to express themselves orally and in written form, within routine sociolinguistic contexts, so that they can come to terms with them and cope adequately with them, the contrast with their mother tongue acting as a point of contrast. Our endeavor is to enable students to initiate and keep up a conversation using limited vocabulary content, to produce phrases and basic conversational routines in a spontaneous way, to narrate and describe routine social situations, as well as to draft basic written forms, while keeping in mind orthographic, lexical and syntactic correctness, as well as pragmatic appositeness. Likewise, students will be provided with the chance to develop their comprehension skills in Spanish, becoming thereby adept at understanding real-life oral discourse adjusted to their level.

Methodology

This Course will have as its basis a communicative approach so as to favor the active participation of students, while encouraging the practical application of information and skills as they are being acquired in real time. With this in mind, class sessions will be structured in terms of lecturers' explanations which will be backed up by involvement in practical activities in pairs and groups (role-play, written drafts, games, debates, etc.).

Syllabus

1. Greeting and Bidding Farewell. Introducing Yourself and Introducing Others. Seeking and Providing Information about People (Name, Age, Profession, Nationality, etc.)
2. Describing Oneself and Others: Height, Complexion, Skin, Hair, and Eye Color, Way of Dressing, Type of Person. Expressing Tastes and Preferences. Talking and Writing about Habits.
3. Requesting and Giving Basic Information about: Directions to Take and the Reaching of Places; Purchases (tickets, shopping zones); Accommodation; Markets. The Expression of Routine Temporal and Spatial Notions.
4. Expressing Gratitude and Excusing Oneself. Expressing Mood, State of Mind, and Physical Condition (pain, weariness, joy, sorrow, indifference, boredom, etc.).
5. Time: Dates, Clock Time, Specific Moments during the Day and the Week, etc. Recounting, in a basic way, Events from the Past (childhood; bygone days, weeks, and months) or with Reference to the Future (the next day; days, weeks, months, and years ahead; future plans, etc.)
6. Making an Appointment and Getting the Details Clear. Clarifying Doubts and Explaining Hitches. Apologizing.
7. Getting By in Commercial Establishments (restaurants, cafeterias, markets, supermarkets, shops of different kinds, etc.). Requesting different kinds of Products or Ordering what to Eat and Drink. Making Payment.
8. Drafting an Informal Letter, or Message, to a Friend or Relative.
9. Giving Advice about What or What Not, to Do.
10. Providing Information about Recipes and How to Cook specific Foods.
11. Obtaining Information about Renting Accommodation, about Lay-Outs, and about Furnishings and Content.

Assessment

A) Final Assessment:

Two oral and written examinations will be set, one mid-way through the Course and the other at its conclusion, their aim being to gauge oral and written skills.

B) On-going Assessment:

Account will be taken of written assignments – composition work and the production of texts of different kinds - which students will hand in on a weekly basis, while active participation in class sessions will also be valued positively.

C) Final Assessment and Grading Criteria

Final grades will be based on the total derived from both the following areas:

- The two oral and written examinations will cover 75% of the final grade.
- Regular attendance and active participation in oral activities during class sessions will cover the remaining 25% of the final grade.

Dra. Carolina Sánchez-Palencia (csanchez@us.es)

Rocío Cobo Piñero (rociocobo@us.es)

Objectives:

This course explores gender representations (ranging from feminist perspectives, gender performances or the theory and practice of female writing, to questions of sexual politics and identity, patterns of masculinity and queer visibility) within the Spanish literature, cinema and media produced during the last four decades. Besides analyzing a selection of works by some representative authors who form part of the contemporary literary panorama in Spain, students will also examine the different critical paradigms and theories within the field of gender and sexuality studies and how they are formulated within a range of cultural texts and contexts.

Methodology:

Sessions will combine lectures with the in-class discussion of readings from the texts and films included in the syllabus. Students will be expected to participate actively in the class sessions and to write or present different assignments.

Objective-Course description

This course will introduce the student to the contemporary history of the Arab world and its international relations during the 20th and 21st centuries. It will describe the major events in the history of Eastern (Mashreq) and Western (Maghreb) Arab states during this period and the development of their relations with Europe and the United States. Special attention will be given to Spanish relations with the Maghreb, particularly with Morocco.

Methodology

Classes will be lectured, but student active participation will be encouraged through the discussion of assigned readings, screening of films and student presentations.

Program

1. Who are the Arabs? What is Islam? The geography of the Arab world.
2. The legacy of the First World War and European colonialism in the Mashreq. The rise of the Arab Nation-States. The origins of the Arab-Israeli conflict.
3. The Cold War and Arab nationalism. The Suez crisis.
4. The legacy of European colonialism in the Maghreb (I). The Western Sahara conflict and intermaghrebi relations.
5. The legacy of European colonialism in the Maghreb (II). Spanish and French relations with the Maghreb. The Algerian crisis.
6. The development of United States policy toward the Arab-Israeli conflict (I). From the establishment of the state of Israel to the Gulf War.
7. The development of United States policy toward the Arab-Israeli conflict (II). From the Gulf War to the Peace Process. The impact of 9/11 terrorist attacks.
8. The Arab uprisings of 2011.

Objectives

Broadly defined, Flamenco is a complex performative art which includes song (cante), dance (baile) and guitar music (toque), originally embedded in a particular lifestyle and world view. Tracing its origins to approximately the mid-nineteenth century, Flamenco has been associated with Spanish Gypsies (gitanos), a community instrumental in its development and who represent the majority of its practitioners, and with the culture of Andalusia in Southern Spain. The exoticization of Spain during the 19th century stimulated Flamenco's broader development and popularity until it eventually grew to become a powerful national icon, while it continues to be regarded as a quintessential expression of Spanish culture.

Our emphasis is on acquiring an aural, visual, and theoretical understanding of Flamenco, of the streams of culture which created it, and of its role within Spanish culture, and on using the study of Flamenco as a vehicle to explore the relationship between art and culture, music and society, and the ways in which we think, talk and learn about Flamenco.

The intention of the practical part of the Course, the Flamenco dance class, is not to train future Flamenco dancers, although many students go on to further study. Rather, it is designed to give students an understanding of the mechanics, aesthetics, and basic canons of an art form that is so often described as being purely spontaneous and free. The dance class centers on learning the basic postures and steps of the Flamenco vocabulary and the techniques of footwork. We also study the "compás" (rhythmic cycle) and learn to play "palmas" (rhythmic handclapping). Above all, we try to understand how Flamenco dance is structured and the essential relationship that links dancer, guitarist and singer.

At the end of the Course, in addition to a final paper and final exam, students will perform the simple choreography they have learned, accompanied by a professional singer and guitarist. This tends to give them an entirely new appreciation of the complexity of both the dance form and the culture in which it is embedded. Evaluation in this part of the class sessions is based on attendance, effort and improvement, each student performing at his or her own level; ability or prior dance training is not necessary.

Requirements: The pre-requisites for this Course are an interest in Cultural Studies and a love of music and/or dance.

Methodology

The class may meet twice a week or once a week for a double session. Each class is divided approximately into one half dedicated to lecture time and the other half to the dance class, although this may vary from session to session. Video screenings, listening sessions, and live performances are an important complement to the theoretical studies offered. Students' personal responses to these sessions are an important part of developing an understanding of the art form.

The basic text material to be used during the Course is drawn from a variety of sources, ranging from the Romantic travel writers to the biography of the great Gypsy flamenco dancer, Carmen Amaya, whose career spanned most of the modern history of Flamenco and intersected with all the important figures of the time. Students will also choose one out of three short books written about an individual's personal experiences in the Flamenco world of the 1950s and 1960s, and will be expected to present a "book report" on his or her chosen text.

PROGRESSIVE SPANISH FOR ENGLISH-SPEAKING STUDENTS

(45 contact hours)

Prof. Dr. Fco. Javier Tamayo Morillo (fitamayo@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Manuel Padilla (mpadillacruz@us.es)

Objectives

This Course is aimed at English-speaking students who already have a basic knowledge of Spanish. Its key objective is to improve their communication skills by means of the consolidation of their grammar competence and of the introduction of practical vocabulary so as to enable them to cope with the usual communication situations of everyday life. On the one hand, teaching methodology will be based on the assimilation of grammatical rules and their practical application via specific activities and, on the other hand, will involve the gradual and iprogressive use of Spanish as a vehicle for communication within the classroom.

Classes: the Set-Up

The Lecturer will provide students with xeroxed material containing the grammar content to be studied with regard to each section of the Course syllabus. However, this does not mean that class sessions will be organized in terms of formal lectures on Spanish Grammar. In a key way, teaching will be practice-based: using specific grammar exercises as points of departure, explanations will be provided of those issues arising from the use of the Spanish language which tend to cause students most difficulty. Other activities within the Course will include: (a) dictations; (b) listening comprehension exercises; (c) reading comprehension exercises; (d) exercises in writing; and (e) vocabulary exercises. Use will also be made of representative works of literature with a double objective in mind: (a) their use as tools by which to improve students' communication skills, and (b) to give students the opportunity of accessing Spain's literary heritage. With this in mind, students will be expected to read the prose work Lazarillo de Tormes (in an edition adapted to their level of knowledge of Spanish), while extracts from the movie version of Don Quijote de la Mancha will also be screened.

Complementary Activities

Two programmed activities will be undertaken so as to complement those carried out in the classroom:

- (e) a city walk which will involve touring those places to which Miguel de Cervantes makes reference in his works. During the tour extracts from Don Quijote will be read so as to provide students with their first approach to Spanish Literature's most representative work.
- (f) a visit to Triana Market, with two aims in mind: getting students used to the vocabulary linked with the consumption of foodstuffs in Sevilla on a day-to-day basis; and providing them with a context within which to practice common communicative structures as employed by those who normally use this kind of commercial establishment.

Course Syllabus

Each of the syllabus points indicated here contains a grammar-based component, as well as a lexically-based or/and communicatively-based component.

10. Grammatical Sentences: Basic Sentence Constituents. Sentence Structure in Spanish: the Order of Sentence Constituents and its Effect upon Sentence Structure during Communication. Expressions to aid Classroom Communication.
11. The Noun Phrase: Gender and Number in Nouns and Adjectives. The Use of Articles, Demonstratives, and Structures involving Possession. The Grades of Adjectives. Ser and Estar:

- Description and Location. Nationalities, Countries and Professions.
12. Personal Pronouns: the Use of Subject Pronouns within Sentences. Tú and Usted. Object Pronoun Forms. The Verbs gustar, encantar and doler.
 13. The Present Indicative Tense. How it is Formed. Its Uses. Reflexivity in Spanish. Pronominal Verbs in Spanish. Everyday Activities and Leisure.

Objectives

Understand the city of Seville and its artistic heritage combining the literature of Seville with the practical art of painting. To have a profound knowledge of a city and its heritage requires a very careful study of its most emblematic places. Painting gives one a greater vision of the city. We choose different techniques: pencil, charcoal, watercolor, and ink, etc. The students pass enjoyable sessions in the parks, plazas, streets and monuments of Seville, the Guadalquivir River, the Alcázar, the Barrio Santa Cruz, taking time to study their subject, its form and history. They will get to know the city, its hidden places and architecture like no other student can hope to do. At the end of the semester the students will have a fine collection of drawings and paintings which make great souvenirs and gifts for their friends and families. Also, they will acquire a great understanding of painting; perspective and composition which will help them appreciate art for the rest of their lives.

Methodology

The students make visits to the monuments, plazas and parks of Seville while drawing and painting. Every visit includes an introduction to the site, its history, its architecture, its figures and legends. In each class the students learn aspects of drawing and painting: color, composition, etc. Classes are conducted in the classroom or outdoors. Every week we visit different locations. We will discuss the literature related to each place, while we draw and paint.

The classes are in chronological order to better understand the monumental history of the city. We will start with the Romans by drawing in the Archeology Museum. Then we study Islamic Seville. Then we look at medieval Seville at the Cathedral. We search out themes from the Golden Age of Cervantes. We learn about Romanticism in the María Luisa Park.

The students will read literary passages about Seville; the subjects that we paint and draw are related to the readings.

Syllabus

1. Theory.

- 1.1. Basic pencil drawing.
- 1.2. Composition: laying out an image.
- 1.3. Perspective: drawing buildings in perspective.
- 1.4. Water color painting: brush and wash control.
- 1.5. Color theory: how to mix colors.
- 1.6. Landscape painting.

2. Practical. Visits to places of literary interest to draw and paint.

- 2.1. Ancient Seville; the Archeology Museum.
- 2.2. The Islamic Seville of the poet-king Al-Mu'tamid.
- 2.3. Medieval Seville and "Romanceros"; the Barrio Santa Cruz.
- 2.4. Seville in the Golden Age of Cervantes; City Hall; Archive of the Indies, the Guadalquivir River.
- 2.5. Romantic Seville; Bécquer, operas of Seville, María Luisa Park.
- 2.6. Seville in the XXth C.; A. Machado y Luis Cernuda.

Materials

Every student will purchase the following materials: a box of watercolor paints, two watercolor paintbrushes, a bottle of water and a cup, some pencils and an eraser, a drawing pad and some pens.

Assessment

Partial exam: 30%

Active participation in class: 30%

A final project, essay, or artwork: 40%

Prof. Dr. Michael Padilla (michael.v.padilla@gmail.com)

Substitute Lecturer: Joaquín Asencio, BFA Film (joaquinascencio@gmail.com)

This course is taught in English and is open to students with any level of Spanish. An SLR digital camera with full manual functions is required.

Objectives

The course will examine the literary richness of Seville through the photographic lens. We will learn about how to better control our cameras, fundamental photographic techniques and the history of photography and apply this knowledge to the myths and stories based here. We will also explore the city and its surroundings during field trips and learn to look at images critically and critique them in a group setting.

Methodology

The course will consist of 2 modules twice per week of 2 hours that will cover the topics mentioned in the syllabus. Students will be required to have their own digital camera with fully manual options including the ability to change the ISO, Aperture and Shutter Speed. The material will be covered with classroom lectures, assigned readings, a documentary screening, photography assignments to be critiqued by the class and in-class excursions in Seville and the surrounding areas. Students will be required to use the Flickr.com online image gallery service for in-class critiques.

Syllabus

1. Introduction: Learning about your camera and the city.
2. A brief history of photography and introduction to myths and legends of Seville.
3. Professional photography: Advertising, photojournalism and fine art photography.
4. Composition: what elements go into making a good image.
5. Light: an introduction to studio lighting and the use of flash.
6. Exposure: the secrets behind properly exposed images.
7. Portraits: what is portraiture and how great ones are made.
8. An introduction to online media and the role of photography in the 21st century.
9. Photo narrative: how to set up and execute a coherent photo story.
10. Literary Seville, exploring the literary history of the city through images.

Bibliography

Students will be provided with specific readings for each topic discussed in class and PowerPoint presentations will be made available with the relevant material.

Course FS-16 LITERARY AND CULTURAL TRADITIONS IN SPANISH-SPEAKING COMMUNITIES
(45 class hours) (Second semester)
Lecturer: Dr. Salomé Lora Bravo (slora1@us.es)
Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Yolanda Congosto Martín (ycongosto@us.es)

Language, literature, as well as culture in general, constitute the key aspects of the identity of peoples; it is for this reason that, in order to learn a foreign language, having knowledge of the culture associated with it also gains relevance: knowing who, what, when and why (in terms of political, religious, education-related, historical, geographical, etc. issues), knowing about (events, developments, and social concerns), as well as knowing how (that same society acts, speaks, and manifests itself).

OBJECTIVES

The main objective of this Course is to bring students into contact with the existing range of Spanish-speaking communities by providing them with real, thorough knowledge regarding their literary and cultural traditions, while also furnishing information on:

Their values and beliefs. How they are manifested.

What makes up life on a day-to-day basis, as well as their customs.

Their popular traditions.

What is sought as a result is that students develop:

A tolerant and open-minded attitude toward other cultures.

A thinking-person's attitude toward social and cultural similarities and differences.

The ability to become involved in an intercultural milieu.

Empathy toward people from a wide range of different cultures.

Real skills in dealing with how culture and society are seen to interact.

METHODOLOGY

This Course has been conceived of with highly practical intentions in mind, while deliberately tending to students communicative and cultural interaction within real contexts.

Students will feel part of their own learning process by becoming involved in, and participating actively in, the undertaking of assignments such as visits to embassies, consulates, cultural centers and fairs, culinary demonstrations, as well as interacting with documentary screenings, photographic materials, movies, commercials, television or radio programs, or performed readings, etc., which will constitute a key stimulus to the keener understanding of specific aspects of the literary and cultural mosaic that is indeed the Hispanic world.

Key representative aspects (locations, society, music, dance, cinema, cuisine, together with other modes of cultural expression) of a number of countries (Mexico, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Cuba, Puerto Rico, Peru and Argentina) will be dealt with, within the framework of an open, flexible schedule, due to which the choice of venues, as well as the order of presentation of syllabus items may tend to vary depending on how class sessions tend to develop, or in terms of how interests and circumstances pan out.

CRITERIA OF ASSESSMENT AND GRADING

Each final grade will be based on the following distribution of percentages:

25%: Mid-Semester Examination.

25%: End-of-Semester Examination.

25%: Weekly assignments and exercises undertaken.

25%: The degree of active participation during class sessions, as well as during extramural activities.

Prof. Dr. Gabriela Fernández (gfernand@us.es)

Prof. Dr. Cristina Molinos (cmolinos@us.es)

1. Aims

This training course offers a theoretical and practical approach to the teaching of English as a foreign language (EFL) to Spanish-speaking students. Classroom practice will be fostered which includes activities in the class, activities outside the class under the supervision of a tutor and the opportunity to take part of the course in a Spanish school with Spanish students in the city of Seville. This way, not only theoretical content but also the cultural aspects which are involved in the practice of teaching English as a foreign language will be dealt with.

2. Methodology

From a methodological perspective, theory will be determined and learned from the practice. Classroom interaction and dynamics guided by the teacher will be dealt with in class; students will work in pairs and in small groups and will have to get involved in creative tasks such as lesson planning, original learning resources design, classroom observation and teaching. Part of the course will take place in a Spanish school in Seville.

3. Syllabus

3.1. EFL Acquisition and Learning.

3.2. Popular EFL Methodologies.

3.3. The English Teacher.

3.4. EFL Students in Spanish Schools.

3.5. Classroom Dynamics.

3.6. How to teach

- pronunciation, grammar, vocabulary and culture to EFL students.
- speaking, listening, reading and writing.

3.7. Teaching Resources in the EFL Classroom. The English coursebook, other resources and digital support.

3.8. Error Correction and Feedback.

3.9. Assessment.

The present syllabus may be subject to certain readjustments which will depend on the students' profile and their learning preferences and needs.

4. Assessment Attendance is compulsory.

4.1. Classroom activities 20%

4.2. Tests 30%

4.3. Teaching practice in schools 50%

Description

This course is an introduction to second language acquisition, that is, a first acquaintance with how a non-native language (L2) is learned once a first language (L1) has already been developed. Second language acquisition is a dynamic process that millions of individuals worldwide are engaged in; it is also a growing interdisciplinary field of study within the megafield of applied linguistics.

The focus of attention is on the L2 learners' individual differences. These refer to personal variation in language learning as evidenced by a number of interrelated factors such as age, aptitude, personality traits, motivations, attitudes, social identities, gender, intelligence, learner beliefs, learning strategies, among others. Such differences tend to be psychological/affective, social/sociocultural, cognitive/biological in nature. SLA researchers have claimed that such differences enhance or inhibit both the process and the product of L2 acquisition. The claim is that individual differences partially determine how fast learners learn and how successful they become towards the end of their learning process.

In the long term, the process of L2 acquisition may be related to individual bilingualism in that a growing expectation—yet not the automatic result of it—is that by the end of the L2 acquisition process—whenever that 'end' actually takes place for individual learners—the original L2 learner will hopefully have reached an advanced proficiency level and have become an autonomous L2 user (i.e., a bilingual individual).

Aims

The following are the main aims of this course: Students are expected to (i) develop an informed, reflective, and analytical attitude regarding the factors that play a role in the processes of acquiring and using of two (or more) languages; (ii) recognize the meanings of key terms and concepts used in the field of second language acquisition and bilingualism studies; and (iii) make connections between the descriptive contents covered and their own past and present experiences involving foreign/second language learning and use.

Methodology and activities

This course includes both descriptive as well as practical contents and the teaching methodology used is eclectic (informed eclecticism). In-class activities will include lecturing, guided discussions on selected issues, oral presentations prepared by the students on topics of their choice, and informal presentations by guest speakers (both L2 learners of English and Spanish-English bilinguals).

Syllabus

Unit 1: Introducing Second Language Acquisition

- First vs. second language acquisition
- Diversity in language learning and learners
- Second language learning contexts: Naturalistic, mixed, instructed context.

Unit 2: The psychology of SLA

- Languages and the brain: basic concepts of neurolinguistics / neuroscience
- Language processing and its subprocesses: noticing, storing, integration, organization, retrieval.

Unit 3: Social and psychological differences in L2 learners

- Age
- Intelligence
- Aptitude
- Personality
- Learning and cognitive style
- Learning strategies
- Attitudes
- Motivation
 - Gender
 - sociocultural identities
 - Socio-economic factors

Unit 4: Individual bilingualism

- Who is a bilingual?
- Definitions of bilingualism; basic distinctions
 - Sequential bilingualism
 - Psycholinguistic aspects of individual bilingualism

Assessment

Grading will consist of the following four (4) criteria:

- Class preparation (mainly reading assignments), attendance, and participation: 10 %
- Individual oral presentation (on a topic to be chosen): 20%
- Midterm test: 35 %
- Final test: 35 %

SPAIN'S CLASSICAL HERITAGE: BETWEEN HISTORY AND MYTHOLOGY

(45 contact hours)

Prof. Dr. Fernando Lozano Gómez (flozanogomez@us.es)

Substitute Lecturer: Dr. Salvador Ordóñez (sagulla@us.es)

Program:

The main goal of this course is to give students an overview of Spain's Classical heritage. The course pays special attention to Phoenician, Greek and Roman presence in Spain, not only from a historical point of view, but also taking into account the mythological construction of Spain's past and key cultural traditions. The course also explores Spain's religious background, mainly the long process of Christianization of Southern Spain.

The course is divided in classes and field trips that will be key elements in helping the student to have a clearer perception of each historical period.

The program is divided as follows:

1. - Eastern traders and warlords in Spain: Phoenicians and Carthaginians.
2. - Travelling Heroes: Greeks and their myths in Spain.
- 3.- The coming of Rome and the creation of Hispania: Conquest and cultural changes.
- 4.- Pagans and Christians: the long process of Christianization of Spain.

The classes are combined with the following field trips:

1. - Sevilla. Roman remains in Seville. The old city in the Alfalfa and Encarnación area. Pagan Temple of Calle Mármoles. 4 hours.
2. - Sevilla. Roman remains in Seville. The river and the ancient port. The foundations of the Cathedral. Early Christian temples and the Iglesia del Salvador. 4 hours.
3. - Archaeological Museum of Seville. 4 hours.

Assessment:

There will be two exams, one mid-way through the course and the other at its conclusion. These two exams are 80 % of the final grade. Attendance to all activities is compulsory and it will be checked daily. Participation in class and during field trips is extremely important (up to 20 % of the final grade).

Prof. Dr. Pablo Fraile Jurado (pfraile@us.es)Prof. Dr. Víctor Rodríguez Galiano (vrodriguez8@us.es)Brief Course Presentation

Spain is comprised of an absolutely fascinating set of diverse places, inhabited by intriguingly diverse peoples, traditions and landscapes consequence of its rich history, cultural heritage and complex geography. The focus of this course is on learning about the country, regions and the people. In a context marked by economic crisis, the pressures from sectors such as construction, tourism, transport, energy and agriculture, high densities and pressures in coastal areas and islands determines that Spain faces important challenges in economic, social and environmental issues. The teachers will try to provide an open, critical and diverse overview of contemporary Spain using press releases, videos, reports and presentations.

Objectives

The course aims to provide:

- ✓ A coherent content focused upon the ways in which relationships between people and the natural environment and patterns of spatial relationships vary across Spain.
- ✓ An understanding of how these relationships produce the distinctiveness of particular places, landscapes, and patterns of environmental and human attributes, society and identities.
- ✓ An appreciation of the characteristics of the urban, regional and rural environments of selected areas in Spain and the geographical processes which underlie their development.

Skills Outcomes:

Students will develop a knowledge and understanding of:

- ✓ Relationships between human and physical systems in Spain.
- ✓ Main demographic, economic and environmental characteristics, threats and challenges in Spain.

Students have the opportunity to develop the following skills during the course:

- ✓ To contribute to students' understanding of important issues and problems in Spain's contemporary society
- ✓ To discuss the nature of the main social, economic and environmental problems.
- ✓ To understand some of the processes and trends shaping Spain today.
- ✓ To analyze of broader environmental, social and economic threads and challenges.
- ✓ To encourage in students a sensitive awareness of peoples, places and landscapes, both in their own country and elsewhere.

Syllabus

The syllabuses are presented within 9 topics, each based on a broad theme:

TOPIC 1: SPAIN'S CULTURAL AND LINGUISTIC DIVERSITY. An exceptionally diverse country: main geographical features. Spain's strategic location. The romantic and mythologized Spain. Spanish lifestyle. Diversity of Gastronomy: From tradition to the international projection of the Spanish Cuisine. Main Popular Festivals and Religious Events around Spain.

TOPIC 2: SPAIN TODAY: POLITICAL CONTEXT. The Kingdom of Spain and Democracy: Parliamentary government under a constitutional monarchy. The country territorial divisions and political structures.

Devolution processes and the Autonomous Communities' role.

TOPIC 3: THE SPANISH NATURAL AND CULTURAL HERITAGE AS ECONOMIC RESOURCE. The growth of leisure facilities and tourism in relation to the main attractions of the physical and human landscape. Environmental threats: the difficult balance between economic growth and sustainable development.

TOPIC 4: ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES: A COUNTRY WITH NO PETROL.The need for energy supplies. Spain leadership in the technological and industrial development of renewable energies: "Renewables Made in Spain".

TOPIC 5: POPULATION AND SOCIAL WELFARE SYSTEM IN SPAIN. Changes and trends. Migration: Push-Pull factors. Population Distribution and Demographic Dynamics. Health Care System and Public Education. The crisis and budget cuts. Privatization of public services.

TOPIC 6: SPAIN IN THE INTERNATIONAL CONTEXT. The Spanish EU Integration. Spain within the Global Context.

TOPIC 7: AGRICULTURE AND NATURAL RESOURCES. The economic and social challenges facing rural environments. Changes in traditional agriculture: organic farming versus the expansion of greenhouses. The role of agribusiness. Irrigated agriculture and environmental and social conflicts.

TOPIC 8: THE SPANISH FINANCIAL CRISIS. The booming housing market and construction industry severe recession. Spanish Economy Strengths and Weaknesses. Spanish unemployment. The Government measures to reduce public debt. The sparking wave of social protests.

TOPIC 9: SEVILLE: brief History of the city and its geographical context. Recent urban, metropolitan and regional controversies. Field trip.

Assignments: Individual/Group Project

Based on the course syllabus, the students will undertake a personal or group project focus on current issues in Spain. Topics will be presented and decided during the first lectures.

Presentations will take place on the agreed dates. Students should also hand in the presentation file for assessment.

Assessment and Grading

Assessment type	% of formal assessment
Class attendance. Reading and participation	10%
Midterm exam and presentations	30%
End of term exam and presentations	30%
Group project presentation*	30%

* Students will prepare a group project on an Autonomous Community of their choice. The results will be presented using a PowerPoint presentation which will be presented during 45 minutes each group.

Course GS-03 GREAT MASTERS AND THE MAJOR ARTISTIC TENDENCIES IN SPAIN DURING THE XX CENTURY
(45 contact hours)

Prof. Dr. Luis Méndez Rodríguez (irmendez@us.es)
Prof. Dr. Rocío Plaza (rplaza@us.es)

Objectives

The Course will analyze the principal trends in Spanish Art during the twentieth century. During the first half of the century, developments in Spanish Art were determined by a particular set of historical circumstances. After the arrival of democracy it will become clear that Spanish artists were more fully integrated into the worldwide art movement.

We have chosen those artists who are representative of certain developments in a key way and through whom, in general terms, Spanish art in the 20th century may be explored.

Methodology

Students will be expected to participate actively in class sessions through the study and analysis of particular works and, in addition, they will undertake an essay based on one of the artists studied.

Students will visit the Centro Andaluz de Arte Contemporáneo in the Monasterio de la Cartuja, Sevilla, as well as a number of art galleries.

Syllabus

- Developments in Spanish Architecture during the 20th Century

- * Antonio Gaudí (1852-1926)

Course GS-04 US-EUROPEAN RELATIONS SINCE WORLD WAR II
(45 contact hours)

Prof. Dr. Carolina García Sanz (cgarciasanz@us.es)
Prof. Dr. Santiago Navarro (snav@us.es)

Objectives

This Course will provide students with the theoretical framework necessary to help them think critically about transatlantic relations at many different, yet inter-related levels: political, military, security-based, cultural, and economic. The first part of the Course will focus on the historical context of this key network. The second part of the Course will examine the institutions linked to the transatlantic agenda: of a political, security-based, and economic kind. The third and last part of the Course will focus on cultural issues, including public opinion and anti-Americanism.

Course requirements

1. Attendance and participation: Students are expected to attend all classes in keeping with U. Sevilla's attendance policy. If there is justifiable reason for missing class, this information must be communicated to the proper authorities as required. Active participation in class discussions is expected.
2. Punctuality: Students should plan to arrive in class on time. If the door is closed, please avoid entering the classroom. Late arrivals count as absences.
3. Readings: Students will be expected to have undertaken all required readings before coming to class.
4. Mid-term and Final Exams: These will be taken in class, in the form of essay-based questions.
5. Essay and Presentation: Students will select a contemporary topic of interest in order to write a 10 page, double-spaced typed paper related to the transatlantic dialogue. The topic will be due for approval by the fourth week of the semester. The essay topic will outline the US and "European" perspectives regarding a current-events topic. This essay will also provide the basis for a class presentation of about 20 minutes in length. Students should provide an oral summary of their work rather than a recitation of the written paper. We will schedule the exact dates for these presentations at the beginning of the semester.
6. Academic Honesty: Students are expected to act in accordance with the University's standards of conduct concerning plagiarism and academic dishonesty.

Objectives

The overall objective of the Course is to introduce students to the marketing decisions within an organization, from a global perspective. With this aim in mind, we will train participants to apply the basic concepts and techniques in marketing, so that they become familiar with the duties of a marketing manager. More specifically, students will be exposed to the development, evaluation, and implementation of marketing management in a global business environment.

Syllabus

This Core Course in Marketing has been structured in terms of four didactic Parts, each of them corresponding to 12 hours of class and made up of two Units. The four Parts are:

Part 1. To introduce the participant to the fundamental principles of marketing, to the basic concepts and tools used in marketing, and to the importance of building customer relations.

Part 2. To develop a marketing plan, including: the firm's operating environment (macroenvironment and microenvironment), SWOT analysis, marketing strategy elements (segmentation, targeting, and positioning), as well as marketing mix elements (product, price, place, and promotion). To this end, we will assist students in learning how to apply these concepts and to practice making decisions through in-class case analyses.

Part 3. To discuss how the international trade system, as well as economic, political-legal, and cultural environments affect a company's international decisions, to describe the key approaches to entering into international markets, to explain how companies adapt their mixes as far as international markets are concerned, and to identify the major forms of international marketing organization.

Part 4. To explain the importance of information for companies which expand their geographical market coverage, to define the international marketing information system, and to outline the steps in the marketing research process within a global environment.

PART 1. DEFINING MARKETING

Unit 1. Marketing Concepts

- 1.1. What Is Marketing?
- 1.2. Core Marketing Concepts.
- 1.3. Marketing Management Orientations.

Unit 2. Customer Relations Management

- 2.1. Customer Relations.
- 2.2. Consumer and Business Buyer Behavior.
- 2.3. The New Marketing Landscape.

PART 2. DEVELOPING A MARKETING PLAN

Unit 3. Environment and Internal Analysis

- 3.1. Executive Summary.
- 3.2. Situational Analysis.
- 3.3. SWOT Analysis.

Unit 4. Marketing Plan

- 4.1. Objectives.
- 4.2. Marketing Strategies.
- 4.3. Action Programs.
- 4.4. Implementation Controls.

PART 3. THE GLOBAL MARKETPLACE

Unit 5. To Be or Not to Be International

- 5.1. Global Marketing.
- 5.2. Looking at the Global Marketing Environment.
- 5.3. Deciding Whether to Go International and Which Markets to Enter.

Unit 6. How to Be International

- 6.1. Deciding How to Enter the Market.
- 6.2. Deciding on the Global Marketing Program.
- 6.3. Deciding on the Global Marketing Organization.

PART 4. MARKETING RESEARCH IN A GLOBAL ENVIRONMENT

Unit 7. International Marketing Research

- 7.1. Complexity of International Marketing Research.
- 7.2. Importance of Research for International Marketing Decisions.
- 7.3. The International Marketing Information System.
- 7.4. Designing International Marketing Research.

Unit 8. International Information Sources

- 8.1. Data Sources.
- 8.2. Nonsurvey Data Collection Techniques.
- 8.3. Survey Instrument Design.
- 8.4. Analysis of Multicountry Data.

Through cases and through an in-depth semester project, students will be given opportunities to perform the role of a marketing manager.

Prof. D. Pablo Martínez Cousinou (pmartinez1@us.es)Prof. D. David Montero S. (davidmontero@us.es)Introduction:

This unit combines a theoretical and practical approach to contemporary photography, paying special attention to Spanish photography.

Using slide presentations and group discussion, we will outline an itinerary throughout the main movements in the history of the medium and its evolution until today.

There will be practical exercises about each of the genres discussed. The tutor will supervise and co-edit during the course every single student final project.

Aims:

- Develop technical and photographic skills.
- Foster an analytic approach to contemporary images
- Understand the possibilities of photography as a way of expression and information.
- Develop the student knowledge of photography's history.
- Improve social and workgroup skills.

Methodology

The classes are based in a participative method which fosters a proactive role among students, through activities such as debates and group analysis on a number of subjects such as history, aesthetic principles, main authors, etc...

- Photography and Social Networks

11. - CONTEMPORARY SPANISH PHOTOGRAPHY

- From the revolts against Francoism to mass culture after the political Transition.
- Democracy and Postmodernism in Spain
- Present context

Practice: Student presentations

12. - PHOTOGRAPHIC ESSAY

- The editing process
- Final photo project

Practice: Student presentations and conclusion.

Unit Assessment

We will follow a continuous assessment based in different practical and theoretical work during the course and the realization of one final project.

There will be a midterm assessment on the theoretical contents seen up until that point. It will be based on a 10 minutes oral presentation.

The tutor will supervise and co-edit during the final project.

The student's mark will depend upon:

Participation during seminars 10 %
Practical work 30 %
Oral and slide presentation 30 %
Final project 30 %

Prof. Dr. Alfonso Mate Barrero (mate@us.es)

Prof. Dr. Pablo García Miranda (pgarcia2@us.es)

Prof. Dr. María Dolores Vázquez Carretero (mvazquez1@us.es)

Objectives

This course is a continuation of Anatomy & Physiology I. The aim of this course is to acquire knowledge of the general structure and function of the human body. We will focus on the blood, immune, lymphatic, cardiovascular, respiratory, urinary, digestive and reproductive systems. Special emphasis will be placed on the interactions among those systems and on the regulation of physiological functions involved in maintaining homeostasis.

Syllabus

Chapter 1. Blood

Chapter 2. Immune System

Chapter 3. Lymphatic System

Chapters 4 and 5. Cardiovascular System

Chapter 6. Respiratory System

Chapters 7 and 8. Urinary System

Chapter 9. Digestive System

Chapter 10. Reproductive System

Assessment

Evaluation will consist of four exams that will be taken during classroom sessions. The final grade will be based on the total score of the four exams administered. Attendance and active participation in class is mandatory.

Objective

This course is a continuation of Anatomy & Physiology I. The aim of this course is to apply and facilitate the understanding of the knowledge acquired during the lectures.

Syllabus

1. Human anatomy models of the systems.
2. Observation of histologic preparations under the light microscope.
3. Peripheral blood smear.
4. Differential White Blood Cell count.
5. Blood typing.
6. Serum iron determination.
7. Coagulation tests. Prothrombin time.
8. Reticulocyte count.
9. Hematocrit. Hemoglobin concentration.
10. Electrocardiography.
11. Arterial blood pressure measurement.
12. Pulmonary function test (spirometry). Simulation of obstructive pulmonary disease.
13. Urine test: biochemistry and microscopy.
14. PhysioEx: Cardiovascular System. Renal system and alterations in base-acid balance. Chemical and physical processes of digestion. Hormone replacement therapy.
15. Problem solving & quantitative problems concerning those physiological concepts presented during the lectures.

Assessment

Evaluation will consist of four exams that will be taken during laboratory sessions. The final grade will be based on the total score of the four exams administered. Attendance and active participation in the laboratory is mandatory.

Course GS-12 WINE IN SPAIN: HISTORY AND WINE TASTING
(45 contact hours) (Second semester)
Prof. PhD Borja Sanz Altamira (borja@us.es)

Objectives

Wine has long been part of human society and today is an important part of Spanish culture. This course provides a hands-on introduction to the world of wine. Students will meet the main Spanish wine regions and grapes, they will learn how to store and serve wine effectively, and explore different wines through sight, smell, and taste, and the principles of food and wine pairings. This course also covers a variety of topics related to the Spanish wine industry, from wine styles and winegrowing areas to sustainable production and tourism.

Methodology

The syllabus will be developed in the most balanced way according to its extension (45 hours), combining Theoretical Classes with support of audiovisual material, and Practical Classes savoring different Spanish wines to better understand the stages of wine tasting.

Brief contents

The program has been structured in six modules:

1. INTRODUCTION TO THE WORLD OF WINE

Etymology. History of wine. History of Spanish wine.

2. FROM SOIL TO GRAPE

The vine and the vineyard. Geography and climate. Classification of Spanish wines and wine regions.

3. FROM GRAPE TO BOTTLE

Wine grapes (Spanish varieties). Types of wines (Variants). Wine production methods (Winemaking).

4. FROM BOTTLE TO GLASS

Packaging (the bottle and the cork). Storage (Wine cellars). Wine accessories (bottle opener, vacuum wine saver, decanter, wine glass...)

5. FROM GLASS TO MOUTH

Wine tasting. Food and wine pairing. Health effects of wine.

6. WINE TODAY AND TOMORROW

Professions in the wine industry. Production and consumption. Marketing and wine tourism in Spain.

Evaluation

Students will be required to undertake the following activities:

- Two written examinations (midterm and final exam) which represent 70% of the final mark.
- Presentation of a project. This activity represents 20% of the final mark.
- Class attendance which makes the remaining 10% of the student's final mark.

Course Description

Social Psychology will provide you with an introduction to the field of social psychology. Social psychology is a subfield of the science of psychology that focuses on the perceptions, thoughts, feelings, and behaviors of individuals and groups within a social context. This class will give you a broad overview of the major theories and findings within social psychology.

Course Goals and Methodology

- Demonstrate an understanding of the basic scientific method underlying social psychological research.
- Demonstrate a general knowledge of the major theories and current findings within each of the research topics covered this semester.
- Recognize and appreciate how basic theory and experimental findings apply to everyday situations.

Course time will be split among lecture, discussion, and in-class activities. Students are expected to keep up with the readings and assignments in order to be responsive in class when discussion is called for and to contribute to in-class activities.

Syllabus

TOPIC	CONTENT
1. Introduction to Social Psychology	What is Social Psychology? How does it explain human behavior? In this chapter we will take off from these questions to introduce Social Psychology as a field, looking at its methodological possibilities and most sound findings.
2. The Social Self	What is the self? And how do we know our selves? To tackle these two questions, we will revise the contributions of the most relevant theories in the field of self-construction and self-evaluation.
3. Social Perception	How are our impressions formed? How do first impressions work? Do we always perceive the others consciously? Do we control how we process information? We will discuss how we “read” situations, people, elaborating impressions that reach our behaviors and our emotions.
First Exam

4. Prejudice and Discrimination	When considering prejudice, we come across with two other interrelated concepts: stereotypes and discriminations. These three constructs form a triad that are beneath the process of intergroup conflict and contribute to the creation of negative positions, emotions, and behaviors of the ingroup.
5. Close Relations	What is love and how do we feel attracted to others? In this section, we explore these and more questions connected with love, need of affiliation and intimacy. The topic includes comments on non-verbal communication linked to close relations.
6. Group dynamics	What is a group? How do groups evolve? How can we produce efficiently in teams? We will explore the vast literature on psychology of groups in the context of community and organizations. It also includes comments on how virtual teams should be managed.
Second Exam

Grading System (Evaluation)

Individual final mark in this course will be obtained by taking two non-cumulative, multiple-choice tests, and by designing a group dynamic game using a provided template. Exams will be based on lectures, in-class activities, and films/video clips. Tests are designed to gauge your understanding of the material, as well as your ability to analytically apply research findings to everyday situations. The group dynamic game will assess student's ability to create with professional guidelines on how to positively influence groups or workteams.

Each part will account as it follows:

- Tests: 50%
- Group dynamic game: 50%
